INTRODUCTION TO THE CRIMINAL STATISTICS FOR 1912.

The Criminal Statistics were revised and re-arranged by a Departmental Committee appointed by the Secretary of State in 1892, and the recommendations of the Committee were carried into effect in the Criminal Statistics for the year 1893. Twenty years' statistics compiled on uniform principles and in substantially the same form, therefore become available with the figures for 1912, and in the following brief summary of the Statistics for 1912 advantage has been taken of the opportunity to review the progress of a few of the most important figures during two decades.

STATE OF CRIME.

In the first place it will be convenient to consider the state of crime during this period. The actual number of crimes of various descriptions committed in each year is necessarily unknown, and in drawing conclusions as to the increase or decrease of crime from such statistics as are available, allowance must be made for many influences which affect the figures. The number of persons tried for indictable offences has been found to be, on the whole, the best criterion of the amount of criminality.*

Indictable Offences.—The total number of persons tried† for indictable offences in 1893 was 57,357; in 1912 the number was 67,530, an increase of nearly 18 per cent. But the increase during the interval has not been continuous. In 1895 the total fell from 56,281 to 50,818, and stood at about that level for five years. After 1899 the figures progressively increased annually until 61,463 was reached in 1905, and the figures again remained almost stationary for three years. Finally the total rose from 61,381 in 1907 to 68,116 in 1908, and, with the exception of 1911, succeeding years have shown only a small diminution.

But although the actual number of crimes is greater now than in 1893, relatively to population criminality has diminished. In twenty years the estimated population rose from 29,760,842 to 36,539,636, an increase of nearly 23 per cent., so that while in 1893 the number of persons tried for indictable offences was 192·7 per 100,000 of the estimated population, in 1912, although the figures are higher than in any year prior to 1908, the proportion was only 184·8.

* Less value, for this purpose, is attached to the statistics of crimes known to the police, but they are in close agreement with, and substantially confirm the conclusions to be drawn from the statistics of persons tried. Owing to changes in procedure and practice trustworthy conclusions as to the increase or decrease of crime cannot be based upon the figures of persons convicted or of persons imprisoned.

† This figure includes also a small number of persons brought up for trial but not actually tried. (See page 9).

The number of persons tried and the proportion to population in each year were :—

Year.	Number of Persons tried.	Proportion per 100,000 Population.	Year.	Number of Persons tried.	Proportion per 100,000 Population.
1893 ...	57,357	192·7	1903 ...	58,444	175·5

1897 ...	50,736	162·8	1907 ...	61,381	176·9
1898 ...	52,524	166·6	1908 ...	68,116	194·3

1902 ...	57,068	173·2	1912 ...	67,530	184·8

About fifteen-sixteenths of the indictable offences are acts of dishonesty, and the rise and fall of offences of this description, and in particular of offences of simple larceny, determine the annual fluctuations of the total of all crimes. The progress of other offences does not usually follow the same course as the total. In the following table there is shown by quinquennial averages the distribution of indictable offences in the several classes adopted for the Criminal Statistics, and the progress of the figures for each class.

Class VI.—Other offences ...	477	577	912	874
Total ...	53,174	53,833	60,065	66,301

It will be observed that offences of violence against the person have considerably diminished, and the decrease in this class of offences is co-incident with a very great falling off in the less serious acts of violence which are dealt with summarily as assaults. (See page 9).

On the other hand the figures for sexual offences have increased in the last quinquennial period, but this fact does not necessarily point to a corresponding increase in crimes of this nature because the figures are affected by new offences created by statute and by the addition since 1908 of a number of cases of indecent assault upon young persons which would formerly have been dealt with as non-indictable offences. Summary jurisdiction was extended to this offence by section 128 of the Children Act, 1908, but prior to the passing of that Act it appears to have been the practice in suitable cases to reduce the charge to common assault in order to enable the justices, in the interests of the youthful victim of the offence, to dispose of the case summarily.

Offences against property accompanied by personal violence have diminished like offences of violence generally, but all other offences against property have tended to become more numerous. Between sixty and seventy per cent. of the increase falls under the heading of simple larceny.

One influence which may not be without effect upon the figures is the change in the manner in which persons accused of crimes are dealt with.

The following table shows that the distribution of indictable offences between the different classes of courts has varied very little in twenty years:—

† Exclusive of persons committed for trial, but not tried, and persons found guilty but insane.

‡ Exclusive of cases dismissed by the Justices because the evidence was insufficient for committal for trial.

It appears from these figures that the changes in legal procedure introduced by the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, have resulted in the making of orders without conviction in a number of cases in which the defendant would formerly have been acquitted, or discharged absolutely, or convicted and sentenced.

The following statement shows in detail the changes in the manner of disposing of persons against whom offences were proved.

GRAND TOTAL ...	9,694	36,980	46,674	10,931	48,358	59,289	100·00	100·00

The most marked change is the increase (from 6 to 32 per cent.), of the cases in which, although the charge was proved, an order was made without conviction.

The number thus disposed of in 1912 includes (1) 6,442 persons (or about 11 per cent. of the total), released under recognizances without formal conviction, who could formerly have been so dealt with upon conviction, and (2) about 7,600 persons (or about 13 per cent.) placed under probation, who would formerly have been either discharged absolutely, or sentenced to short terms of imprisonment, or, in a few cases, to fines or whipping.

Between the two dates mentioned in the table, the figures for shorter sentences of penal servitude and of longer terms of imprisonment have varied considerably. In 1893 there were 929 sentences of penal servitude of ten years and under and 789 sentences of above one year of imprisonment. Under both these heads maximum figures of 1,213 and 1,727 respectively were reached in 1908. The penal servitude figures are now rather less than in 1893, namely 870 as against 929, but the sentences to the longer terms of imprisonment, of which there were 1,315, still exceed by 67 per cent. the figures for 1893. These figures, however, necessarily relate only to the nominal length of sentence: in 1893 persons sentenced to imprisonment had to serve the full term, but they now can, and in most cases do, earn a remission of one-sixth.

Non-Indictable Offences.—The number of persons brought before the Courts charged with non-indictable offences in 1893 was 600,249. In 1912 the corresponding figures were 663,139, but in the interval the figures reached a much higher level. The offences may be divided into two classes, viz. (a) non-indictable offences which are criminal in character,* and (b) all other non-indictable offences. The following statement shows the annual progress of each group and the total:—

It will be seen that non-indictable offences of a criminal character have almost continuously diminished. Nearly all the decrease falls under the heading of assaults. The following table shows in a con-

* In the Introduction for 1898 (Criminal Statistics, 1898, page 22), the following non-indictable offences were selected as being of a criminal nature, viz.: (1) assaults, including aggravated assaults, assaults on constables, and common assaults; (2) brothel keeping; (3) cruelty to children; (4) malicious damage to animals, fences, trees, shrubs, fruits, &c.; (5) unlawful pledging; (6) unlawful possession; (7) stealing workhouse clothes; (8) offences under the Prevention of Crimes Acts; (9) stealing animals, fences, trees, shrubs, fruit, &c., and receiving such things when stolen; and (10) certain offences under the Vagrancy Acts, viz., frequenting, being found in inclosed premises, and being found in possession of picklocks.

The remaining non-indictable offences, though technically criminal, cannot be regarded as criminal in the most serious sense of the term. They consist mainly of contraventions of municipal regulations established in the interests of public safety, health, and comfort, and not involving violence, or cruelty, or gross dishonesty.

There were considerable fluctuations in the figures for other non-indictable offences during the period under consideration. Usually the total of such offences shows little variation from one year to another, but after a period of almost continuous growth from 486,662 in 1893 to 651,296 in 1899, the total suddenly fell to 607,922 in 1900, a decrease of 43,374 or nearly seven per cent. The maximum was again reached in another four years, but thereafter the figures considerably declined, though the totals for the past two years have tended to again rise slightly, and the total for 1912 is, in fact, higher than in any year prior to 1898.

The following table shows by quinquennial averages the variations of the figures relating to those offences which are of most frequent occurrence.

STATISTICS OF CRIMINAL COURTS IN 1912.

Assizes and Quarter Sessions.—The results of the proceedings in Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions may be briefly stated as follows:—Of the 13,286 persons who were brought up for trial, 249 were not actually tried—in 6 cases the prosecution was not proceeded with, in 208 the Grand Jury returned “no bill” and the proceedings thereupon came to an end, and in 35 cases the jury found that the accused was insane and unfit to plead. There remain 13,037 persons actually tried, of whom 2,077 were acquitted, and 10,931 convicted, while 29 persons were found “guilty but insane” and were ordered to be detained during His Majesty’s pleasure. Twenty-six of the persons found “guilty but insane” were charged with offences against the person, including 15 persons indicted for murder.

Excluding persons who were not actually tried, the proportion of convictions was 83·85 per cent. Formerly the proportion tended to increase slightly, but is now nearly stationary.

Eighty-nine persons were sentenced to preventive detention. The offences, on conviction of which this sentence was passed, were felonious wounding (3), housebreaking and similar offences (44), robbery (2), larceny, fraud, and receiving (35), arson (1), and coining and uttering counterfeit coin (4).

Of the 10,931 persons convicted, 7,465 had previous convictions recorded against them. During the past 12 years the proportion of convicted persons recognized as having previous convictions has risen from 60 per cent. to 70 per cent. This change is probably the combined results of improved methods of identification on the one hand, and, on the other, of the increasing extent to which youthful and first offenders are dealt with summarily.

Court of Criminal Appeal.—There were 615 applications for leave to appeal: leave was granted in 74 cases. In addition there were 30 appeals on grounds involving questions of law, five with the certificate of the Judge at Trial, and five appeals against sentences of preventive detention, making a total of 114 appeals for hearing.

In 65 cases the conviction or sentence was affirmed, in 48 cases the conviction or sentence was quashed (conviction for another offence, or some other sentence, being substituted in 19 cases), and one appeal was abandoned.

Only about 6 per cent. of the persons convicted on indictment in 1912 sought to have their cases reviewed, and only one in 23 of the persons who invoked the intervention of the Court of Criminal Appeal obtained immediate discharge.

Out of the twenty-five persons sentenced to death, seven applied for leave to appeal, and five appealed on grounds involving questions of law. All the appeals were unsuccessful.

In the following statement the figures for the five years during which the court has been in operation are compared :—

Courts of Summary Jurisdiction.—The number of persons tried by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction in 1912 was 717,383, of whom 54,244 were charged with indictable offences and 663,139 with non-indictable offences.

The number of persons who were discharged was 78,361, while 83,527 were dealt with without conviction after the charge was proved, and 555,495 were convicted.

The 83,527 cases where the charges were proved but in which orders were made without conviction, consisted of 55,869 cases in which the charge was dismissed; 14,122 in which recognizances were ordered with or without sureties, under section 1 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907; 10,471 cases in which, in addition, probation orders were made under section 2 of the same Act; 3,052 in which children under 14 were committed to industrial schools; and 13 in which children were committed to the custody of relatives, &c.

The 555,495 persons convicted were dealt with as follows :—

As regards proceedings not strictly criminal in character, Courts of Summary Jurisdiction made 15,929 orders for sureties to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour, 6,811 orders for the maintenance of illegitimate children, 7,484 orders for the maintenance of wives, 2,892 orders for the maintenance of children in reformatory and industrial schools, &c., and 3,550 orders under the Poor Law Acts for the maintenance of families, relatives, &c. Orders were made for the payment of wages in 2,899 cases, for dealing with nuisances under the Public Health Acts in 3,019 cases, and for possession of small tenements in 18,070 cases.

The number of appeals against convictions by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction was 118. In 70 cases the conviction was affirmed (with modification of sentence in 19 cases); in 42 cases the conviction was quashed, and in the remaining six cases the appeal was abandoned.

Juvenile Offenders.—Table XVI, which shows the number and offences of youthful offenders dealt with in Juvenile Courts, and the manner in which they were disposed of, furnishes the means of knowing how many youthful offenders are brought before the criminal courts.

Section 111 of the Children Act, 1908, directs that a Court of Summary Jurisdiction, when hearing a charge against a child or young person (i.e., persons who appear to the Court to be under 14 years and aged 14 to 16 years respectively) shall take the case in a "Juvenile Court," i.e., either in a different building or room from that in which the Court ordinarily sits, or on a different day or at a different time from the ordinary sittings of the Court. The general public are excluded from a Juvenile Court.

The total number of persons brought before Juvenile Courts in 1912 was 38,351, viz., 20,342 children, 15,145 young persons, and 2,864 persons aged above 16. Deducting the latter persons and adding 835 children and 3,026 young persons who were dealt with by ordinary Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, either because they were charged jointly with adults or because they were supposed to be above 16, we get a total of 39,348 juvenile offenders (21,177 children and 18,171 young persons). This total is little more than 5 per cent. of the whole number of persons proceeded against for criminal offences. The information for extending this adjustment of the total to all the figures of the table is not available, but the total of 39,348 closely approximates to the actual total of Table XVI, and the table may be regarded as a sufficiently accurate record of proceedings against juvenile offenders.

Table XVI confirms the generally received opinion that juvenile delinquency is mainly confined to the male sex. The 38,351 persons brought before juvenile courts included only 2,135 females, or less than 6 per cent. Among persons dealt with by ordinary courts of summary jurisdiction the proportion of females is more than 16 per cent., and even if the offences of drunkenness and prostitution (which account for 47,823 or 42 per cent. of the 113,943 adult female defendants) are excluded, the proportion of females among persons charged with other offences is still above 12 per cent.

Nearly all the offences committed by juvenile offenders fall under a few headings. As might be expected the offences consist chiefly of petty thefts, acts of mischief, disorderly behaviour, vagrancy (begging, &c.), and gaming in public places. The principal figures are—

Larceny, fraud, and receiving	...	13,216
Other indictable offences	...	1,601
Assaults	...	246
Cruelty to animals	...	293
Education Acts offences	...	514

Stealing fruit, plants, &c.	...	1,918
Begging and sleeping out	...	827

which make up no less than 37,323 out of the total of 38,351 juvenile offenders proceeded against.

Of the 38,082 persons brought before Juvenile Courts (omitting 269 who were not tried summarily), 5,215 (or 14 per cent.) were acquitted, orders without conviction were made against 17,767 persons (or 47 per cent.) and only 15,100 persons (or 39 per cent.) were convicted. The corresponding figures for ordinary courts of summary jurisdiction were:—total number of defendants 679,301, acquitted 73,146 or 11 per cent., orders without conviction 65,760 or 10 per cent., and convicted 540,395 or 79 per cent.

Of the 17,767 youthful defendants who were found culpable but were not "convicted," 9,258 were dismissed (in some cases being ordered to pay damages or costs), 2,620 were ordered to enter into recognizances, 4,537 were placed under the supervision of probation officers, 1,342 were sent to industrial schools, and 10 were placed in the care of relatives, &c.

Only 112 of the 15,100 juvenile offenders who were convicted were sentenced to imprisonment,* and only

* Children under 14 may not be sentenced to imprisonment nor committed to prison in default of payment of a fine, damages, or costs. Nor may young persons aged 14 to 16 years be so dealt with, unless the court certifies that the young person is of so unruly a character that he cannot be detained in a place of detention, or that he is of so depraved a character that he is not a fit person to be so detained (Children Act, 1908, sec. 102).

67 to confinement in places of detention: 1,198 were committed to reformatory schools, 1,971 males charged with indictable offences were ordered to be whipped and 11,549 (or 76 per cent. of the number convicted) were sentenced to pay fines. In 1,743 cases the fine was ordered to be paid by the parent or guardian of the defendant.

Probation Orders.—During the year 1912, probation orders were made in respect of 722 persons convicted on indictment, 7,594 persons tried summarily for indictable offences, and 2,877 persons charged with non-indictable offences.

Only 655, or 6 per cent., of the persons against whom probation orders were made were called up for sentence during the year. Of this number 127 were discharged, 213 were dealt with for fresh offences, and 315 were sentenced (including 187 sentenced to imprisonment) or otherwise disposed of in connection with their original offence.

The sexes and ages of the offenders put on probation and the percentage of males at each period of age were:—

The numbers of orders made for placing persons under the supervision of probation officers during the five years the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, has been in operation, were as follows:—

EXTRADITION AND FUGITIVE OFFENDERS.

During the year 1912 there were 67 applications for extradition received from foreign Governments, including 24 applications from Germany, and 15 from France. In 38 cases the accused person was extradited. The offences included 30 cases of larceny and embezzlement, 25 cases of fraud or false pretences, and 5 cases of forgery. The applications by the British Government for extradition to the United Kingdom numbered nine, of which four were addressed to France and three to the United States.

Under the Fugitive Offenders Act, ten persons were sent back from this country for trial in British Colonies, and two fugitives from justice were brought back to England.

Commissions Rogatoires.—The number of Orders made at the request of Foreign Governments under Section 5 of the Extradition Act, 1873, for the taking of evidence for use in criminal proceedings was 36.

PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS.

The number of prosecutions undertaken by the Director of Public Prosecutions was 564. There were 106 capital cases, 178 prosecutions for Government Departments, and 245 prosecutions at the instances of judges, magistrates, police, &c. The number of persons prosecuted was 727, of whom 595 were charged with indictable offences, including 112 persons prosecuted for murder, 68 for incest, 85 for other offences against the person, 75 for frauds of various descriptions, 25 for bankruptcy offences, 55 for other offences against property, 137 for offences in connection with the currency, and 38 for other felonies and misdemeanours. The remaining 132 persons were prosecuted for various non-indictable offences. Of the 727 persons prosecuted, 526 were convicted, and 15 were found "guilty but insane."

POLICE STATISTICS.

Next in importance to the figures showing the action of the Criminal Courts come the figures showing the action of the police in dealing with crime.

Indictable Offences.—The number of indictable offences reported to the police or otherwise coming within their cognizance was 101,997. For these offences 64,233 persons were arrested, while 9,409 were dealt with by way of summons.

Of the 73,642 persons prosecuted, 11,665 were discharged, including 5,886 who were tried summarily and acquitted; orders were made without conviction in respect of 18,903 persons against whom the charges were proved; 29,455 were tried summarily and convicted; 13,384 were sent for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions; and 235 (including 142 persons charged with attempts to commit suicide) were otherwise disposed of, being for the most part bound over to come up for further examination if required, or the proceedings were adjourned sine die.

Bail was allowed in the case of 3,176 or 23·73 per cent. of the 13,384 persons committed for trial. The percentage of persons admitted to bail in each of the preceding 12 years fluctuated between 20·07 and 24·67 per cent.

Non-Indictable Offences.—Of the 670,109 persons charged with non-indictable offences, 299,586 were apprehended and 370,523 proceeded against by summons.

Persons under Police Supervision.—The number of persons who were under the supervision of the police during the year 1912, either as part of a sentence imposed on conviction, or as holders of licences under the Penal Servitude Acts, was 3,463 or, allowing for persons who have resided during the year in two police districts, about 2,180. Nearly half of the supervisees live in London. While 546, or more than 25 per cent., were re-convicted during the year, more than half of the whole number are reported to be living honestly, so far as the police know.

Habitual Criminals and Houses of Bad Character.—The police estimate that on the first Tuesday in April, 1912, there were 3,885 habitual criminals at large, including 3,270 thieves, 433 receivers of stolen property, and 182 other criminals. These figures include some, but not all, of the supervisees. The number of houses of bad character was estimated at 1,096, of which 367 were houses of receivers of stolen goods, and 729 were houses frequented by thieves.

CORONERS' INQUESTS.

The tables compiled from the Coroners' returns, though not entirely criminal, are closely connected with the criminal tables, among which they are included. The chief object of the coroner's jury is to determine whether death is or is not due to a criminal act, and if it is found to be so by the verdict of the jury and the suspected person is found, criminal proceedings follow, the inquisition of the coroner being equivalent to an indictment found by a grand jury.

The total number of inquests held was 37,098, as against 37,612 in 1911, and an annual average of 36,720 for the five years 1907 to 1911.

Out of the total number of 37,098 deaths investigated by coroners' juries, 14,458 were found to be due to natural causes, including old age, 15,118 were accidental, 255 were still-births, and in 2,169 cases open verdicts were returned.

There were 3,605 verdicts of suicide, as against 3,563 in the previous year.

The following statement shows the increase in the number of such verdicts since 1857, both absolutely and in proportion to the population :—

Years.	Annual Number of Suicides.	Proportion per 100,000 Population.	Years.	Annual Number of Suicides.	Proportion per 100,000 Population.
1857-61 ...	1,309	6·65	1897-1901...	2,889	9·06
1862-6 ...	1,353	6·48	1902-6 ...	3,399	10·10

			1911 ...	3,563	9·85
1892-6 ...	2,646	8·79	1912 ...	3,605	9·87

Verdicts of wilful murder were returned in 192 cases as against 156 in 1911, and an annual average of 163 for the five years 1907 to 1911. In 41 of these cases the inquests were held upon the bodies of newly-born children. In 37 cases the persons against whom verdicts of wilful murder were returned committed suicide at the time of the murder. In addition to the 192 cases of wilful murder there were 97 verdicts of manslaughter, making altogether a total of 289 culpable homicides.

There were 97 verdicts of death from disease and neglect, 231 of death from want, exposure, &c., and 586 of death from excessive drinking. The latter figure is of small statistical value, as alcoholism was probably a contributing cause of death in many cases included in other columns of the table.

PENAL STATISTICS.

Prison Returns.—The returns from the prisons show that the total number of convicted prisoners received into prison during the year 1912 was 156,913, exclusive of 313 prisoners convicted by Courts-Martial. Of this number 9,242 came from Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions, and 147,671 from Courts of Summary Jurisdiction. There were 25 persons received under sentence of death, and 877 sentences of penal servitude, nearly all the remainder being sentences of imprisonment. The number of convicted prisoners received under sentence of imprisonment without the option of a fine was 73,305, while 81,669 (or more than half the total number of convicted persons received) were imprisoned in default of payment of fines, and 224 in default of finding sureties. 104,048 prisoners were sentenced to hard labour, and 51,150 to imprisonment without hard labour.

The Court, on passing a sentence of imprisonment without hard labour, may direct a convicted prisoner to be treated either as an offender of the first division or as an offender of the second division. If no direction is given he is to be treated as an offender of the third division. Thirty were ordered to be placed in the first division, and 1,528 in the second.

The number of persons ordered to be placed in the second division has undergone a diminution in the last four years, as appears from the following statement:—

Year.	Total of Persons sentenced to imprisonment.	Number of Persons placed in Division II.	Percentage placed in Division II.
1900	145,534	2,033	1.40
1901	161,876	2,080	1.28
1902	169,922	2,199	1.29
1903	187,541	2,258	1.20
1904	197,336	2,361	1.20
1905	195,133	2,557	1.31
1906	182,645	2,352	1.29
1907	173,499	2,504	1.44
1908	183,446	2,097	1.14
1909	181,695	1,554	0.86
1910	166,591	1,624	0.97
1911	158,237	1,650	1.04
1912	155,198	1,528	0.98

The falling off in the proportion of persons placed in Division II is possibly due to the effect of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, and the Children Act, 1908, in enabling the substitution for imprisonment of other methods of dealing with youthful offenders and persons charged with venial or first offences.

Thirty-four per cent. of the sentences of imprisonment were for one week and under, and over 25 per cent. were for more than one week and not more than two, while less than 1.0 per cent. were for periods longer than one year.

The following statement covering the period from 1893 to 1912 shows the proportion of persons who are imprisoned in default of payment of fines.

No less than 56,090 persons out of a total of 156,913 sent to prison were convicted of drunkenness, 17,737 of simple larceny, 9,266 of other indictable offences, 9,602 were convicted summarily of assaults, 21,428 of begging and sleeping out, 10,386 of offences against police regulations, 8,055 of prostitution and 2,658 of misbehaviour as paupers.

The criminal prisoners received in prison during the year included about 16,500 persons received on remand or committal for trial who were afterwards discharged or acquitted.

There were also 15,011 non-criminal prisoners received, including 814 surety prisoners and 14,117 debtor prisoners. County Court debtors numbered 5,824 and 8,253 debtors were committed by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, including 2,465 for non-payment of rates and 5,271 for non-payment of maintenance.

Borstal Institutions.—Five hundred and thirty-one persons (481 males and 50 females)—520 sentenced by Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions and 11 sentenced under sec. 2 of the Prevention of Crime Act, 1908, by Summary Courts to Borstal Detention—were admitted into Borstal Institutions. As compared with 1911 there was an increase of 16 males. Two hundred and sixteen were convicted of burglary and similar offences, and 270 of larceny and fraud. The periods of detention ordered were one year 33, more than one year and not more than two 319, more than two years and not more than three 179. The total included 439 persons who had been previously convicted.

Reformatory Schools.—In 1912, there were 1,300 youthful offenders admitted to reformatory schools, of whom 11 were sent by Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions, and 1,274 by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction.

Industrial Schools.—The total number of children admitted to ordinary industrial schools was 3,015. Of this number, 814 were charged with crime; the remainder were mainly children found begging or wandering without a home, or not under parental control or not attending elementary schools.

In addition to the above figures, which relate only to ordinary industrial schools for long terms of detention, 899 boys were sent to be detained for briefer periods to "short term" schools, and 611 boys and 376 girls, most of whom were truants, were admitted to day industrial schools.

Places of Detention.—The following table gives the figures for receptions into Places of Detention:—

Nature of Committal.	Children.	Young Persons.	Total.

Criminal Lunatics.—The number of criminal lunatics received into asylums during 1912 was 272, of whom 65 were found insane by verdict of jury, 8 were certified insane while under detention on remand or awaiting trial, and 199 were certified insane while serving sentence in prison. One hundred and one of the criminal lunatics were received into Broadmoor and Parkhurst Criminal Lunatic Asylums; the remainder, mostly persons serving short sentences who would soon become pauper lunatics, were received into County and Borough Asylums.

The total number of criminal lunatics under detention at the end of the year was 1,181, of whom no less than 492 were accused of or had committed murder; 448 persons had been detained upwards of 10 years.

Habitual Drunkards.—Three hundred and five persons were received into inebriate reformatories, of whom 245 were women. Thirty-three persons were convicted of indictable offences with habitual drunkenness (in 31 cases the offence was cruelty to children) and the remainder were convicted of habitual drunkenness only. The maximum term of detention of three years was imposed in 225 cases. None of the persons were under 21 years of age. Three hundred persons were discharged from inebriate reformatories during the year, of whom 34 were released on licence.

THE PREROGATIVE OF MERCY.

Out of 25 sentences of death, 10 were commuted to penal servitude for life. Four free pardons were granted; remissions of various terms of penal servitude and imprisonment and other punishments were granted to 305 persons; while 57 convicts were released on licence in special cases at earlier dates than those allowed by the ordinary regulations. The requirement of reporting to the police was remitted in respect of 114 persons liable to police supervision.

Excluding the last class, the total number of cases in which the prerogative of mercy was exercised was 381. In 172 cases the remission was granted on medical grounds, and in 265 cases on such grounds for mitigation as youth or provocation. Only thirteen persons were released on grounds affecting the original conviction.

NOTES TO THE COMPARATIVE TABLES.

These Tables have been compiled from the annual Tables in the previous volumes of Judicial Statistics from 1893 to 1911, and from the Tables for 1912 in the present volume.

The figures are taken from the following Tables :—

Table B, Numbers tried for indictable offences by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, from Section A of Table XI, column 2.

Table AB, Numbers of all Persons tried for indictable offences, obtained by adding the figures of Tables A and B.

Table C, Numbers tried for non-indictable offences by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, from Section B of Table XI, column 2.

Table D, Numbers of Crimes known to the Police, from Table XXII, column 2.

In each Table the headings for offences for which there were no figures are omitted.

Tables A to D differ in some respects from the comparative tables given in years prior to 1903. The period of comparison is now limited to the years since 1892, when the statistics were revised; this enables the comparative figures to be given for each separate heading in the list of offences. Another change is, that the proceedings in Courts of Summary Jurisdiction are now divided into separate tables for indictable offences and non-indictable offences respectively.

Table E shows the average figures, both actual and in proportion to population, (a) of prosecutions for all crimes and offences since the establishment of the Judicial Statistics in 1857, and (b) of the crimes (indictable offences) reported to the police during the same period. The non-indictable offences are in this Table grouped in two divisions—those that are definitely criminal in character, and those which may be regarded as “non-criminal.” The division of non-indictable offences into “criminal” and “non-criminal” is discussed at page 22 of the Criminal Statistics, for 1898.

In Table E the proportions are calculated on the population for the middle year of each period of years, e.g., those for 1908 to 1912 on the estimated population for 1910, those for 1903 to 1907 on the estimated population for 1905.

NOTES ON CRIMINAL COURTS AND CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

In England the chief Courts for the trial of criminal cases are the Assizes (including the Central Criminal Court) and the Courts of Quarter Sessions.

The King's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice has also power to try criminal cases. The number so tried is very small; and there was only one case in 1912.

In certain exceptional cases a Court held under Special Commission tries cases in the same way as a Court of Assize. No instances of this have occurred for several years.

Peers charged with treason or felony have the right to be tried by the House of Lords. One case was so tried in 1901.

ASSIZES.

The Assizes are the Courts held by His Majesty's Judges, when they go under Royal Commissions on Circuit for the administration of justice. They are held three times a year for each county, in certain cases four times. The Central Criminal Court is a court with similar powers sitting in London, and usually holding twelve sessions in the year. In law the term "Assizes" includes the sessions of the Central Criminal Court (Interpretation Act, 1889, section 13 (5)); and it is so used in these Statistics.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

A Court of Quarter Sessions exists in each County, and in those Boroughs to which a separate Court has been granted by the Crown. A list of these Courts will be found in Table VII. The Court consists in Counties of the Justices for the County assembled in Quarter Session, in Boroughs of the Recorder of the Borough, a legal officer of high standing. Its sessions are held at least four times a year, sometimes more frequently, e.g., in London there were 24 sittings in the year 1912. The Court has powers co-ordinate with the Assizes, but less extensive; all cases which can be tried at Quarter Sessions can be tried also at Assizes, but certain offences, such as treason, murder, perjury, libel, can be tried only at Assizes.*

All cases tried at Assizes and Quarter Sessions are tried on an indictment† presented by a Grand Jury, and the trial in every case without exception is by Jury.

COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEAL.‡

Under the provisions of the Criminal Appeal Act, 1907, persons convicted on indictment may (subject to the restrictions and regulations imposed by the Act), appeal against the conviction or sentence to the Court of Criminal Appeal. Statistics of the appeals decided in 1912 are given in Table X.

COURTS OF SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

The inferior Criminal Courts for the trial of minor cases are the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction or Police Courts. In these trial is without Jury, and the Magistrates decide both as to law and to facts; their decisions are subject in most cases to appeal, though in practice, appeals are rare (Table XV).

A Court of Summary Jurisdiction consists ordinarily of the Justices of a Division of the County or of a Borough sitting in Petty Sessions. In most cases the presence of two Justices at least is necessary for the exercise of the powers of the Court; but in London and large towns there are Stipendiary Magistrates, who sit alone and have all the powers of two Justices. In certain other cases a Court of Summary Jurisdiction may consist of one Justice only, but its powers are then extremely limited.

In addition to hearing and determining all minor criminal cases, the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction conduct the preliminary investigation in those cases which are afterwards tried at Assizes and Quarter Sessions. If they find there is a prima facie case they commit the accused to prison to await his trial, or bind him over in recognizances (usually with sureties) to appear at the Assizes or Sessions.

Courts of Summary Jurisdiction have also civil jurisdiction in certain matters. They also exercise certain powers in matters not strictly criminal, but closely allied to their criminal jurisdiction, of which particulars are given in Table XIV (Quasi-Criminal Proceedings).

* The Liberty of Peterborough has Commissions of Oyer and Terminer and General Gaol Delivery as well as the usual Commission of the Peace, and the Justices can therefore try offences not within the ordinary jurisdiction of Quarter Sessions.

† An inquisition of a Coroner's Jury is equivalent to an indictment, but cases tried on an inquisition are very rare.

‡ All jurisdiction and authority under the Crown Cases Act, 1848, in relation to questions of law, is now vested in the Court of Criminal Appeal (Criminal Appeal Act, 1907, sec. 20 (4)).

INDICTABLE OFFENCES.

As in Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions the procedure is by indictment, the offences tried by these courts are called "indictable offences." All the ancient Common Law Offences are indictable, and so are all statutory offences unless the statute expressly provides some other mode of trial.

NON-INDICTABLE OFFENCES.

In distinction from these indictable offences, offences originally within the jurisdiction of Courts of Summary Jurisdiction are in these Tables designated "non-indictable." These are all, like the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction themselves, created by statute; and in every case they are expressly declared by the statute to be triable summarily.

INDICTABLE OFFENCES TRIED SUMMARILY.

In certain cases offences which originally were tried on indictment only may now be tried summarily. This is done under sections 10, 11, 12, and 13 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879,* which superseded some earlier and more restricted enactments on the same subject. These offences appear in the Tables of the Proceedings of Courts of Summary Jurisdiction in a special section headed "Indictable Offences tried Summarily." In the Police Tables of indictable offences the cases heard summarily are shown in separate columns.

NON-INDICTABLE OFFENCES TRIED AS IF INDICTABLE.

On the other hand certain offences ordinarily tried summarily may in exceptional cases be sent for trial at Assizes or Quarter Sessions "as if they were indictable." This class includes Assault (Offences against the Person Act, 1861, sec. 46), all offences, other than assaults, punishable with more than 3 months' imprisonment (Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, sec. 17), and some offences created by recent Acts, such as the Conspiracy, and Protection of Property Act, 1875, the Merchandise Marks Act, 1887, the Witnesses (Public Enquiries) Protection Act, 1892, the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906, &c. These offences being ordinarily tried summarily are not separated from the other non-indictable offences in the Tables of the Proceedings of Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, and in the Tables of Non-indictable Offences; but such cases as are actually sent for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions appear under appropriate heads (chiefly Assault, Intimidation, and Cruelty to Children) in the Assize and Quarter Sessions Tables, and in the Police Tables of Indictable Offences.

PROCEEDINGS AT ASSIZES AND QUARTER SESSIONS.

The following are points which may be useful as explaining the headings of the columns in Tables I to V and VII.

At Assizes and Quarter Sessions the proceedings are commenced by the preferring of a bill of indictment or draft indictment before the Grand Jury. If the Grand Jury think that there is no prima facie case against the person accused they return the draft indictment marked "no true bill," and the case is at an end. Otherwise they find the indictment or formal accusation on which the prisoner is tried. The prisoner is then arraigned or formally accused before the petty jury; and at this stage the question of the prisoner's sanity at the time of arraignment may be investigated by a jury. If found insane and unfit to plead he is not tried but is ordered to be detained during His Majesty's pleasure. Otherwise he is tried by the Jury.

On trial by Jury three verdicts are possible in ordinary cases: acquittal, conviction, or a special verdict to the effect that the prisoner was guilty of the act charged, but was insane at the time of committing it. If the latter is given, he is ordered to be detained during His Majesty's pleasure. On conviction, the Judge passes sentence, which may be death,† penal servitude, imprisonment, detention in a Borstal Institution (for offenders between 16 and 21 years of age), detention in an Inebriate Reformatory, detention in a Reformatory School (for offenders between 12 and 16 years of age), fine, whipping, or custody in a place of detention (for offenders under 16 years of age); or the Court may order the prisoner to enter into recognizances to come up for judgment when so required, and, in addition, may place the offender under the supervision of a probation officer—an order to this effect being termed a probation order. The Court may also order children under 14 years of age to be detained in an Industrial School.

* Libel may also in certain cases be tried summarily (44 & 45 Vict. c. 60, s. 5). The powers of Courts of Summary Jurisdiction for the trial of indictable offences have been further extended by the Inebriates Act, 1898, the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1899, and the Children Act, 1908.

† The offences for which judgment of death may be pronounced by civil courts are murder, treason, piracy with violence, and arson of His Majesty's ships, arsenals, dockyards, &c. For the two last-named offences the Court may order the judgment of death to be entered of record, which has the same effect as if the judgment had been duly pronounced and the offender reprieved by the Court.

ASSIZES AND QUARTER SESSIONS.

NOTES.

(a.) The titles of offences (Column 1) are much condensed. The fuller titles, and the offences comprised under each head will be found in Appendix A on page 165.

In Tables III and IV offences not triable at Quarter Sessions are omitted, but the numbering of the heads is the same as in Tables I, II, and V.

(b.) The Tables show the numbers of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where therefore any person is prosecuted at the same Assizes or Sessions for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation: and the rule followed is to select that for which the proceedings were carried to the furthest stage—to trial if there were several indictments, to conviction and sentence if prisoner was tried on several charges. If there are several convictions, the offence selected is that for which the heaviest punishment was awarded. If the final result of proceedings on two or more charges is the same, the more serious offence (as measured by the maximum penalty allowed by the law) appears in the Tables.

(c.) Where, in addition to the offence thus selected for detailed tabulation, the same person is prosecuted for other offences of a distinct character and charged in separate indictments, the number of these additional charges is given in Columns 26 to 28 of Tables I, III, and V: Column 26 giving the total number of such charges, Column 27 the number resulting in convictions, and Column 28 the number for which separate sentences (not concurrent with those in Columns 10 to 20) are passed. Only distinct offences charged in separate indictments are included in these columns: additional indictments merely varying the form of the charge, and additional charges appearing as counts in the same indictment, are excluded.

An exception is made, however, in the case of a charge under Part II of the Prevention of Crime Act, 1908, or Section 1 of the Inebriates Act, 1898. In the former case, if there is no conviction on the count of being an habitual criminal, or no sentence is passed therefor, no record appears in these statistics: but if the prisoner is convicted and sentenced on the charge, the sentence of preventive detention appears in column 21 as an additional order made on his conviction of the specific offence which has led to his indictment as an habitual criminal.

In the case of a person convicted and sentenced as an habitual drunkard under Section 1 of the Inebriates Act, 1898, the sentence of detention in an Inebriate Reformatory is given in Column 15, whether it is in substitution for or in addition to a sentence of penal servitude or imprisonment. In the latter case the sentence of penal servitude or imprisonment does not appear in this table, but particulars are given in Table L.

(d.) Where a person is prosecuted for one offence and convicted for another (e.g., committed for murder, and convicted of manslaughter) the case appears only under the offence of which he was convicted.

(e.) All the Tables are for the calendar year ending 31st December, and include only cases finally determined within the year. Cases not entirely disposed of within the year (e.g., tried, but sentence postponed) are held over for the next year's Tables.

When, however, the Epiphany Quarter Sessions commence before the end of the year, any cases disposed of on or before 31st December are included in the Return for the following year, so as to give four quarters uniformly in each year.

Tables I, III, and V.

(f.) Columns 2, 3, and 4 ("Numbers for Trial") include only such cases as actually come before the Assizes or Quarter Sessions. Persons who die, escape from prison, abscond while on bail, or are removed to an asylum before trial are not included.

(g.) Column 13 ("Imprisonment") does not include the sentences of imprisonment which sometimes precede sentences of detention in an Inebriate Reformatory, nor does it include sentences of imprisonment in default of payment of fine or in default of finding sureties.

(h.) Columns 17 and 23 ("Fine") include all cases where payment of a fine is imposed as the sentence or part of the sentence whether the fine is actually paid or not.

(i.) Columns 18, 19, and 25 ("Recognizances"), include cases where recognizances are required whether with or without sureties, and, if sureties are required, whether they are found or not.

(j.) Columns 21 to 25 are for those cases where more than one punishment is imposed for the same offence. Thus, if a young person convicted of larceny is sentenced to be imprisoned and whipped, the imprisonment appears in Column 13, the whipping in Column 24.

(k.) Columns 26 to 28. See note (c) above.

Table VI.

(l.) The counties in this table are, as regards their area and boundaries, the administrative counties; but Lincoln, Northampton, Cambridge, Suffolk, Sussex, and Southampton are each treated as one county, and county boroughs are included in the counties in which they are situated geographically. York is included wholly in the North Riding of Yorkshire, and Stockport in Cheshire.

Table VII.

(m.) Where several persons are charged with the same offence, this is entered as one case in Column 2, but as several persons in Column 3.

(n.) Where there are several charges against the same person, this is entered as one case in Column 2. In selecting the offences for tabulation and giving the results of proceedings, the same rules are followed as in Tables I, III, and V.

Table VIII.

(o.) In this Table the title of offences which do not occur during the year are omitted, but the numbering is the same as in the preceding Tables. This note applies to Table IX also.

(p.) Children who have not completed their fourteenth year are regarded as under 14, and are entered in Column 5. Column 6 includes all persons who have completed 14 years, but not completed 16 years, and similarly with the other columns.

^a Hertfordshire has only one Commission of the Peace, but separate Courts of Quarter Sessions are held for the two divisions of the County (37 & 38 Vict. c. 45).

^b The jurisdiction of the Dover and Sandwich Quarter Sessions extends to such members of these two Cinque Ports as have no separate Courts of Quarter Sessions.

^c Lancashire was divided for Assize purposes by an Order in Council, dated 4th May, 1864. The Northern Division comprises the Hundreds of Lonsdale, Amounderness, Leyland and Blackburn, Salford Division comprises Salford Hundred, and West Derby Division comprises West Derby Hundred.

^d Each of the three Parts of Lincolnshire has a separate Commission of the Peace.^e The Central Criminal Court having concurrent jurisdiction with the Court of Quarter Sessions, all criminal cases arising within the City are, as a matter of convenience, tried at the former Court.^f This Court is still held, but no prisoners are tried, and the proceedings are purely formal.^g The Soke or Liberty of Peterborough has had a separate Court of Quarter Sessions since the reign of Edward III, and in addition to the usual Commission of the Peace there are Commissions of Oyer and Terminer and of General Gaol Delivery.

^a This total is made up of 19,190 boys and 1,152 girls under 14 years of age, 14,374 male and 771 female young persons aged 14 and under 16, and 2,652 males and 212 females aged above 16. In addition to the persons included in this return 835 children and 3,026 young persons were dealt with by ordinary Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, because they were charged jointly with adults, or were supposed to be aged above 16.

^b Columns 3, 5 and 6 include 88 cases of boys whipped with the consent of their parents and discharged.

COURTS OF SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

NOTES.

Tables XI, XII, and XIII.

(a.) These Tables include only offences tried summarily. All Indictable Offences where the Court does not actually assume the power to determine the case summarily are excluded. Further, these Tables include only cases where the proceedings are criminal—that is, lead if successful to a conviction. There are a large number of cases which are quasi-criminal in character, but where the procedure is by complaint, leading, not to a conviction, but to the making of an order. These are provided for in a separate Table—No. XIV.

(b.) The Tables show the number of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where therefore any person is prosecuted at the same time for several offences one offence has to be selected for tabulation, and the rules followed are the same as in Tables I to V. (See note (b) page 28.)

(c.) The offences included under each of the titles of offences in Column 1 are stated in Appendix B on page 172.

Table XI.

(d.) Table XI corresponds to Tables I, III, and V, and (as regards length of sentences) to Tables II and IV.

(e.) Columns 4 to 6 include all persons dealt with under sections 1 and 2 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, the entries being made as follows :—

Column 4.—Cases in which, although the charge is proved, the Court, without proceeding to conviction, makes an order dismissing the information or charge (section 1 (1) (i) of Act).

Column 5.—Similar cases, in which an order is made discharging the offender conditionally on his entering into a recognizance with or without sureties, to be of good behaviour, and to appear for conviction and sentence when called upon (section 1 (1) (ii) of Act), but where no probation order is made.

Column 6.—Cases in which a probation order is made, i.e., in which the order for recognizances contains a condition placing the offender under supervision (section 2 of Act).

(f.) Column 7 “Committal to Industrial School,” includes only those committals to Industrial Schools where an offence is charged—i.e., committals under Section 58 (2) and (3) of the Children Act, 1908, Section 12 of the Elementary Education Act, 1876, Section 5 (3) of the Employment of Children Act, 1903, Section 6 (5) of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, and Articles 8 and 9 of the Order in Council of the 2nd April, 1909, relating to Day Industrial Schools. Other committals to Industrial Schools where the proceedings are not criminal appear in Table XIV and also in Table XLV.

(g.) Column 8 includes committals to custody of relatives or other persons, made under section 58 (7) of the Children Act, 1908, in the cases of children charged with offences punishable with imprisonment, i.e., cases in which a committal to an industrial school could be made under section 58 (2) and (3) of the Children Act, 1908.

(h.) Columns 10 to 16, “Imprisonment,” do not include the preliminary imprisonment in Inebriate Reformatory cases, nor terms of imprisonment in default of paying fine or of finding sureties.

(i.) Column 18, “Reformatory School,” contains all cases of persons sentenced to Reformatory School detention, whether they are actually admitted to a reformatory or not. Details as to cases actually received in reformatories are given in Table XLIV.

(k.) Columns 20 and 24, “Fine,” include all cases where a fine is imposed whether the fine is paid or not. The number of persons imprisoned in default of payment of fines is given in Table XXXV.

(l.) Column 21, “Recognizances,” includes all cases where the defendant is ordered to find sureties upon conviction whether the sureties are found or not. Cases where a person is required to find sureties upon complaint or upon the dismissal of a criminal charge, are included in Table XIV.

Table XII.

Table XIII.

(n.) This Table corresponds to Table VIII. The rule as to ages is the same. The first part gives the ages of all persons convicted summarily of indictable offences, and is exactly on the same basis as Table VIII. The second part, however, contains only persons apprehended and convicted : persons convicted on summons have to be excluded on account of the difficulty of ascertaining their ages.

PROBATION ORDERS.

XVII.—PROBATION ORDERS.—Offences of Persons released under Probation Orders, Age and Sex, and Number subsequently Sentenced.

XVIII.—PROBATION ORDERS.—Number of Persons released under Probation Orders in each Court or Police District, Age and Sex, and Number subsequently Sentenced.

(These Tables include all Probation Orders—those made by Assizes and Quarter Sessions and those made by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction.)

TABLE XVII.—PROBATION ORDERS.—Offences of Persons released under Probation Orders, Age and Sex, and Number subsequently Sentenced.

TABLE XXI.—PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS.—Number of Prosecutions undertaken by the Director of Public Prosecutions, and Results.

(a.) "Offences."—The titles of the indictable offences are the same as in Tables I to V; of non-indictable offences as in Table XI. The table includes all prosecutions completed within the year; cases pending at the end of the year are reserved for inclusion in next year's tables.

(b.) In Columns 2 to 6, "number of prosecutions undertaken," each case appears as one only, though several persons may be involved or several charges brought. In Columns 7 to 16 (number of persons prosecuted, &c.) the number of persons is given. Where the same person is prosecuted for several offences, one offence is selected for tabulation by the same rule as is followed in Tables I to V. In such cases, the number of charges not included in Columns 2 to 16 is given in Column 17.

POLICE RETURNS.

NOTES.

Table XXII.

- (a.) Column 1, "Offences."—The titles of the offences are the same as in Tables I to V.
- (b.) Column 2, "Number of Crimes known to police."—This column includes all crimes reported to the police or otherwise coming to their knowledge within the year whether committed by the same or different persons, and whether any apprehension takes place within the year or not.
- (c.) If there is a committal or conviction within the year, the table shows the nature of the crime as judicially determined. Failing this, the charge which is named in the summons or warrant or on which the prisoner is arrested is taken as determining the crime. If there are no proceedings and no apprehension, the character of the crime is judged by the facts so far as known to the police.
- (d.) In Columns 3 to 18 the number of persons proceeded against is given, not the number of crimes or charges. A person charged at the same time with several offences appears as one person only. In selecting the offence for tabulation the same principle is followed as in Tables I to V—the charge resulting in conviction or committal for trial has preference to the others; and subject to this the more serious offence is selected. If there are two or more convictions, that for which the heavier sentence is inflicted is regarded as the more serious. These columns include only cases disposed of within the year. Cases pending at the end of the year are reserved for inclusion in the following year's table.
- (e.) Columns 4 and 12, "Discharged," contain cases where the magistrate does not assume power to try the case summarily, but discharges the accused under Section 25 of the Indictable Offences Act, 1848.
- (f.) Columns 5 and 13, "Tried Summarily and Acquitted," contain cases where, after the magistrate has decided to deal summarily with the case, the charge is dismissed or withdrawn.
- (g.) The entries in columns 6 and 14 include the following cases:—
- (i) All cases dealt with under sections 1 and 2 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, i.e., cases where the charge is held to be proved, but the court, without convicting, made an order dismissing the charge, or an order for the offender to enter into recognizances, or a probation order.
 - (ii) Children under 12 charged with indictable offences committed to industrial schools under section 58 (2) and (3) of the Children Act, 1908.
 - (iii) Committals to custody of relatives and others made under section 58 (7) of the Children Act, 1908, in the cases of children charged with indictable offences, i.e., cases in which a committal to an industrial school could be made under section 58 (2) and (3) of the Children Act, 1908.
- (h.) Columns 8 and 16, "Committed for Trial and Detained," include all persons committed to prison and places of detention to await trial, whether they are subsequently released on bail or not.
- (i.) Column 19 includes offences excluded from columns 3 to 18 by the rule set forth in note (d.) above, and also offences for which no proceedings were taken because they were taken into account by a Court in passing sentence for another offence.

Table XXIII.

- (j.) The titles of the offences are the same as in Table XI (B), and, as in that Table, only criminal proceedings are included.
- (k.) Notes (c) and (d) above apply to this table.
- (l.) Note (g) above applies to entries in columns 4 and 9 of this table, with the substitution of non-indictable offences for indictable offences.

Tables XXVI and XXVII.

(m.) Table XXVI gives the number of crimes in each Police District, i.e., the number of crimes of the nature of Indictable Offences reported within the year to the Police as committed within the Police District. Table XXVII is the corresponding Table for Non-Indictable Offences: but as in this case no figures of the number of offences committed or reported to the police can be given, the table gives the number of persons proceeded against. In other words Table XXVI gives the distribution in Police Districts of the figures in Column 2 of Table XXII, Table XXVII the distribution in Police Districts of the figures in Columns 2 and 7 of Table XXIII.

RETURNS FROM THE SEVERAL POLICE DISTRICTS.

TABLE XXIX.—Habitual Criminals at Large and Houses of Bad Character in each District.

The enumeration for the purposes of these Tables was made on the first Tuesday in April, 1912.

Columns 2 to 5, "Number of Habitual Criminals at Large," include persons who are known to engage habitually in crime as their means, or part of their means, of livelihood. Persons previously convicted, but not habitual criminals, are not included. Crime is understood in the sense given to it by the definition in Section 20 of the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871, viz., any felony and the following misdemeanours:—uttering or possessing counterfeit coin, false pretences, conspiracy to defraud, and possession of house-breaking implements, or any offence under Section 58 of the Larceny Act, 1861.

Column 7, "Houses of Receivers of Stolen Goods," includes houses reasonably suspected of being used for the receipt of stolen goods, whether there is an actual conviction against the occupier or not.

Columns 8, 9, and 10 include all houses where thieves and other habitual criminals regularly resort and meet, whether or not the occupiers of the houses are suspected of wilfully harbouring them, or of complicity in their crimes.

NOTES TO CORONERS' TABLES.

Table XXX.

(a.) Inquests held on several bodies simultaneously (e.g., where several persons have been killed at the same time by a railway accident or a colliery explosion) are in this Table and Table XXXI reckoned, not as one inquest, but as separate inquests on each person.

(b.) Columns 3 and 5 include the inquests on the bodies of children who at the time of death had not completed one year; columns 4 and 6 the inquests on those who had completed one year, but not completed seven years, and similarly in the other columns. Where the actual age is not known, the age is estimated as nearly as possible.

Table XXXI.

(c.) Column 8 ("Disease Aggravated by Neglect by Others") and column 11 ("Want of Attention at Birth") include those cases of neglect which fall short of manslaughter.

(d.) Column 9 ("Want, Exposure, &c.") includes verdicts of death by disease aggravated by want, exposure, or by self-neglect, and column 10 ("Excessive Drinking") includes verdicts of death by disease aggravated by excessive drinking.

(e.) Column 13 ("Death from Natural Causes") includes verdicts of death by disease or death from old age.

(f.) Columns 19 and 20 include inquests on the bodies of children who have died shortly after birth, or who, so far as is known or can be judged, have not lived longer than 24 hours. The cases shown in columns 19 and 20 are also entered according to the cause of death in columns 2 to 18.

TABLE XXXII.—PRISONERS.—Receptions of Prisoners in each Prison.

(a). CRIMINAL PRISONERS.

Note.—This table gives the numbers of each class of criminal prisoners received in each prison during the year. In the case of prisoners committed for trial it is necessary to distinguish those who were and those who were not previously in prison on remand: otherwise in making up the total the same person would, in many cases, count twice—as a remand prisoner and as a prisoner committed for trial. Similarly convicted prisoners have to be divided into those who were and those who were not in detention before trial. The figures of the cases which thus appear a second or a third time are printed in italics, columns 3, 5 and 7. The total of criminal prisoners, column 10, is obtained by adding the figures in the other columns 2, 4, 6, 8 and 9. The table gives only the first receptions of prisoners on remand, committal for trial, &c. When prisoners are transferred from one prison to another they appear only in the return from the prison in which they are first received, not in that from the prison to which they are removed. Hence no receptions into convict prisons are shown, as all convicts undergo some detention in local prisons before transfer to convict prisons.

TABLE XXXIX.—UNCONVICTED PRISONERS.—Terms of Detention, before Trial, of Persons tried in each Court.

The term of detention is reckoned from the date on which the prisoner was committed for trial to the date on which his trial commenced, both these days being included. Where a prisoner after committal to prison was released on bail, the detention is reckoned to the date of release on bail. The number acquitted includes cases in which the Grand Jury returned no bill; in these cases the detention is reckoned to the date of the decision of the Grand Jury.

TABLE XLII.—PREVENTIVE DETENTION.—Particulars of Persons sentenced to Preventive Detention.

Note.—Under the provisions of the Prevention of Crime Act, 1908, which came into operation on 1st August, 1909, if a person convicted upon indictment of a crime and sentenced to penal servitude is an habitual criminal, the court, if of opinion that by reason of the offender's criminal habits and mode of life it is expedient for the protection of the public that he should be kept in detention for a lengthened period of years, may order that upon the determination of the sentence of penal servitude he undergo a period of preventive detention not exceeding ten years nor less than five years.

Persons undergoing preventive detention are subject to prison rules modified in the direction of less rigorous treatment and are confined in prisons set apart for the purpose. They are subjected to such disciplinary and reformatory influences and are employed on such work as may be best fitted to make them able and willing to earn an honest livelihood on discharge.

The cases of persons undergoing preventive detention are periodically reviewed with a view to discharge upon licence if there is a reasonable probability that the convict will abstain from crime and lead a useful and industrious life, or if he is no longer capable of engaging in crime, or if for any other reason it is desirable to release him from confinement in prison.

PLACES OF DETENTION.

XLVI.—PLACES OF DETENTION.—Receptions of Children and Young Persons.

BORSTAL INSTITUTIONS.

Borstal Institutions are places in which young offenders, aged upon conviction not less than sixteen nor more than twenty-one years, may be given such industrial training and other instruction, and be subjected to such disciplinary and moral influences as will conduce to their reformation and the prevention of crime.

Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions may sentence persons within the limits of age, who are convicted of offences punishable with penal servitude or imprisonment, to Borstal Detention for not less than one year nor more than three years.

Borstal Institutions have been established at Borstal, Canterbury, and Feltham for males, and at Aylesbury for females.

Table XLIII supplements the information given in Tables I, III, and V with regard to persons sentenced to Borstal Detention, and shows also in what manner the persons who left the Institutions during the year were disposed of. Other information concerning the inmates and management of Borstal Institutions is given in the Annual Report of the Commissioners of Prisons [Cd. 7092].

REFORMATORY AND INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

Reformatory Schools are institutions to which youthful offenders between the ages of twelve and sixteen years are committed for industrial training. Industrial Schools receive for the same purpose children under the age of fourteen years who are charged with offences, or whose circumstances and surroundings are such as to make it probable that they will fall into criminal habits or modes of life or become the victims of criminal or immoral influences.

On the 31st December, 1912, there were in existence 37 reformatory schools (27 for male offenders and 10 for females), 125 residential industrial schools (78 for boys and 47 for girls), and 11 day industrial schools in which children of both sexes are received. The boys' residential industrial schools include 9 "short-term" schools, mainly devoted to offenders against the Education Acts, whom it is the practice to release on licence after a comparatively brief period of detention.

Tables XLIV and XLV supply information additional to the particulars given in Tables I, III, V, XI, XIV, and XVI, concerning the children and young persons committed by the courts to reformatory and industrial schools during the year, and also show in what manner those who left the institutions in the same period were disposed of. Particulars concerning the inmates and management of the institutions are given in the annual report of the Chief Inspector of Reformatory and Industrial Schools [Cd. 7196].

PLACES OF DETENTION.

Places of detention are provided by police authorities for the temporary detention of children and young persons under sixteen years of age charged with offences, when the circumstances do not admit of release upon recognizances and it would otherwise be necessary to confine the child or young person in a police station or prison.

Children or young persons convicted of offences punishable in the case of adults by penal servitude or imprisonment, may be committed to places of detention for terms not exceeding one month.

Places of detention consist of—

- (1) Institutions used for the purpose by arrangement, and
- (2) (in a few large cities), premises specially established for the purpose.

The former classes of premises include reformatory schools (for convicted cases only), industrial schools, boys' and girls' refuges and homes, workhouses, and similar institutions.

NOTES TO TABLE LI.

(a.)—The classification of the grounds on which pardons, &c., are granted requires some further explanation:—

Column 3, "On grounds affecting the original Conviction," includes pardons or remissions of sentence granted on account of fresh evidence establishing the prisoner's innocence, or showing reasonable doubt as to guilt, or altering the view taken as to the legal character of the offence.

Column 5, "On medical grounds," includes persons discharged solely on medical grounds, e.g., persons whose lives were endangered by imprisonment, and women near their confinement, who, if longer detained, would not have been fit for discharge at the expiration of their sentence. Where the medical condition of the persons formed only a part of the grounds for the exercise of the prerogative, the cases are tabulated under other heads.

Column 7, "In simple mitigation of Sentence," in distinction from column 3, comprises all cases where the mitigation granted does not imply any alteration of the view taken by the Court as to the prisoner's guilt or as to the legal character of his offence, but where weight is given with or without a recommendation from the judge or magistrate, to such extenuating circumstances as youth, provocation, mental disturbance, &c.; also cases where remission is granted for reasons not cognizable to the Court, as where a short remission enables a prisoner to avail himself of some special opportunity of making a new start in life.

Column 8, "Other Cases."—Four of the persons in this column were soldiers convicted of comparatively slight offences who were released in order that they might be sent on foreign service, and five were alien prisoners ordered to be deported, who were released a few days before the expiration of their sentence to facilitate arrangements for deportation.

(b.)—"Remanet."—When a convict is released on licence he is liable, if again convicted, to undergo a term of penal servitude equal to the portion of his original sentence unexpired at the time of his release. This is known as a "remanet."

Percentage to Proceedings begun ...	—	—	—	—	31·19	31·44	31·37	—

There was a decline in the total business of the Courts ; the proceedings commenced fell from 1,421,691 in 1911 to 1,368,455 in 1912, the proceedings heard from 446,971 to 426,865. The decline in the former was from 3,958·9 per 100,000 of population to 3,745·12 ; in the latter from 1,236·17 to 1,168·22 per 100,000. These figures are the smallest recorded since 1900.

The decrease in proceedings begun was in all courts, including the County Courts, with the exception of the Divorce Court ; and the same held good of the proceedings heard and determined in the Chancery and King's Bench Divisions of the High Court.

No doubt these figures were affected by the state of business and employment and wages in 1912. There was a rise in wages counteracted to some degree by the increase in the prices of commodities. The figures for the percentage of unemployed was slightly greater than in 1911 (3·2 as against 3·0). The number of disputes begun in 1912 was less than in 1911 ; but owing chiefly to the coal strike, the number of work-people involved was greater (1,437,032 as against 961,980). So also was the aggregate duration of disputes in working days (40,346,400 against 10,319,591).

The figures in the above table as to the total amount of litigation must be read in the light of certain facts :—

(1.) The large and probably increasing amount of disputes which are determined by arbitration. Many trades have completely organised systems of arbitration for the settlement of disputes relative to quantity and quality of goods and as to the performance generally of

* Including proceedings in Bankruptcy and Companies Winding up.

† The figures for Lancaster Chancery Court may include proceedings in Companies Winding up in the Durham Chancery Court.

‡ Including appellate proceedings in the Court of Arches and in the Chancery Court of the Province of York.

mercantile contracts. Many of these arbitrations are conducted informally and never come before the Courts, or, if they do, only upon applications under the Act of 1889 to enforce awards, or for the appointment of an arbitrator or umpire.

(2.) It is more and more the practice to introduce an arbitration clause into contracts, with the result that disputes are determined outside the Courts; no applications being made thereto, except occasionally, to stay proceedings brought contrary to the terms of such clause. I have endeavoured to obtain some approximate figure as to the amount of disputes terminated in this manner, but the data requisite even for an approximate estimate are not accessible.

(3.) There is very often a clause in contracts, particularly for the execution of works, that the engineer or architect of an employer is to be the sole and final judge in all disputes which may occur under the contract or as to its meaning; which may also mean the withdrawal from the Court of disputes which would otherwise come before it.

(4.) Finally, there is a tendency on the part of the Legislature to insert in statutes provisions for arbitrations, compulsory or optional, and even to devise special administrative ways of settling special classes of disputes. Some of this machinery is comparatively old, e.g., the Charity Commissioners; some of it is little used, e.g., there were no applications under the Benefices Acts in 1912; and the appeals to the Tribunal of Appeal under the London Building Acts, 1894–1905, did not average more than five a year.

But some statutes embodying such machinery must have diverted a large number of cases which would otherwise have found their way into the High Court or County Courts. Thus there were no fewer than 5,279 hearings before the Comptroller in 1912 regarding Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks cases; 79 arbitrators were appointed by the Board of Agriculture in the year under the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908; and under Section 31 of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 284 disputes were settled by the Board of Trade during 1910 and 1911.

Receipts and Expenditure of the High Court.—I add two statements as to the Expenditure and Receipts of the Courts for the ten years.

The above expenditure does not include that of local courts supported by municipalities.

It thus appears that there has been a slight increase in the expenditure and a slight decrease in the receipts of the Courts of Justice included in the above statement. The increase in the expenditure of the Supreme Court is due mainly to the creation of the Court of Criminal Appeal and to the increase in the number of King's Bench Judges in 1907 and 1910. It will be noted that there has been a decrease in the expenditure of the Bankruptcy Courts.

In the total receipts there has been a decrease in the case of all the courts included.

The average net cost in the above ten years has been £285,212 or about the cost of a light (unarmoured) cruiser.

Deducting the cost attributable to the administration of criminal law (time of Judges occupied in trying criminal cases, costs on circuit relating to such cases, and of the Court of Criminal Appeal) the net cost of maintenance of the above Courts would be about £100,000 to £120,000 per annum.

The above figures are somewhat remarkable. It may be doubted whether the Civil Courts of any other country show similar results.

Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.—In the total number of appeals to the Judicial Committee entered during the year there was a decline (100 against 128). This decline was both in Indian appeals (59 against 77) and Colonial appeals (38 against 47).

The following statement shows the fluctuations in the business for ten years.

House of Lords.—In the House of Lords speaking generally there was a decline of business. Although the number of petitions presented during 1912 (91) was practically the same as the number presented during 1911 (90), yet the number of appeals finally adjudicated was less than in the previous year (59 against 72). The number of appeals undisposed of at the end of 1912 was rather more than the number awaiting trial at the commencement of the same year; and the number of days the House sat for judicial business in 1912 were 86 as compared with 100 in 1911.

The following Table summarizes the main figures for the last 10 years, and gives also the percentage of successful appeals.

The great difference between the percentage of successful appeals in the House of Lords and that in the Judicial Committee will be noticed; in some years the percentage in the latter was twice that in the former.

The following Table shows the duration of the proceedings in appeals to the House of Lords. The figures for 1912 are compared with those for 1902. It will be noticed that the periods are now much shorter than they were 10 years ago. In 1902 the majority of appeals took from 1 to 2 years from the date of the order of the Court below to the final adjudication of the House of Lords, but in 1912 the majority only took 6 months to a year for the same proceedings. This improvement is seen at whatever stage in the proceedings the duration is calculated.

Court of Appeal.—There was a decrease in the number of appeals set down (775 against 862) the decrease being both in appeals from judgments and final orders and in interlocutory appeals. As usual the Workmen's Compensation appeals are about one-fourth of the final appeals.

It may be of interest to show the periods which had elapsed since the appeals waiting for hearing in the Court of Appeal were set down. It is needless to say that in some instances appeals may have been delayed at the request of both the parties or one of them.

Chancery Division.—There was again a decline in the business of the Chancery Division: that is, in the writs, summonses at Chambers, and actions tried, but there was a slight increase in fees (£43,306 against £40,875).

The course of the business in that Division during the last ten years appears in the following statement:—

* Number of Judges, 6.

† From 1903 to 1906 there were 15 Judges attached to this Division. In October 1907, an additional Judge was appointed, and October 1910, two more were appointed, making the total strength of the Division 18 Judges. Grantham, J., died in November 1911, Lawrence, J., retired in April 1912; and the two vacancies thus created were not filled until October 1912.

Here too there is, on the whole, a distinct decline in business.

The writs in this Division fell from 61,784 to 60,789, the smallest figure yet recorded. Ten years ago they exceeded this figure by about 9,000; twenty years ago by about 15,000.

The number of summonses at Chambers remains much the same as the year before (34,421 against 34,639).

There was a distinct increase in the number of actions entered for trial (3,624 against 3,276) owing chiefly no doubt to the increase in the number of Judges.

Of the total number of actions, for trial in London and Middlesex and on Circuit (3,828), 397 or over 10 per cent. were for libel or slander.

The popularity of trial by jury still continues. Of 2,106 actions defended, 1,096 or about one-half came before a jury, only 759 before a Judge, and 161 before an Official Referee. Of those tried by a jury, 528 or above one half came before a special jury.

Again the figures show a comparatively small amount recovered by trials before Judges—in fact only £441,300 out of £4,862,688. The actual number of really contested claims is small; the majority of the actions initiated are undefended. Judgment was entered for only £161,450 after trial by jury, and for only £252,639 after trial by Judge. Out of 25,058 judgments on money claims only 7,137 were for amounts above £100.

The business at Assizes somewhat increased; the cases entered being 952 against 917; the cases tried were practically stationary as compared with 1911 (683 against 681).

The largest increase is to be noted in the South Wales Circuit (118 as against 87). There was an increase also in the Midland, Oxford, North Eastern and North Wales Circuits.

Taking an average for some years, there is a gradual diminution of civil business, as appears from this statement:—

With reference to the recommendation of the Royal Commission on Delay in the King's Bench Division "that the Judge of the Circuit should be empowered to alter the venue of any cause entered for trial to the last place on Circuit, unless at least four causes have been entered at the place originally fixed for its trial, or unless in his opinion and with the consent of the parties any particular cause involves boundary questions, necessitates a view or requires a specially large number of local witnesses, and would, therefore, be better tried on the spot," with certain exceptions, it may be interesting to point out that at no fewer than 65 assizes during 1912 were there fewer than 4 causes for trial.

In the last ten years there has been, on the whole, a decrease in the business of the Divisional Courts, to which come, among other matters, appeals from inferior courts. The course of business appears from the following statement:—

In the King's Remembrancer's Department (in which are initiated proceedings for the recovery of unpaid income tax, etc.), a further large increase of writs ad respondendum will be noted.

Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division (Divorce).

—In the Divorce Court there was an increase in the petitions for dissolution of marriage (920 against 859); the figures being the largest yet recorded. This increase was both in petitions by husbands (506 against 466) and by wives (414 against 393); the latter amounting to as much as 45 per cent. of the total.

There was also a large increase in the petitions by wives for restitution of conjugal rights (122 against 86), many of them doubtless intended to found claims on account of desertion.

The decrees nisi also increased; (690 against 655). It may be added that the increase during the last ten years has been greater than the increase in population; the figures for 1912 as compared with those for 1903 show an increase of 12·38 per cent. in the former as against an increase of 9·75 in the latter.

I add two or three statements which show the chief facts as to divorce during the last ten years. The first of these statements shows the petitions for Divorce.

The third table groups together decrees for dissolution of marriage, decrees for judicial separation, and magistrates' orders having the effect of a decree of judicial separation. Owing to the decline in the number of magistrates' separation orders, the total shows a decrease per 100,000 of population, if the annual average for 1908-12 is compared with that for 1903-07. In decrees for divorce alone, the increase per cent. is greater than the increase in the population.

Attention may be called to the much larger proportion of successful petitions for dissolution than of petitions for judicial separation which were successful. During the last 10 years alone, nearly 80 per cent. of the petitions for divorce resulted in decrees; whereas, only 28.3 per cent. of the petitions for decrees for judicial separation so ended.

As usual, I add some tables as to the duration of marriages dissolved and other kindred matters.

In no fewer than 51 per cent. of the petitions, the marriages had lasted 10 years and upwards; in 38 per cent., 10 years and less than 20. In the case of no fewer than 30 petitions, the marriages had lasted 30 years. Unfortunately, there exists no accurate statistics as to the number of subsisting marriages of the above periods of duration.†

An increase is to be noted for 1911 and 1912 in the number of marriages lasting less than one year. But this may be due to more accurate data from which the figures are tabulated.

The next table shows the age at marriage of the parties.

It is remarkable that while only 5.20 per cent. of the husbands were under 21, no fewer than 25.25 of the wives were under age.

The chief fact to be noticed in the next statement is a tendency to increase in the numbers of those previously divorced.

The following table deals with the occupations of the husbands. The explanation of the small numbers in certain occupations is to be found, no doubt, in the costs of proceedings which are practically prohibitive to certain classes.

Lancaster Chancery Court.—The following statement dealing with the course of business in the Court of Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster, seems to show that the business during the ten years 1903–1912 has been practically stationary with a slight tendency to decrease.

County Courts.—There has been a decline in the business of the County Courts. Up to 1904 it had, on the whole, steadily increased. From that date, with the exception of rises in 1908 and 1909, the tendency has been downwards. The proceedings commenced in 1912 (1,262,469 against 1,309,518 in the previous year) were the smallest since 1901. They have ceased to increase proportionately to the population.

There was only a slight increase in the plaints above £100 (515 against 493), and there was a decrease in those above £50 but not above £100.

There was also a decline in the number of actions tried by Judge (33,479 against 34,107). It is significant that out of 410,623 actions determined on hearing 376,355 came before the Registrars.

There was a decided decrease in the number of debtors imprisoned (5,840 against 7,692); the number being the smallest recorded since 1891. This decrease was chiefly in the following circuits:—

Circuit.	Debtors Imprisoned.
	1912.	1911.
6 Lancashire (Liverpool)...	72	134
17 Lincolnshire ...	458	796
18 Nottinghamshire ...	180	315
21 Birmingham ...	59	136
26 Staffordshire (North) ...	44	156
47 Greenwich, &c. ...	68	130
48 West Kent, &c. ...	61	103

Inquiries have been addressed to the Registrars of the Courts in which there has been a decrease in plaints as to the causes of such decrease; and the valuable answers received throw much light on the fluctuations in litigation and changes affecting the condition of the poor. Some of the chief causes assigned are the following:—

(1.) Decline in credit system.

Many of the Registrars lay stress upon the changes in the credit system. Shops and stores, some of them with very large trade which deal only for cash, are superseding the shops which used to give credit freely with the result that there is a decrease in complaints to enforce payment of debts. Thus the Registrars of the Birmingham County Court state :—

“As to the diminution of the general business here during the past five years, it should be observed that the default summonses have decreased during that period by 11 per cent. and the ordinary summonses by 25 per cent. The former class is used principally for collecting trade debts from small shopkeepers, and the decrease is no doubt due to the improvement in trade. The defendants on ordinary summonses are mostly members of the industrial classes, and the decrease in this class of case is in our opinion due to the continued shrinkage in the industrial credit system. This is due to various causes. In the grocery trade large multiple shops dealing only for cash have replaced the small credit grocer, whilst in the drapery trade the Scotch draper who used to encourage a considerable credit trade with the industrial classes (frequently giving credit to unskilled labourers to the extent of £5 or £10), has now become almost extinct in this district, and his place has been taken by very large industrial concerns, who not only limit the amount of credit given to any individual to 40s., but also make the most minute enquiries as to the status of their customers, and decline all credit transactions in certain streets as well as with certain individuals. The result of course is that the proportion of these debts that has to be collected through the County Court is very much smaller than was the case five years ago. In addition to this, the industrial money-lending trade in loans from £2 to £10 has diminished over the same period by about 20 per cent., it having been found that money can be more profitably employed in lending to people of a slightly better social position (e.g., small farmers, managers, elementary school teachers, &c.), from whom a higher rate of interest can be obtained.”

The Registrar of the County Court of Southampton writes to the same effect :—

“The small retail traders have had to give way to the places where goods are sold for cash and to the large credit companies, and are, in my opinion, being slowly extinguished.”

So, too, writes the Registrar of the Folkestone County Court :—

“I think that the tendency of the Judges to make very small orders in the case of Tally-men has considerably reduced the number of complaints issued by these people.”

The Registrar of Cheltenham County Court is still more emphatic :—

“In my opinion the diminution in the number of Complaints issued in this County Court is almost, if not, entirely due to the extraordinary growth of the ‘cash shops’ and Co-operative Stores in this district—in none of which establishments is any credit given.

“And I will go further and express the firm conviction I hold, that this diminution will go on until in somewhere about 10 or 15 years the business of this County Court in respect of the recovery of small debts will be reduced to a still more extraordinary extent.

“In fact, the small credit tradesman is being rapidly eliminated by the huge ‘cash’ stores—who can I am told, afford to sell goods at less than the small tradesman can buy them.”

(2.) Fewer Committal Orders.

No doubt the strict proof required by certain Judges before a committal order is made has tended to diminish the issue of complaints. Thus, as to Bourne-mouth, the Registrar, after calling attention to the falling off of trade in the building and allied industries, remarks :—

“Another potent cause is the stricter view taken by his Honour the present Judge of his power to enforce payment by means of committal of defaulting debtors. This provided a strong inducement to the debtor to pay and was frequently the only remedy available. Now that it is known that committals cannot be readily obtained creditors will not incur the cost of proceeding which must be fruitless.”

The Registrar of the Wellington (Salop) County Court ascribes the diminution in complaints to the same cause :—

“In consequence of many of the Judges being opposed to committing on Judgment summonses, I think there is no doubt that it is creating a tendency to the falling off of complaints, there being no other means of enforcing judgment.”

In an interesting communication from the Registrars of the Birmingham County Court, it is remarked :—

“There is no doubt whatever that this diminution is due almost entirely to the special system adopted here in order to avoid debtors’ going to prison. We give below the number of commitment orders made in each of the five years, together with the number of imprisonments and the number of debtors serving the full term of imprisonment :—

Year.	Commitment Orders.	Persons Imprisoned.	Full Timers.	Percentage to Commitment Orders.
1908 ...	6,768	650	66	1·0
1909 ...	6,607	642	83	1·3
1910 ...	4,966	386	32	·6
1911 ...	4,243	130	19	·4
1912 ...	4,789	55	15	·3

“A glance at this will show that, although the number of commitment orders made has diminished somewhat in the same ratio as the number of complaints issued during the period, the number of persons imprisoned has diminished over 91 per cent., practically from 10 per cent. of the commitment orders in 1908 to slightly over 1 per cent. in 1912.

“The real test of the working of the Debtors’ Act is of course the proportion of cases in which the procedure turns out absolutely abortive for the purpose for which it was intended, that is, the number of debtors who have to serve the full term of imprisonment in default of paying the sums in respect of which they are committed. This proportion has now been reduced here to ·3 per cent.,

the smallest on any of the circuits embodying large industrial populations. If the same steps had been adopted elsewhere and with the same results, the number of full-term debtors throughout England and Wales in 1912 would have been reduced from 4,170 to 633, in which case the grievance against the Debtors' Act would entirely disappear.

"We regard the point as one of very great importance to the commercial community. In an increasing number of cases execution against goods proves abortive owing to the hire-purchase system, and claims by other members of the debtor's family."

(3.) State of Trade.

The state of trade in particular districts has also affected the number of complaints. It is worth observing that activity in trade seems to operate differently in different localities. Thus at Bristol, Bridgnorth and Stourbridge, the decrease in complaints is attributed to better trade.

"Trade has been very good and the working classes," writes the Stourbridge Registrar, "are paying the shopkeepers for what they have or for part of it and as long as they let the shopkeepers have some money, the shopkeepers will not sue them, but when trade falls off they will then come to the Courts."

"The only explanation I can suggest," writes the Registrar of Bridgnorth County Court, "is that continued industrial prosperity has resulted in the betterment of the working classes."

"Trade has been good," writes the Registrar of the Bristol County Court, "and when this is the case, complaints fall off."

On the other hand, certain Registrars attribute the falling off in complaints to bad trade, industrial unrest and strikes. Thus the Registrar of Pontypridd County Court remarks:—

"At the end of 1911, I believe, the Cambrian Colliery strike commenced which prevented any further cases being entered from the Tonypandy area. Following this came the general coal strike which seriously affected the whole of my district and caused the complaints to fall off so considerably in 1912."

The Registrar of Neath County Court referring to industrial unrest and strikes says, "Judges are naturally reluctant to commit debtors when strikes are pending and this naturally affects the entry of complaints."

"With regard to the year 1912 the two months miners' strike" writes the Registrar of Merthyr Tydfil, "at the commencement of that year would account for the drop in the number of complaints entered."

"With regard to the years 1908 to 1911 inclusive the fluctuation would no doubt be caused by the industrial unrest that prevailed in the district during that period and which eventually culminated in the strike of 1912."

The Registrar of the Nuneaton Court traces the fluctuations to the following causes:—

"During the years 1908 and 1909, the colliery trade (which is the staple business of this Court) was very poor. In 1910 and 1911, business at the collieries had considerably improved but in 1912 the colliery strike had the effect of bringing the coal miner to his very lowest ebb, so that the creditors considered it wise to abstain from entering cases against them since they could only obtain the very smallest of orders. As a rule the better the trade of the district, the greater the number of cases and the poorer the trade, the less the number."

Local Courts.—Of the various Inferior Courts, other than the County Courts, that which did the largest business was the Mayor's Court, London. The business is nearly stationary with a slight tendency to diminish.

The following statement shows the progress of business in this Court during the period 1903–1912:—

* The area of the Court's Jurisdiction was altered and other changes were made by the Salford Hundred Court of Record Act, 1911 (1 & 2 Geo. V. Ch. clxxix).

The increase in the business of the Liverpool Court of Passage will be noted.

The chief results shown by the returns for the year 1912 are as follow :—

- (1.) A continuation of the decrease in the total proceedings begun in all courts.
- (2.) A corresponding decrease in the total actions heard and determined, &c., in all courts.
- (3.) An acceleration of the hearing of appeals in the House of Lords.
- (4.) An increase in matters before the Divorce

Court with a decline generally in the other Divisions of the Supreme Court.

- (5.) A pronounced decline in the business of the County Courts and most other inferior Courts.
 - (6.) A decrease in the number of debtors imprisoned.

Notes to the Comparative Tables.

NOTES TO TABLES A TO F.

(1.) These tables are compiled from the previous volumes of Judicial Statistics, supplemented by particulars obtained from the annual returns presented to Parliament relative to County Courts, Bankruptcy, Companies Winding Up, &c., and occasional returns as to Divorce and other matters.

(2.) With a few exceptions the figures for the High Court prior to 1894 are for years ended 31st October, and the figures for other courts, &c., are for calendar years.

(3.) Percentages are expressed to the nearest decimal figure, and amounts are stated to the nearest £. In cases in which the figures for the whole of a quinquennial period are not obtainable, the annual average for the number of years for which figures are available is inserted.

(4.) The nature of the proceedings included under the condensed headings of the comparative tables can in many instances be ascertained by referring to the corresponding annual table.

NOTES TO TABLE A.

(5.) The King's Bench figures for 1896 to 1912 include certain originating proceedings not previously furnished.

(6.) For years previous to 1895 all proceedings begun in District Registries, except Chancery proceedings at Liverpool and Manchester, are included in the figures for the King's Bench Division. Since 1895 information as to the Chancery, King's Bench, and Admiralty proceedings has been furnished separately for all District Registries.

NOTES TO TABLE B.

(7.) Central Office and District Registries.—The Central Office was established as from 28th October, 1879, by Section 4 of the Judicature Act, 1879. The statistics of proceedings commenced in the Central Office include petitions presented at the office of the Chancery Registrars. District Registries were instituted in 1876 by Section 60 of the Judicature Act, 1873, but proceedings relating to the Chancery Division were not separately distinguished in the returns furnished by the District Registrars prior to 1895, and the figures for originating proceedings in District Registries shown in the table from 1888 to 1894 consist only of proceedings commenced in the Liverpool and Manchester District Registries. The figures under certain other headings for the period from 1888 to 1894 include a small proportion of proceedings in the Liverpool and Manchester District Registries. Since 1894 proceedings in all District Registries are included.

(8.) Complete information as to Writs of Execution has been furnished only since 1894.

(9.) Suitors' Funds Accounts.—The funds for all divisions of the Supreme Court were transferred to the Paymaster-General, for and on behalf of the Supreme Court, by the Act 46 & 47 Vict. c. 29, s. 2.

NOTES TO TABLE C.

(10.) The figures for years previous to 1895 include a small proportion of cases belonging to other Divisions of the High Court.

(11.) Previous to 1894 the statistics relating to Official Referees include references of all descriptions. (See Table LVI (a).) From 1894 the figures include only references of the whole cause or matter. (Table LVI (a) Col. 8.)

(12.) Actions tried or otherwise disposed of.—The results shown in the annual tables have been classified as follows:—

“Verdict or judgment for plaintiff” includes verdict for plaintiff, verdict for plaintiff subject to special case, and verdict by consent with reference.

“Verdict or judgment for defendant” includes verdict for defendant, and judgment dismissing action.

“Otherwise disposed of” (London and Middlesex) includes referred, jury discharged without verdict, juror withdrawn, judgment on non-suit, referred to official referee, and otherwise disposed of.

(On Circuit) includes in years previous to 1894 the remainder of the actions excluding remanets and cases in which the venue was changed: the actions disposed of otherwise than in court not being separately distinguished.

(Before Official Referees) includes in years previous to 1894 the remainder of the actions disposed of.

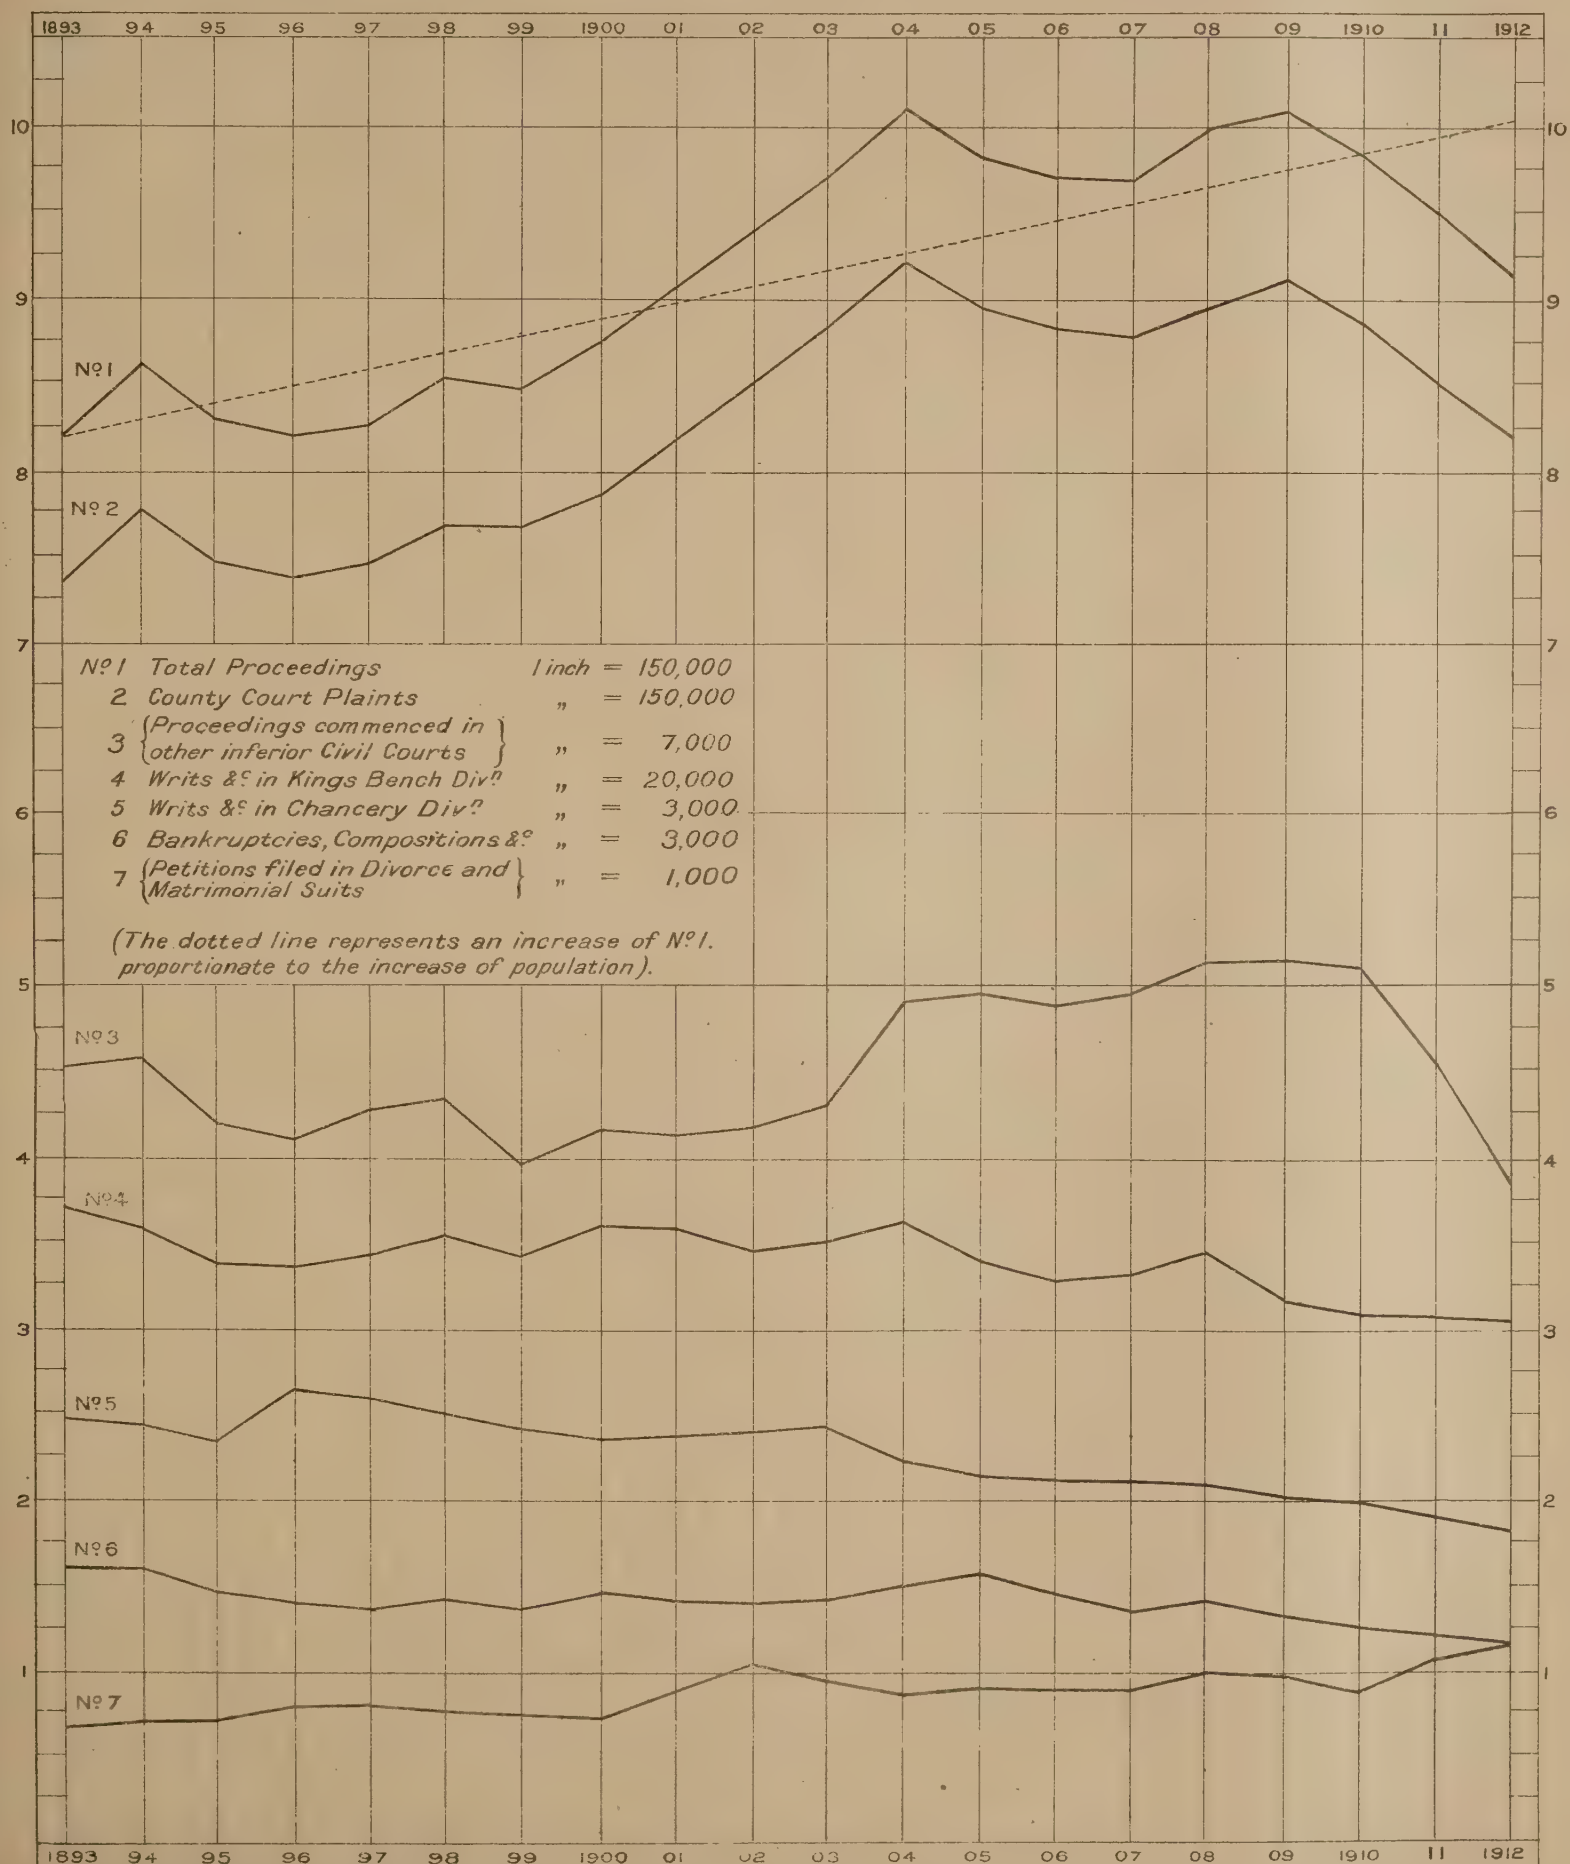

(13.) Complete information as to “Other Writs” has been furnished only since 1895.

NOTE TO TABLE D.

(14.) The first part of this table, to “Fees—Amount received” inclusive, contains a summary of proceedings in the Divorce Court, compiled from returns furnished by the Divorce Registry for insertion in the annual volumes of Judicial Statistics, and shows the number of decrees and other proceedings in each year irrespective of the years in which the petitions were presented. The figures are for the calendar year, with this exception, the figures from 1888 to 1893 are for the year ended on 31st October. The second part of the table for years previous to 1895 was mainly compiled from three Parliamentary Returns [House of Commons 1889 (90), 1894 (67), and 1896 (378)], and shows the results of the petitions presented in each year ended 31st December for dissolution of marriage or for judicial separation whether the cause is terminated in the same year or not. The columns for 1895 to 1912 show the number of decrees, &c., made in those years without regard to the year in which the petitions were presented. Besides the variations in years previous to 1895 between the figures of the two portions of the table, due to the different principles upon which the returns were compiled, there are some discrepancies in the number of petitions, &c., which cannot now be explained.

NOTE.—Tables XXII to XXIV include Actions for Trial in London and Middlesex, on Circuit, and before the Official Referees.

NOTE TO TABLE XXI.

(a) Orders in Chambers.—A large proportion of the orders made in chambers were never drawn up, and consequently, as to these, no returns can be given. From this cause there would naturally appear a large difference between the total numbers of summonses and orders, were it not for the orders made on ex parte applications, as to which no summonses are issued.

Orders “varied” and “reversed” are nearly always drawn up. On the other hand a large proportion of the orders “affirmed” are not drawn up. This greatly affects the figures as to the “results of appeals.”

NOTE TO TABLES XXII, XXV (c) AND XXVI (c).

(b.) Actions undefended.—This includes cases in which the defendant does not appear and in which judgment is given against him in consequence, but not cases in which judgment or verdict is given by consent after the case has been opened in court, nor cases in which the defendant appears but not the plaintiff.

NOTES TO TABLES XXIII, XXIV, XXV (a) and (b), XXVI (a) and (b), LVI (a), (b), (c) and (d) AND LXX (b).

(c.) Nature of Action.—An action in which two or more causes of action are joined is counted as a single action. The entry is made against the cause of action in respect of which the proceedings reach the furthest stage, or, if there is no difference in this respect, against the most important of the causes of action.

(d.) Referred to Official or Special Referee.—This includes only references of the whole cause or action, not references for report to the judge. Cases referred for report, and cases adjourned for further consideration, are entered according to the final result of the case, if known.

NOTES TO TABLES XXIV, XXV (b), XXVI (b) and (d) AND LVI (c) and (d).

(e.) Amount recovered.—The amount recovered includes counterclaims. In cases in which money is recovered on both claim and counterclaim, and in cases of account, the balance only is inserted. The amount recovered is no certain criterion of the importance of the actions tried, inasmuch as in many of the most important actions, such as trespass to land, rights of way, &c., and also test actions involving the disposal of very large sums, only nominal damages are recovered.

(f.) Judgments, &c., for Possession, Costs, &c.—This column includes cases in which the plaintiff recovers costs only, and also judgments for plaintiff in cases in which the judgment is not for a specified sum.

(g.) Commission days.—Column 17 excludes Commission days on which actions or prisoners were tried at the same or some other assize town. Under ordinary circumstances the Commission Day is occupied by travelling and preparatory business, the Commission being opened on the day following, but very frequently Commission days are utilized for the completion of the business at the preceding or some other assize town. At Oakham and Beaumaris, on account of the small amount of business to be transacted, the Commission is opened and actions and prisoners tried on the Commission Day.

(h.) Number of days Judges sat.—If two or more courts are sitting on the same day, each sitting is entered as a separate day. Days on which both civil and criminal causes are tried are counted as two separate days in columns 18 and 19, but as only one day in column 20.

TABLE LXII.—RAILWAY AND CANAL COMMISSION.—Applications and other Proceedings.

Note.—The Railway and Canal Commission is a special tribunal established to hear and determine complaints that reasonable facilities for traffic are withheld, or that undue preferences are shown, by railway and canal companies, and to deal with various other questions and differences in relation to the powers and obligations of railway and canal companies.

The Commission is also empowered to decide certain disputes arising in connection with the postal and telegraph services, and the supply of water to the Metropolis.

The jurisdiction of the Commission extends to Scotland and Ireland, and sittings may be held in any part of the Kingdom.

The Commission consists of two appointed and three ex-officio Commissioners. One appointed Commissioner must have experience in railway business. The ex-officio Commissioners are judges of the superior courts of England, Scotland and Ireland respectively.

A court is formed of the two appointed Commissioners and the ex-officio Commissioner nominated for the part of the Kingdom in which the sitting is held. The ex-officio Commissioner presides. For certain matters the Court may be held by the two appointed Commissioners only.

The Commission is a Court of Record. Its decisions on matters of fact are final: in matters of law an appeal lies to the superior courts. The Orders of the Commissioners are enforceable, either in accordance with special statutory provisions or as orders of the High Court. Damages may be awarded, but power to award costs is restricted.

(a.) NATURE AND RESULTS OF APPLICATIONS.

Note.—"Pending at commencement of year" may include applications made prior to the preceding year. "Applications pending at end of year" may include applications made in preceding years. Any cases shown in column 2 which were not disposed of during the year are included in column 12.

* There is no record of claims for compensation for non-fatal cases under the Workmen's Compensation Acts settled by agreement or by informal arbitration, except where one or other of the parties or the Arbitrator registers in the County Court a memorandum of the agreement or decision. This is provided for in Schedule II (8) of the Act of 1897 and in Schedule II (9) of the Act of 1906, but it is not compulsory in all cases. The statistics of agreements and of informal arbitrations are therefore incomplete; they represent, indeed, only a very small fraction of the cases so dealt with.

^b Including 28 cases in which 1d. per week was awarded.

^c Including only the costs (including Court fees) of successful parties, whether taxed, or allowed by the Judge at a fixed sum or agreed amounts specified in the award or judgment.

^d Including 13 cases in which the amount was 1d. per week.

Including 10 cases stated to have been dealt with under Section 1 (4) of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

TABLE LXXXVI.—PROCEEDINGS IN THE LAND REGISTRY.

NOTES TO THE TABLE.

REGISTRATION OF TITLES.—The Land Registry was first established by the Land Registry Act of 1862. It was re-established under the Land Transfer Act, 1875, and its work was greatly extended by the Land Transfer Act, 1897. The object of these Acts is to simplify title and to facilitate the transfer of land. At the end of 1912 there were 164,882 properties on the register. Of these, all but 1,856 were under the Land Transfer Acts, 1875 and 1897. The great majority of the registered titles are in London, where, under the 1897 Act, registration has been compulsory since 1899 on sales and on grants of leases of over 40 years. A certain number of estates are also voluntarily registered every year in various parts of the country.

The effect of registration with an "absolute" title, or, in the case of a lease, with "good leasehold" title is to reduce the legal costs of sales and mortgages, at ordinary values, from about three per cent. to about one and a third per cent. of the value of the land dealt with. Where legal help is dispensed with, the reduction is of course still greater. There is also no necessity for delay, as the title is always ready for immediate dealing. In case of error in the register the Government guarantees the title.

Under the Land Transfer Acts freehold land or leaseholds of more than 21 years, or with two or more lives to fall in, may be registered, as the circumstances may permit, with

- (a) an absolute title;
- (b) a qualified title (i.e., subject to a reservation);
- (c) a good leasehold title (which amounts to a guarantee of the leaseholder's title to the lease, but does not guarantee validity of the lease itself); or
- (d) a possessory title (which clears the title for the future, but is no bar to possible adverse claims dating from a time prior to its first entry on the register).

New registrations in the original register ceased in 1875, but a number of estates still remain upon that register.

The Act of 1897 provided for making registration compulsory upon sale, in any county or part of a county to which the said provision might be applied. Registration has accordingly been made compulsory in the administrative county of London (including the City).

Land purchased by County Councils for the purpose of small holdings must also be registered.

REGISTRATION OF CHARGES ON LAND.—Under the provisions of the Land Charges Registration and Charges Act, 1888, as amended by the Land Charges Act, 1900, all writs, orders, judgments, or recognizances affecting land, and all other charges upon land, must be registered at the Land Registry. The effect of the registration (with a few exceptions such as bankruptcy and charges under the Public Health Acts and similar local Acts) is to give information as to charges on land which an ordinary abstract of title might fail to disclose. Unless so registered the writs and other charges are void as against a purchaser for value of the land concerned.

MIDDLESEX DEEDS REGISTRY.—The Middlesex Registry was established in 1709 (7 Anne c. 20) for the purpose of preventing fraud by the suppression of deeds. Since March, 1892, the registry has been amalgamated with the Land Registry under the Land Registry (Middlesex Deeds) Act, 1892. All deeds affecting lands situated within the boundaries of the ancient County of Middlesex must be registered, but this provision ceases to apply if the lands are registered under the Land Transfer Acts.

JUDICIAL STATISTICS OF IRELAND FOR THE YEAR 1912.

PART I.—CRIMINAL STATISTICS.

REPORT

TO

HIS EXCELLENCY JOHN CAMPBELL, EARL OF ABERDEEN, K.T.,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR
OF IRELAND.

I.—INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

I have the honour of submitting the Report on Judicial Statistics,
Volume I. (Criminal), for Ireland for the year 1912.

1.—Intro-
Remarks.

For the purposes of this Report, the offences are divided into two classes, namely:— those which are indictable and those which are non-indictable. The indictable offences are classified in six divisions as follows:—

Class I.—Offences against the person.

„ II.—Offences against property with violence.

„ III.—Offences against property without violence.

„ IV.—Malicious injuries to property.

„ V.—Forgery and offences against the currency.

„ VI.—Other offences not included in the above classes.

Classifica-
offences.

The non-indictable offences are classified, as far as possible, according to their character or in reference to the Statutes under which they become amenable to the law. The figures relating to non-indictable offences are shown in the tables relating to the criminal business in the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, in which the cases summarily disposed of are classified under the following headings:—

A.—Indictable offences disposed of summarily.

B.—Other offences disposed of summarily.

Although classed as offences, many of the minor cases in Section B partake more of a civil than a criminal character.

In addition to the cases disposed of by summary jurisdiction, there is a large number of cases disposed of summarily, such being known as quasi-criminal cases. These are not included in the tables relating to criminal offences, but have a special table allotted to them. The more numerous matters in which

NOTE.—Three Schedules, showing in detail alterations in classification introduced in the year 1895, will be found on pages 33-55 of the Criminal Statistics for that year.

applications for orders were instituted in the year 1912 in quasi-criminal cases were as follows:—

1. Children { (a) Attendance orders under Education Act.
 (b) Committed to Industrial Schools.
2. Dogs, Licences for.
3. Sureties.
4. Sanitary Law.
5. Goods Stolen (Restoration of).
6. Maintenance.
7. Dangerous and Neglected Structures (Orders relating to).
8. Employers and Workmen

The state of crime in Ireland and the proceedings in Criminal Courts are shown in the comparative tables on pages xxvi-xxxiii, for each of the twenty years 1893-1912; quinquennial averages under each head are also given.

The Summary Tables A, B, and C, contain these comparisons and refer, respectively, to the number of persons for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions; cases dealt with in Courts of Summary Jurisdiction; and all offences of an indictable character reported to the police. Table D gives a summary of Tables A, B, and C under condensed headings of the averages for each quinquennium and for the year 1912. In Table E (Parts I. and II.), which follows the geographical distribution of crime and of the principal forms thereof, during the last quinquennial period, is shown by the rates of crimes to the population in each county in Ireland. Part I. of this Table gives this information regarding the counties grouped according to their several degrees of criminality, under each of the selected heads, and Part II. shows the counties arranged in alphabetical order by provinces.

II.—GENERAL REVIEW.

The number of indictable offences* in Ireland known to the police was 9,931 in the year 1912; these numbered 9,873 in 1909, were 9,870 in 1910, and 9,831 in 1911. The total for 1912 is equal to an annual rate of 2.27 per 1,000 of the population of Ireland, estimated to the middle of the year, as compared with a rate of 2.24 per 1,000 in 1911, 2.25 per 1,000 in each of the years 1909 and 1910, and a rate of 2.34 in the year 1908. With reference to the persons tried for non-indictable offences in the year under notice, the number fell from 193,635 in 1910 to 185,345 in 1911, rising to 195,246 in the year 1912, an increase of 9,901 on the year preceding.† There was an increase of 804 in the number of persons tried for drunkenness in 1912 as compared with the preceding year, but compared with the average for the 10 years, 1902 to 1911, there was a decrease of 12,657 persons tried for this offence.

Many of the non-indictable offences being in the nature of civil offences, are omitted in the calculation of the amount of crime in the country, the number of "indictable offences" only being adopted as the standard for estimation. Besides, cases obviously of a civil character—such as those in which orders are made to maintain certain civil rights, or to secure the discharge of civil duties—are now shown separately under the title of Quasi-criminal Offences (Table 17). These offences, which in the year 1910 amounted to 24,653, decreased in the year 1911 to 22,878, and increased in the year under notice to 27,264. The increase was largely due to attendance orders under section 4 of the Education Act and orders to take out licences for dogs. Prior to 1895 the majority of such cases were found among "Cases disposed of Summarily," and were included in "Minor Offences" in the reports under the old system. Proceedings against weekly tenants in towns, which are especially numerous in Dublin, formed another group of the cases "Disposed of Summarily." These appeared both in the Civil and the Criminal statistics; they are now separated from the Criminal statistics proper. As they tended to increase the number of apparent crimes committed, they must be allowed for when instituting comparisons with the statistics for years anterior to 1895.

* See Note (*), pp. xxviii-ix.

† A remarkable increase in recent years is observable in the number of prosecutions against owners and drivers of carts under the Highway Acts—the number of persons proceeded against in the years 1912, 1911, 1910, 1909, and 1908 being 27,975, 26,325, 26,021, 30,748 and 31,559, respectively, as against 4,326 in the year 1907.

The serious and the minor offences in each of the years 1911 and 1912, and their ratio to the population, are summarised in the following comparative statement. The figures for cases disposed of summarily show the number of persons proceeded against in such cases; those for cases not disposed of summarily have reference to the number of crimes committed.

In the following table the rates per 10,000 of the population estimated to the middle of the respective years for each of the 6 classes of indictable offences are shown for each of the ten years 1902–1911, also the annual average rate of each class of offence for the decade, the final column giving the corresponding rates for the year 1912. This statement shows the fluctuations which have taken place during the eleven years in the proportional number of the more serious offences in Ireland, and it also shows that, measured by the number of indictable offences committed in proportion to the population, the crime rate in 1912 was above that for the preceding year, and also above the average for the ten years 1902–1911. The rate for offences against the person was below the average, and also below the rate for 1911. The rate for malicious injury against property was 1.59, as against the average 1.42, and the rate in 1911 of 2.09. The rate for other offences against property was above the average, and above the rate for 1911, and the rate for forgery and offences against the currency increased from 0.10 per 10,000 in the year 1911 to 0.12 in the year 1912. In Class VI. the rate was 1.10 for the year 1912, the rate for 1911 being 1.24, and the average rate 1.16—see page xi., and Table 23.

III.—NATURE OF CRIMES.

With regard to each of the undermentioned six classes of crime, the figures quoted are taken from the returns of cases reported to the police.

The heads under which they are grouped are as follow:—

crimes.

- CLASS I.—OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.
- CLASS II.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITH VIOLENCE.
- CLASS III.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITHOUT VIOLENCE.
- CLASS IV.—MALICIOUS INJURIES TO PROPERTY.
- CLASS V.—FORGERY AND OFFENCES AGAINST THE CURRENCY.
- CLASS VI.—OTHER OFFENCES NOT INCLUDED IN THE ABOVE CLASSES.

The total number of such crimes (indictable offences) in 1912 was 9,931 (or 2.27 per 1,000 of the population), being 100 above the number for the preceding year, and 61 above the number for the year 1910.

CLASS I.—OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

Offences

Indictable offences against the person, as known to the police, numbered 526 in the year 1907, and in the year 1908 rose to 627. In the year 1909 the number fell to 523, and rose in the year 1910 to 574, and again to 580 in 1911, declining to 544 in the year under notice.

There were 25 charges of murder; of these 12 were for murder of persons aged above one year, and 13 were for murder of infants aged one year or under, the total number of charges being equal to the number for the preceding year, and 3 below the average for the years 1907–1911. Twelve attempted murders were reported, as compared with 15 for the preceding year, 6 for the year 1910, 10 for the year 1909, and an average of 14 for the 5 years ending with 1911. The reported cases of manslaughter numbered 55, being 20 over the number for the year 1911, and also 15 over the average for the five years 1907–1911. Altogether the cases coming under these three headings were 92 in number, being over the number in 1911 by 17.

CLASS II.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITH VIOLENCE.

Offences
against property
violence.

Offences against property with violence reported to the police, which were 867 in the year 1911, were 960 in the year under review, being an increase of 93 on 1911, and of 228 over the number in 1910, and 138 over the average for the five years 1907–1911. The principal crimes in this class are house and shop breaking, numbering 765, burglary 129, and robbery and assaults with intent to rob 43.

CLASS III.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITHOUT VIOLENCE.

Offences
against
violence.

The total offences in this class numbered 7,196 and include 6,397 cases of larceny, as against 6,117 in the year 1911. The total offences form nearly 73 per cent. of all offences known to the police. The number of these offences was 6,878 in 1911, being 186 under the number in the year 1910.

CLASS IV.—MALICIOUS INJURIES TO PROPERTY.

III.—
Crimes.*—
Malicious
property.

The offences known to the police under this heading declined from 916 in 1911 to 699 in 1912, the latter being 217 less than the number recorded for the preceding year, 40 under the average for the five years 1907–1911, 189 over the average for the five years 1902–1906, and 78 under the average for the five years 1897–1901. These offences in 1912 included 216 cases of arson, 33 of setting fire to crops, plantations, &c., and 76 of killing and maiming cattle. There were 349 cases of other malicious injuries to property, as against 513 in the year 1911, and 520 in the year 1910.

CLASS V.—FORGERY AND OFFENCES AGAINST THE CURRENCY.

There were 52 offences in Class V. known in the year 1912, as against 47 in 1911, the average for the five years 1907–1911 being 47; the cases of coining and uttering counterfeit coin numbered 31 in 1912, as compared with 32 in 1911.

Forgery and
Offences
against the Currency.

CLASS VI.—OTHER INDICTABLE OFFENCES.

There was a decline in the total of this group from 543 in 1911 to 480 in 1912. For the five years 1907–1911 the average number of such offences was 593. Among the offences there were 238 cases of intimidation by Threatening Letters, Notices, or otherwise (showing a decrease of 25, as compared with the corresponding number for the preceding year). There were 41 (an increase of 5, as compared with the preceding year) assaults by firing shots into dwelling-houses. There were 93 attempts to commit suicide, as against 86 in the year 1911. There were also 42 cases of habitual drunkards reported to the police, the number in 1911 being 37.

Other
offences.

OFFENCES DISPOSED OF SUMMARILY.

The proceedings in the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction for each County and County of City for the year 1912 are given in Table 15, in which the offences are classified into two divisions (A) and (B) respectively. Under head (A) some of the indictable offences, which have been discussed in the above remarks dealing with the police returns of crimes reported, will be found, namely, those in which the charges were disposed of in Courts of Summary Jurisdiction. This number in 1912 was 4,746, or 48 per cent. of the total number of indictable offences, and of these 4,746 offences, 4,331 were cases of larceny, as against 4,076 in 1911.

Offences
Table 15.

Section B includes all the non-indictable offences. Persons tried for such offences in 1912 numbered 195,246,* or 44.5 per 1,000 of the estimated population. The rate represented by offences of this class in 1910 was 44.2 per 1,000, and in 1911 it was 42.3 per 1,000. The cases in this Section include a large number of cases partaking of a civil rather than of a criminal character, such as Education Acts, offences in relation to Highway Acts, some of the offences against the Police Regulations, Dogs, Stage and Hackney Carriage Regulations, Sanitary Laws, Labour Laws, &c.

The number of cases of drunkenness (including drunkenness and disorderly conduct) has increased for the whole of Ireland; such cases, including also cases of assaults, constituted 37.4 per cent. of the total offences committed in the year 1912, as compared with 39.3 per cent. for such offences in the year 1911. The number of assaults (comprising aggravated assaults, assaults on constables, and common assaults) in 1912 was 13,151, or 6.4 per cent. of all offences committed; in the year preceding the number was 13,927 or 7.1 per cent of all offences committed.

Drunkenness and assaults.
Tables 15
and 16.

* See Note (†) on page viii.

III.—
Crimes.

The number of cases of drunkenness amounted to 63,623, being 31.0 per cent. of all offences committed, and 31.8 per cent. of all cases disposed of summarily. Cases of assault decreased from 13,927 in 1911 to 13,151 in 1912; the charges of drunkenness show an increase of 804—from 62,819 in 1911 to 63,623 in 1912.

The cases of assault disposed of summarily, and the cases of drunkenness (including drunkenness and disorderly conduct) in 1912, compared with each of the ten years preceding, also the annual average for these 10 years, are shown in the following tabular statement:—

	1902.	1903.	1904.	1905.	1906.	1907.	1908.	1909.	1910.	1911.	Average Annual Number 1902- 1911.	1912.

It appears from the above statement that, both for assaults and drunkenness (including drunkenness and disorderly conduct), the numbers declined from the year 1902 to the year under notice—drunkenness from 91,276 cases in 1902 to 63,623 in 1912, and assaults from 18,548 in 1902 to 13,151 in 1912.

Amongst other offences which were disposed of summarily there were 27,975 by owners and drivers of carts, 15,708 cases of nuisances and obstructions, 3,221 cases of cruelty to animals, 1,081 cases of cruelty to children, 694 offences against the Game Laws, 1,587 cases of malicious damage, and 59 offences against the Vaccination Acts. Compared with the figures for the preceding year, offences by owners and drivers of carts show an increase of 1,650, and cases of nuisances and obstructions an increase of 1,083; there was an increase of 361 in cases of cruelty to animals, and an increase of 76 in cases of cruelty to children; the offences against the Game Laws increased by 82 in 1912 as compared with 1911, and in cases of malicious damage there was a decrease of 43.

Quasi-CRIMINAL OFFENCES.

Quasi-
criminal
Table 17.

The business in the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction respecting quasi-criminal matters is given in Table 17. From this table it appears that the total of applications for orders in such cases in 1912 amounted to 27,264. Of the total there were 9,368 cases relating to children, including 8,092 applications for school attendance orders, 1,236 for Industrial School orders, and 17 for Probation Orders under the Children Act, 1908 [sec. 58 (4) and 60]. Among other quasi-criminal offences are 4,369 applications for orders to find sureties to keep the peace or for good behaviour, and there were 3,009 applications under Sanitary Law, a decrease of 129 as compared with 1911. The number of applications as to orders relating to dogs was 8,306 as compared with 5,638 in 1911.

IV.—
Geographical Distribution of Crime in 1911 and 1912.

Offences in each county Tables 15 and 23.

Taking the indictable offences committed as the standard for the estimation of the prevalence of crime, it appears for the county and city districts of Ireland for such offences that there was an increase in 22 districts, and a decrease in 18.

The increase in indictable offences ranged from 1 in Kilkenny County to 250 in Belfast City. Between these extremes the increases were, 2 in Queen's County, 4 in Londonderry City, 5 in Galway, 6 in Limerick County and Tipperary, S.R., 7 in Donegal, 8 in King's County and Fermanagh, 13 in Dublin County and Meath, 14 in Cork City and Waterford City, 18 in Westmeath, 19 in Tyrone, 24 in Cavan, 27 in Waterford County, 36 in Wexford, 43 in Carlow, 46 in Mayo and 92 in Limeick City.

The counties or cities in which a decrease of indictable crime is shown are:—

In the Dublin Metropolitan Police District 307, in Antrim 54, in Tipperary, N.R., 42, in Armagh 33, in Londonderry 16, in Wicklow 15, in Cork, W.R., 14, in Longford and Down 11, in Monaghan 10, in Louth and Kerry 8, in Kildare 7, in Roscommon and Sligo 5, in Clare and Leitrim 4, and in Cork, E.R., 2.

In 25 districts an increase and in 15 a decrease for non-indictable offences has taken place.

The numbers of all forms of offences, taken collectively, show an increase in 27 and a decrease in 13 districts.

The various districts are arranged from the lowest to the highest rate per 100,000 inhabitants (according to the Census of 1911), for each group, and for the total of all kinds of crime in the year 1912, in the following lists:—

According to the table which follows, it appears that (1) the aggregate rate for offences of all kinds, (2) the rate for all indictable offences, and (3) for all non-indictable offences in the large town districts of Ireland (viz., those which in 1911 had a population of 20,000 inhabitants or upwards) exceed the corresponding rates for all other places. For cases of drunkenness, however (which are included also in the non-indictable offences), the rate for the large town districts (12.5 per 1,000) is below that for the other parts of Ireland, the rate for the other parts being 15.1 per 1,000 of the Census population, 1911. Both these rates compare favourably with the corresponding rates for the year 1902, when the rate for drunkenness in the large town districts was 21.3 per 1,000, and the rate for all other parts of Ireland 20.3 per 1,000.

The rates for indictable offences in the large town districts decreased in Dublin from 8.2 per 1,000 in 1911 to 7.5 in 1912. In Cork the rate increased from 2.2 to 2.4 per 1,000; in Limerick from 2.4 to 4.7 per 1,000; in Waterford from 2.4 to 2.8 per 1,000; in Belfast from 4.7 to 5.4 per 1,000, and in Londonderry from 2.0 to 2.1 per 1,000.

Of the total offences of all kinds reported in Ireland in 1912, numbering 205,177, there were 68,486, or 33.4 per cent., committed in the towns referred to in the foregoing statement, although the total population of these towns constituted only 22.5 per cent. of the population of Ireland in the year 1911. The total offences in the towns represented a ratio of 6,942 per 100,000 of the population, against 4,016 in the remainder of Ireland. The cases of drunkenness for the whole of Ireland having increased by 804 in comparison with 1911, (as compared with a decrease of 1,503 in 1911 on the year 1910), form nearly a third of the total number of offences committed.

IV.—
Geographical Distribution of Crime.

Distribution of crimes in counties. Comparative Table E, Parts I. and II.

The average rates per 100,000 for the principal crimes (indictable offences) or groups of crimes are shown by counties for the 5 years, 1908–1912, in Table E, Part II. In Table E, Part I., the counties are arranged in order for each class of crime from that in which there was the least to that in which there was the greatest prevalence of crime, and in columns 2–6 inclusive the counties are grouped under certain degrees of criminality. From the first column in this Part, which shows for the five years 1908–1912 the average annual number of indictable offences per 100,000 of the population, it will be observed that the rates range from 64.00 per 100,000 in Mayo to 714.21 in Dublin.* In 5 counties and ridings the rate was under 100; in 25 it ranged between 100 and 200; and in 4—Kildare (228.74), Clare (243.50), Antrim † (367.14), and, as above stated, Dublin (714.21)—it exceeded 200. The rates for “Crimes against Property,” “Crimes of Violence,” “Crimes against Morals,” and “Suicides” are given in columns 2, 3, 4, and 6 respectively.

A comparison of the average rates represented by cases of drunkenness for the quinquennial period 1908–1912 shows that in the counties of Mayo, Dublin (county and city), and Meath the lowest rates were recorded, and that the highest rates were for Limerick (county and city), Clare, and Tipperary, N.R.

V.—PROCEDURE FOR THE PUNISHMENT OF CRIME.

V.—Procedure for the Punishment of Crime.

For the most part the initiation of proceedings in connection with the prosecution of serious offences committed in Ireland rests with the police, who act as public prosecutors. The duties of the offices of the Crown Solicitor and the Sessional Crown Solicitor are now amalgamated and performed by a Crown Solicitor in the following Counties:—Carlow, Cavan, Down, Dublin, Galway, Kerry, Kildare, Kilkenny, Leitrim, Limerick (County and City), Longford, Louth, Mayo, Meath, Monaghan, Queen’s County, Roscommon, Sligo, Tipperary, Waterford, Westmeath, Wexford, and Wicklow. During the year 1905 the office of Sessional Crown Solicitor for Antrim and Belfast was added to the duties performed by the Crown Solicitor, and in Cork (County and City) a change was also made, the Crown Solicitorship being divided into two appointments, one for the East Riding and one for the West Riding. There was no appointment made in 1912 amalgamating the offices of Crown and Sessional Crown Solicitor. No change of offices has as yet taken place in the remaining Counties, Crown business at Assizes or Quarter Sessions being discharged by Crown or Sessional Crown Solicitors, respectively.

Districts Proclaimed. Tables 10, 11.

There was not any district in Ireland under proclamation under the provisions of the Criminal Law and Procedure (Ireland) Act, 1887, on the 31st December, 1912. In Table 11 it may be seen that on the 27th August, 1907, the following Counties were proclaimed under 6 Wm. IV., cap. 13, sec. 13:—Clare, Galway, and Roscommon, and remained proclaimed on the 31st December, 1912.

Information regarding the criminal proceedings at Assizes and Quarter Sessions is furnished in Tables 1–7.

Assizes and Quarter Sessions. Tables 1 to 7, and Comparative Table A.

The following tabular statement gives information concerning persons tried by jury at Assizes, at the Dublin Commission Court, and at Quarter Sessions, and the manner in which the cases were disposed of, for the year 1912, and for each of the preceding ten years:—

V.—Procedure for the Punishment of Crime.

In Table 8 a return is made by the Crown Solicitors and County and City Financial Officers of the costs of Criminal Proceedings for the year ended 31st March, 1912; it appears that the total amount for Assizes was £28,329, and for Quarter Sessions, £5,660, as compared with £30,882 and £5,828, respectively, for the year ended 31st March, 1911.

COURT FOR CROWN CASES RESERVED.

The Clerk of the Crown, King's Bench Division, furnished a return stating that there was no case before the Court for Crown Cases Reserved during the year 1912; neither was there any case before this Court in the year 1911.

Detailed information with reference to the criminal proceedings in Courts of Summary Jurisdiction in 1912 is given in Tables 14 to 18. A summary is given in the following statement of the cases in these courts in 1912, and in each of the ten years preceding:—

A review is given in Comparative Table B for twenty years (1893-1912) of the number of persons tried summarily*; also a list of the special offences for each year during the period, with the quinquennial averages, is contained therein. Notes are supplied with Tables 14 and 15 explanatory of these Tables, and consequently of Comparative Table B. In connection with the subject of Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, attention may be again called to the Table (17) of Quasi-Criminal cases dealt with already at page xii.

APPEALS TO QUARTER SESSIONS.

The nature of convictions by Magistrates appealed against, and the result of appeals, are given for the year 1912 in Section (A), Table 18. The appeals numbered 402, as against 388 in the year 1911. Of the total in 1912, 158 were affirmed, 114 were reversed, 70 were varied, and 60 were otherwise disposed of.

PERSONS UNDER POLICE SUPERVISION.

HABITUAL CRIMINALS AT LARGE.

A return by counties of the number of habitual criminals at large in Ireland in 1912 gives the number as 645 as compared with 724 in the preceding year. The total includes 482 thieves, 71 receivers, and 92 persons otherwise habitually engaged in crime.

PERSONS IN CONFINEMENT.

ADMISSIONS TO PLACES OF DETENTION.	Men and Boys.	Women and Girls.	Total.
Total in all Ireland,	22,199	10,863	33,062
Into Prisons, Bridewells, and Reformatories:—

Into Lunatic Asylums (criminal and dangerous lunatics),	1,394	949	2,343
Into Industrial Schools,	651	608	1,259

This statement shows that there were 33,062 persons admitted to places of confinement during the year 1912, and that of these 10,863, or about one-third were females, and 22,199 were males. Among these 33,062, there were 2,343 lunatics admitted into asylums, and 1,259 children admitted into industrial schools; so that 3,602, or nearly 11 per cent. of the total admissions to places of detention, were of persons who cannot be considered as criminals. In addition to these exceptions there were 63 inebriates sent to reformatories and 63 youthful offenders sentenced to detention in a Borstal institution. See Tables 43 and 44.

During the year 1912 the receptions of prisoners numbered 29,268 being 2,454 over the number for 1911, but 106 below that for 1910: Compared with 1911, the admissions of criminal and dangerous lunatics to Lunatic Asylums show a decrease of 201. The number of children admitted to Industrial Schools in 1911 was 1,261, the number in 1912 being 1,259; and the admissions to Reformatories, which were 170 in 1911, rose to 192 in the year under notice.

PRISONS.

The number of convicted prisoners (other than those committed for naval and military offences) committed to the local prisons, bridewells, and convict prisons during the year 1912 (see Table 37) is shown by age-periods and sexes in the following tabular statement:—

the 8,605 convicted females committed to prison in the year 1912. The number of convicted females committed to prison in the year 1912 shows an increase of 1,225, as compared with that for the year 1911; the number of boys under 16 years was 5, of whom all were over 12 years of age. The total number of convicted males committed to prison was 16,843, or nearly double the number of convicted females. An increase of 1,246 is shown in the number of convicted males during 1912, as compared with the number in 1911. Of the males, 12·8 per cent., and of the females, 12·4 per cent., were over 50 years of age. In Table 32 the number of prisoners received into each prison will be found, and in Tables 33*a* and 33*b* particulars as to the disposal of prisoners are given. Particulars as to the nature of sentences are given in Table 34, and details regarding the length of these sentences in Table 35.

VI.—
Criminals and others in confinement and known Criminals at large.

Of those admitted to prison many were persons previously convicted, or who were habitual criminals. Of 25,448 convicted prisoners admitted to the local prisons, bridewells, and convict prisons during the year 1912, there were 20,801, or about 82 per cent., who had been previously convicted. Of these, 2,255 had been once previously convicted, 1,668 twice, 1,342 thrice, 1,311 four times, 1,131 five times, 3,693 six to ten times, 3,556 from eleven to twenty times, and 5,845 above twenty times. The figures for the last two periods show that there were 9,401 committals of persons, or 36·9 per cent. of the total number of convicted prisoners admitted to prison during the year, who had previously been convicted upwards of ten times, as compared with 8,353, or 36·4 per cent., in the year 1911.

Information regarding the birthplaces of those committed to prison is furnished in Table 38.

Birthplaces of prisoners. Table 38.

The state of education of the prisoners convicted in 1912 and the state of education of persons of 12 years and upwards of the general population, as ascertained from the Irish Census returns for 1911, are compared in the following table.

The above statement shows that, while 21·5 per cent. of the convicted prisoners committed to prison in 1912 were absolutely illiterate, only 9·7 per cent. of the general population in 1911, aged 12 years and upwards, were in a similar condition as regards education. It must, however, be borne in mind that the Census figures here quoted are for the population of all ranks, and are not limited to the classes which furnish the great bulk of the prisoners.

Although previous occupations of convicted prisoners are given in Table 40, it is impossible to institute comparisons between the occupations of prisoners and those of the general population in a manner similar to that adopted above regarding education, as the classification of occupations is different in several respects from that employed by the Census Commissioners in their Report. It may, however, be gathered that, of the 25,448 prisoners convicted, 292 belonged to the domestic servant class; 13,751 to labourers, charwomen, and needlewomen; 290 to the class of factory workers; 2,525 to the class of mechanics and skilled workers; 76 were foremen or overlookers of labour; 149 belonged to the class of shopmen, shopwomen, and clerks; 2,767 to the class of shopkeepers and dealers; 6 to professional employment; 223 to the class of sailors, marines, and soldiers; and 3,157 (or 37 per cent. of the 8,605 female prisoners) are classified as prostitutes. It should be borne in mind that some of the prisoners were committed to prison more than once during the year, and that the above figures denote the number of committals of convicted prisoners, and not the number of individuals committed.

The receptions and discharges from Inebriate Reformatories are given in Table 43. It appears from Section A of the Table that there was a total of 63, of males 25 and of females 38, admitted during the year; of the total, 25 were on indictment and 38 were summarily committed. In Section B, which gives the discharges, it may be seen that these numbered 74—namely, 59 discharged on expiry of sentence, 12 released on licence, and three were removed to Lunatic Asylums.

Table 44, in 3 divisions, furnished by the Prisons Board, gives the number of persons received in 1912 into the Clonmel Borstal Institution—namely, 66. The second division gives the offences and the periods of detention ordered, and the third the number of inmates licensed, discharged, or otherwise disposed of during the year.

In Table 45 which has been prepared by the Prisons Board, the particulars regarding Male Prisoners serving sentences of preventive detention in 1912 are set forth. From this it appears that 3 prisoners began to serve sentences of preventive detention during the year; the second division of the table shows the offences and periods of preventive detention; the third gives the previous convictions; and in the fourth the ages of the prisoners are given.

REFORMATORY SCHOOLS.

Tables
46-48.

The statistics of the Reformatory and Industrial Schools of Ireland are given in Tables 46-51.

During the year 1912 the number of children admitted upon conviction to Reformatory Schools was 191, showing an increase of 22 as compared with the committals for the preceding year. The number of boys committed in 1912 was 172, or 20 more than in the year 1911, and the number of girls 19, or 2 more than the number for 1911.

The Tables which follow supply figures concerning juvenile criminals, male and female, under Reformatory control in the year 1912 which have been extracted from Tables 46-48.

The ages of the children admitted upon conviction to Reformatory Schools during the year 1912 are given in the following table:—

Ages of children when admitted.	Boys and Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Percentage of total.
				Boys.	Girls.
Total,	191	172	19	100.	100.0
Under 10 years, *	—	—	—	—	—
10 and under 12 years, *	—	—	—	—	—
12 and under 14 years,	86	79	7	45.9	36.8
14 and under 16 years,	105	93	12	54.1	63.2

It appears from the above summary that of the 172 boys admitted to Reformatory Schools during the year 1912, there were 93 boys (or 54.1 per cent.) between 14 and 16 years of age, and of the 19 girls, 12 were stated to be 14 and under 16 years of age on admission.

* Under the Children Act which came into force on April 1, 1909, youthful offenders under 12 years of age cannot be legally committed to Reformatory Schools.

The state of instruction (on admission) of children committed to Reformatory Schools is shown in the following statement:—

—	Boys.	Girls.	Proportion per cent.		Degree of education Table 47.
			Boys.	Girls.
Total committed,	172	19	100	100

Moderate proficiency in reading and writing,	10	—	5.8	—
Read and write well	3	—	1.8	—
Superior instruction,	—	—	—	—

From the above, it appears that not one of the 19 girls and only 10 of the 172 boys admitted to Reformatory Schools could read and write with moderate proficiency.

From Table 47 it appears that of the total of the youthful offenders committed, a had been previously convicted with the exception of 60—41 boys and the 19 girls.

The numbers of children discharged or otherwise disposed of in Reformatory Schools are given in Table 48. From this it appears that of the total discharged (110) 98 were discharged on expiry of sentence, and 6 were discharged by the Chief Secretary absolutely. There were 54 licences issued; 2 licences were revoked before expiry of sentence, and one after expiry of sentence.

The number of young persons finally discharged from Reformatories in Ireland during 1912 is shown in the following table:—

The foregoing table shows that of a total of 110 discharges in the year 1912, there were 99 of boys and 11 of girls.

Particulars regarding the number of licences granted or revoked are shown in the following table:—

From this table it appears that during the year 1912 there were 54 licences granted—to 54 boys, and none to girls.

The following statement gives the state of education (on admission) of the boys and girls admitted to Industrial Schools in Ireland during the year 1912:—

	Year 1912.		Proportion per cent.
	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.

Table 50.

The foregoing summary, abstracted from Table 50, shows that the number of children admitted to Industrial Schools in Ireland during the year 1912 was 1,259. Of the total, 651 were males and 608 were females. With reference to the observations regarding the education of children who were sent to Reformatories, it may be noted that only 1·7 per cent. of the boys and 2·3 per cent. of the girls sent to Industrial Schools could read and write well.

Table 50.

The ages of the children placed in Industrial Schools in the year 1912 are shown in the following tabular statement:—

AGES OF CHILDREN.	Boys and Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Percentage of Total.
				Boys.	Girls.
Total,	1,259	651	608	100·	100·
Under 6 years,	273	87	186	13·4	30·6
6 and under 8 years,	239	122	117	18·7	19·3
8 and under 10 years,	281	153	123	24·3	20·2
10 and under 12 years,	264	154	110	23·6	18·1
12 and under 14 years,	202	130	72	20·0	11·8

It appears from Table 50 that the total number of children (1,259) admitted to Industrial Schools in the year 1912, shows a decrease of 2 on the number admitted in the year 1911. The number of girls admitted decreased from 653 in 1911 to 608 in 1912 and the number of boys increased from 608 in 1911 to 651 in the year under notice.

It may be seen that 56·4 per cent. of boys admitted during last year, and 70·1 per cent. of the girls were brought under training in these schools before they had reached the age of ten years.

Discharges
and Licences.
Table 51.

The numbers of discharges and licences are returned in Table 51. The particulars regarding licences granted or revoked in the year 1912 are summarised in the following statement:—

Licences granted or revoked in the year 1912.	Boys and Girls.	Boys.	Girls.
Number released on licence for first time,	363	246	117
Number released on licence after revocation of previous licence,	12	9	3
Number of licence revoked,	25	14	11
Number of children under 8 received during the year who were boarded out,	1	1	—

From the above it appears that 363 children (246 boys and 117 girls) were released on licence for the first time; that 12 children (9 boys and 3 girls) were released on licence after revocation of previous licence, and that in 25 cases (14 boys and 11 girls) the licences previously granted were revoked.

The classification of admissions to Industrial Schools is given in Table 49.

CRIMINAL AND DANGEROUS LUNATICS.

The following summary gives information extracted from Tables 52-56 regarding the judgments or orders of committal under which criminal and dangerous lunatics were committed to asylums in Ireland in 1912:—

VI.—

Admitted under Army Act, 1881, sec. 91,	6	0.3
Admitted under Naval Enlistment Act, 1884, sec. 3,	—	—

From the above it appears that the total number of criminal and dangerous lunatics who were committed to asylums during the year 1912 was 2,343; of these, 2,265, or 96.7 per cent., were committed to asylums by Justices as being dangerous. Only 3.0 per cent. were transmitted from prisons by the Lord Lieutenant's warrant; 6, or 0.3 per cent., were committed under the Army Act, 1881, sec. 91; and not one under the Naval Enlistment Act, 1884, sec. 3.

Tables 52, 53, and 54 give statistics as to criminal lunatics, and statistics relating to dangerous lunatics will be found in Tables 55 and 56.

Exclusive of officers of the Royal Irish Constabulary and of the Dublin Metropolitan Police, the proportion of Police (effective strength) in Ireland was 26 to every 10,000 of the estimated population in 1912.

In the Royal Irish Constabulary, members of the different branches in the Force are selected for special duty when necessary; but in the Dublin Metropolitan Police, an entire division, consisting of one Superintendent, 4 Inspectors, and 39 men (16 Sergeants, 10 Constables, and 13 detective officers), are employed as detectives.

The total cost (including Appropriations in aid) of the Police Establishments in Ireland for the year ended 31st March, 1912, as compared with that for the preceding year, is shown in the following table:—

Notes to Tables 1, 3, and 5.

(a.) The titles of offences (Column 1) are much condensed. The fuller titles, and the offences comprised under each head, are given on page 36 of the Criminal Statistics for 1895 except in some few cases where subsequent enactments have made further changes necessary.

(b.) The Tables show the number of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where, therefore, any person is prosecuted at the same Assizes or Sessions for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation; and the rule followed is to select that for which the proceedings were carried to the furthest stage—to trial if there were several indictments, to conviction and sentence if prisoner was tried on several charges. If there are several convictions, the offence selected is that for which the heaviest punishment was awarded. If the final result of proceedings on two or more charges is the same, the more serious offence (as measured by the maximum penalty allowed by law) appears in the Tables.

(c.) Where, in addition to the offence thus selected for detailed tabulation, the same person is prosecuted for other offences of a distinct character, and charged in separate indictments, the number of these additional charges is given in columns 24 to 26 of the Tables, column 24 giving the total number of such charges, column 25 the number resulting in convictions, and column 26 the number for which separate sentences (not concurrent with those in columns 11 to 19) are passed. Only distinct offences charged in separate indictments are included in these columns; additional indictments merely varying the form of the charge, and additional charges appearing as counts in the same indictment, are excluded.

(d.) Where a person is prosecuted for one offence and convicted for another (e.g. committed for murder and convicted of manslaughter), the case appears only under the offence of which he was convicted.

(e.) Columns 2, 3, and 4 ("Numbers for Trial") include only such cases as actually come before the Assizes or Quarters Sessions. Persons who die, escape from prison, abscond while on bail, or are removed to an asylum before trial, are not included.

(f.) Column 13 ("Imprisonment") does not include sentences of imprisonment in default of payment of fine, or in default of finding sureties.

(g.) Columns 19 and 23 ("Recognizances") include cases where recognizances are required, whether with or without sureties and, if sureties are required, whether they are found or not.

(h.) Columns 20 to 23 are for those cases where more than one punishment is imposed for the same offence.

(a) Exclusive of 1 Sergeant and 25 Constables employed in Government Departments and on private service with public bodies.

Notes to Tables 14, 15 16.

(a.) These Tables include only offences tried summarily. All indictable offences where the Court does not actually assume the power to determine the case summarily are excluded. Further, these Tables include only cases where the proceedings are criminal—that is, lead if successful to a conviction. There are a large number of cases which are quasi-criminal in character, but where the procedure is by complaint, leading, not to a conviction, but to the making of an order. These are provided for in a separate Table—No. 17.

(b.) The Tables show the number of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where, therefore, any person is prosecuted at the same time for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation, and the rules followed are the same as in Tables 1, 3 and 5 (see notes to those Tables).

(c.) The offences included under each of the titles of offences in Column 1 are stated on page 46 of the Criminal Statistics for the year 1895, except in some few cases where subsequent Enactments have made further changes necessary.

Notes to Table 14.

(d.) Table 14 corresponds to Tables 1, 3, and 5, and (as regards length of sentences) to Tables 2 and 4.

(e.) Column 7, "Committed to Industrial Schools," includes only those committals to Industrial Schools where an offence is charged. Other committals to Industrial Schools where the proceedings are not criminal appear in Table 17, and also in Tables 49 to 51.

(f.) Columns 10 to 16, "Imprisonment," do not include terms of imprisonment in default of paying fine or of finding sureties.

(g.) Column 18, "Reformatory School," contains all cases of persons sentenced to Reformatory School detention, whether they are actually admitted to a reformatory or not. Details as to cases actually received in reformatories are given in Table 46.

(h.) Columns 20 and 24, "Fine," include all cases where a fine is imposed, whether the fine is paid or not. The number of persons committed to prison in default of paying fines is given in Tables 34 and 35.

(i.) Columns 21 and 25, "Recognizances," include all cases where the defendant is ordered to find sureties, whether the sureties are found or not. It must be remembered, however, that the Table applies only to convictions, and that it does not include cases where a person is required to find sureties upon complaint. These cases are included in Table 17.

Note to Table 15.

(k.) This Table corresponds to Table 6.

Note to 16.

(l.) Section (A) of this Table gives the ages of all persons convicted summarily of indictable offences; section (B), however, contains only persons apprehended and convicted; persons convicted on summons have to be excluded on account of the difficulty of ascertaining their ages.

POLICE RETURNS.

Notes to Table 19.

- (a.) Column 1, "Offences."—The titles of the offences are the same as in Tables 1 to 5.
- (b.) Column 2, "Number of Crimes known to the Police."—This column includes all crimes reported to the police within the year whether committed by the same or different persons, and whether any apprehension takes place within the year or not.
- (c.) If there is a committal or conviction within the year, the Table shows the nature of the crime as judicially determined. Failing this, the charge which is named in the summons or warrant on which the prisoner is arrested is taken as determining the crime. If there are no proceedings and no apprehension, the character of the crime is judged by the facts so far as known to the police.
- (d.) In columns 3 to 18 the number of persons proceeded against is given, not the number of crimes or charges. A person charged at the same time with several offences appears as one person only. In selecting the offence for tabulation the same principle is followed as in Tables 1 to 5—the charge resulting in conviction or committal for trial has preference to the others; and subject to this the more serious offence is selected. If there are two or more convictions at the same time, that for which the heavier sentence is inflicted is regarded as the more serious. These columns include only cases disposed of within the year. Cases pending at the end of the year are reserved for inclusion in the following year's tables.
- (e.) Columns 4 and 12, "Discharged," contain cases where the Magistrate does not assume power to try the case summarily, but discharges the accused under Section 15 of the Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act, 1851, or Section 25 of the Indictable Offences (Ireland) Act, 1849.
- (f.) Columns 5 and 13, "Tried Summarily and Acquitted," contain cases where, after the Magistrate has decided to deal summarily with the case, the charge is dismissed or withdrawn.
- (g.) Columns 6 and 14, "Charge proved and order made without conviction," contain cases dealt with under Sections 1 and 2 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, and cases of children charged with indictable offences committed to industrial schools or to the custody of relatives, &c.
- (h.) Columns 8 and 16, "Committed for Trial and Detained," include all persons committed to prison or place of detention to await trial, whether they are subsequently released on bail or not.

Notes to Table 20.

- (i.) The titles of the offences are the same as in Table 14 (b), and, as in that Table, only criminal proceedings are included.
- (i.) Notes (c) and (d) above apply to this Table.

RETURNS FROM THE SEVERAL COUNTIES.

TABLE 25.—Numbers of Habitual Criminals at Large, and TABLE 26.—Numbers of Houses of Bad Character.

The enumeration for the purposes of these Tables was made on the first Tuesday in April, 1912. Columns 2 to 5, "Number of Habitual Criminals at Large," include persons who are known to engage habitually in crime as their means, or part of their means of livelihood. Persons previously convicted, but not habitual criminals, are not included. Crime is understood in the sense given to it by the definition in Section 20 of the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871, viz.: any felony, and the following misdemeanours:—Uttering or possessing counterfeit coin, false pretences, conspiracy to defraud, and possession of house-breaking implements, or any offence under Section 58 of the Larceny Act, 1861.

Column 7, "Houses of Receivers of Stolen Goods," includes houses reasonably suspected of being used for the receipt of stolen goods, whether there is an actual conviction against the occupier or not.

Columns 8, 9, and 10 include all houses where thieves and other habitual criminals regularly resort and meet, whether or not the occupiers of the houses are suspected of wilfully harbouring them or of complicity in their crimes.

Notes to Table 32.

(a.) This Table gives the numbers of each class of prisoners received in each prison during the year. In the case of prisoners committed for trial, it is necessary to distinguish between those who were and those who were not previously in prison on remand; otherwise in making up the total the same person would, in many cases, count twice—as a remand prisoner and as a prisoner committed for trial. Similarly, convicted prisoners have to be divided into those who were and those who were not in detention before trial. The figures of the cases which thus appear a second or a third time are printed in italics, columns 3, 5, and 7. The total of criminal prisoners, column 10, is obtained by adding the figures in the other columns, 2, 4, 6, 8, and 9.

The Table gives only the first receptions of prisoners on remand, committed for trial, &c. When prisoners are transferred from one prison to another, they appear only in the return from the prison in which they are first received, not in that from the prison to which they are removed. Since convicts, as a rule, undergo some detention in local prisons before transfer to a convict prison, they appear as receptions only in the local prison returns.

(b.) Column 12, "Debtors," comprises all persons who are treated as debtors in prison, including bankrupts imprisoned to prevent absconding, &c.

Note to Table 33.

SECTION (a).

(c.) This Table gives, in columns 2 to 9, the number of prisoners on remand who are disposed of within the year. It, therefore, includes those in prison on remand on 1st January, but not those on remand and still undisposed of on 31st December. Those who after remand are discharged appear in column 3, those convicted summarily in column 4, those committed for trial in column 5.

(d.) Similar remarks apply to columns 10 to 15. Prisoners waiting trial on 1st January are included; those waiting trial and not disposed of on 31st December are excluded.

SECTION (b).

(e.) This Table shows only the final disposal of each convicted prisoner released or removed during the year. Each case appears only under the prison from which the prisoner is finally discharged or removed. If a prisoner has been removed from one prison to another, his case is included in the figures for the last prison only.

Notes to Table 34.

(f.) This Table includes all cases received under sentence during the year from 1st January to 31st December, whether in prison before conviction or not.

(g.) All prisoners appear in the return from the prison in which they are first received after sentence, and not in the return for any prison to which they may be subsequently removed.

(h.) Column 5 contains only cases where a licence is forfeited on conviction by a Court of Summary Jurisdiction for an offence under section 5 of the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871, as amended by Section 4 of the Penal Servitude Act, 1891. Other cases of forfeiture and all cases of revocation of licence are included in column 21.

Note to Table 35.

(i.) In this Table two sentences passed at the same time and ordered to run consecutively are treated as one sentence equal in length to the two added together. If the sentences differ in character, e.g. a sentence of imprisonment with hard labour, and a sentence of imprisonment without hard labour, the entry is made in the column for the severer form of punishment, i.e., in this case, imprisonment with hard labour. In the case of concurrent sentences, the longer only is given.

Note to Table 37.

(j.) Where the actual date of birth is known, the age is given for the birthday immediately preceding the date of reception in prison. In other cases the age is given as nearly as possible.

NOTE to TABLE 48

Column 3 does not include children whose sentences expire while they are at large after escape, nor those who, having been recalled to school—under Section 68 of the Children Act, 1908—after the expiration of their sentences, are again discharged.

NOTE to TABLE 49.

The following are the different classes of committals distinguished in columns 4 to 17:—

Column 4.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, found begging or receiving alms (whether or not there is any pretence of singing, playing, performing, offering anything for sale, or otherwise), or being in any street, premises or place for the purpose of so begging or receiving alms (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 5.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, found wandering and not having any home or settled place of abode, or visible means of subsistence, or found wandering and having no parent or guardian, or a parent or guardian who does not exercise proper guardianship (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 6.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, found destitute, either being orphans, or having both parents, or the surviving parent, or in the case of an illegitimate child the mother, undergoing penal servitude or imprisonment (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, secs. 133 (17) and 58 (1)).

Column 7.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, who are under the care of parents or guardians who, by reason of criminal or drunken habits, are unfit to have them under their care (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 8.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, who are the daughters, whether legitimate or illegitimate, of a father who has been convicted of an offence under section four or section five of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885, in respect of any of his daughters, whether legitimate or illegitimate (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 9.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, frequenting the company of any reputed thief, or of any common or reputed prostitute (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 10.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, lodging or residing in a house or the part of a house used by any prostitute for the purpose of prostitution, or otherwise living in circumstances calculated to cause, encourage, or favour their seduction or prostitution (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 11.—Children, apparently under the age of 12 years, charged before a court of assize or quarter sessions or a petty sessional court with an offence punishable in the case of an adult by penal servitude or a less punishment (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (2)).

Column 12.—Children, apparently of the age of 12 or 13 years, not previously convicted, charged before a petty sessional court with an offence punishable in the case of an adult by penal servitude or a less punishment, and who have satisfied the court that, having regard to the special circumstances of the case, they should not be sent to a certified reformatory school, and that their character and antecedents are such that they will not exercise an evil influence over the other children in the industrial school (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (3)).

Column 13.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, whose parents or guardians have proved to a petty sessional court that they are unable to control them, and desire them to be sent to an industrial school, understanding the results which will follow (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (4)).

Column 14.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, inmates of a workhouse or district poor law school, in respect of whom the guardians of the poor law union represent that they are refractory, or that they are children of parents either of whom has been convicted of an offence punishable with penal servitude or imprisonment, and that it is desirable that the children should be sent to a certified industrial school (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (5)).

Column 15.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, sent to an Industrial school on complaint of a School Attendance Committee for the purpose of enforcing an attendance order made under the 4th Section of the Irish Education Act, 1892 (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 133 (20)).

Column 16.—Children ordered to be sent to Day Industrial Schools who wilfully neglect to attend thereat, or wilfully neglect or refuse to conform to the rules of the School (Order in Council of 15th April, 1910, Arts. 8 and 9).

JUDICIAL STATISTICS OF IRELAND FOR THE YEAR 1913.

PART I.—CRIMINAL STATISTICS.

REPORT

HIS EXCELLENCY JOHN CAMPBELL, EARL OF ABERDEEN, K.T.,
&c., &c., &c.,

OF IRELAND.

I.—INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

*I.—Intro-
Remarks.*

I have the honour of submitting for your Excellency's consideration the Report on Judicial Statistics, Volume I. (Criminal), for Ireland for the year 1913.

For the purposes of this Report, the offences are divided into two classes, namely:—indictable and non-indictable. The indictable offences are classified in six divisions as follows:—

Class I.—Offences against the person.

„ II.—Offences against property with violence.

„ III.—Offences against property without violence.

„ IV.—Malicious injuries to property.

„ V.—Forgery and offences against the currency.

„ VI.—Other offences not included in the above classes.

*Classifica-
offences.*

The non-indictable offences are classified, as far as possible, according to their character or in reference to the Statutes under which they become amenable to the law. The figures relating to non-indictable offences are shown in the tables relating to the criminal business in the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, in which the cases summarily disposed of are classified under the following headings:—

A.—Indictable offences disposed of summarily.

B.—Other offences disposed of summarily.

Although classed as offences, many of the minor cases in Section B partake more of a civil than a criminal character.

In addition to the cases disposed of by summary jurisdiction above referred to, there is a large number of cases disposed of summarily, such being known as quasi-criminal cases. These are not included in the tables relating to criminal offences, but have a special table (Table 17) allotted to them. The more numerous matters

NOTE.—Three Schedules, showing in detail alterations in classification introduced in the year 1895, will be found on pages 33-55 of the Criminal Statistics for that year.

Remarks.

in which applications for orders were instituted in the year 1913 in quasi-criminal cases were as follows:—

Quasicriminal cases.

1. Children { (a) Attendance orders under Education Act.
 (b) Committed to Industrial Schools.
2. Dogs, Licences for.
3. Sureties.
4. Sanitary Law.
5. Goods Stolen (Restoration of).
6. Maintenance.
7. Dangerous and Neglected Structures (Orders relating to).
8. Employers and Workmen.

The state of crime in Ireland and the proceedings in Criminal Courts are shown in the comparative tables on pages xxvi-xxxiii, for each of the twenty years 1894-1913; quinquennial averages under each head are also given.

Comparative Tables.

The Summary Tables A, B, and C, contain these comparisons and refer, respectively, to the number of persons for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions; cases dealt with in Courts of Summary Jurisdiction; and all offences of an indictable character reported to the police. Table D gives a summary of Tables A, B, and C under condensed headings of the averages for each quinquennium and for the year 1913. In Table E (Parts I. and II.), which follows, the geographical distribution of crime and of the principal forms thereof, during the last quinquennial period, is shown by the rates of crimes to the population in each county in Ireland. Part I. of this Table gives this information regarding the counties grouped according to their several degrees of criminality, under each of the selected heads, and Part II. shows the counties arranged in alphabetical order by provinces.

II.—GENERAL REVIEW.

II.—
General Review.

The number of indictable offences* in Ireland known to the police was 9,241 in the year 1913; these numbered 9,870 in 1910, 9,831 in 1911, and 9,931 in 1912. The total for 1913 is equal to an annual rate of 2.11 per 1,000 of the population of Ireland, estimated to the middle of the year, as compared with a rate of 2.27 per 1,000 in 1912, 2.24 in 1911, and 2.25 per 1,000 in each of the years 1909 and 1910. With reference to the persons tried for non-indictable offences, the number, which rose from 185,345 in 1911 to 195,246 in the year 1912, fell to 178,140 in the year under notice, a decrease of 17,106 on the year preceding.† There was a decrease of 4,104 in the number of persons tried for drunkenness in 1913 as compared with the preceding year, but compared with the average for the 10 years, 1903 to 1912, there was a decrease of 13,995 persons tried for this offence.

Standards
by which to measure
of crime.

Many of the non-indictable offences being in the nature of civil offences, are omitted in the calculation of the amount of crime in the country, the number of "indictable offences" only being adopted as the standard for estimation. Besides, cases obviously of a civil character—such as those in which orders are made to maintain certain civil rights, or to secure the discharge of civil duties—are now shown separately under the title of Quasi-criminal Offences (Table 17). These offences, which in the year 1911 amounted to 22,878, increased in the year 1912 to 27,264, but decreased in the year under notice to 25,342. The increase in 1912 was largely due to attendance orders under section 4 of the Education Act and orders to take out licences for dogs, and about 80 per cent. of the decrease in the year 1913 is due to a falling off in the number of such orders. Prior to 1895 the majority of such cases were found among "Cases disposed of Summarily," and were included in "Minor Offences" in the reports under the old system. Proceedings against weekly tenants in towns, which are especially numerous in Dublin, formed another group of the cases "Disposed of Summarily." These appeared both in the Civil and the Criminal statistics; they are now separated from the Criminal statistics proper. As they tended to increase the number of apparent crimes committed, they must be allowed for when instituting comparisons with the statistics for years anterior to 1895.

* See Note (*), pp. xxviii-ix.

† A remarkable increase in recent years is observable in the number of prosecutions against owners and drivers of carts under the Highway Acts—the number of persons proceeded against in the years 1913, 1912, 1911, 1910, 1909, and 1908 being 23,282, 27,975, 26,325, 26,021, 30,748 and 31,559, respectively; as against 4,326 in the year 1907.

The serious and the minor offences in each of the years 1912 and 1913, and their ratio to the population, are summarised in the following comparative statement. The figures for cases disposed of summarily show the number of persons proceeded against in such cases; those for cases not disposed of summarily have reference to the number of crimes committed.

In the following table the rates per 10,000 of the population estimated to the middle of the respective years for each of the six classes of indictable offences are shown for each of the ten years 1903–1912, also the annual average rate of each class of offence for the decade, the final column giving the corresponding rates for the year 1913. This statement shows the fluctuations which have taken place during the eleven years in the proportional number of the more serious offences in Ireland, and it also shows that, measured by the number of indictable offences committed in proportion to the population, the crime rate in 1913 was less than that for the preceding year, and also less than the average for the ten years 1903–1912. The rate for offences against the person was above the average, and also above the rate for 1912. The rate for offences against property with violence was 1.90, as against the average of 1.84, and the rate in 1912 of 2.19; for offences against property without violence the rate in 1913 was the lowest recorded since 1902; and for malicious injury against property the rates were—1913, 1.49; 1912, 1.59; average for the 10 years, 1903–1912, 1.46. The rate for forgery and offences against the currency which increased from 0.10 per 10,000 in the year 1911 to 0.12 in the year 1912 has fallen to 0.10 again in 1913; and in Class VI. the rate was 1.18 for the year 1913, the rate for 1912 being 1.10, and the average rate 1.17—see page xi., and Table 23.

III.—NATURE OF CRIMES.

With regard to each of the undermentioned six classes of crime, the figures quoted are taken from the returns of cases reported to the police.

The heads under which they are grouped are as follow :—

Classification of
crimes.

Table C.

CLASS I.—OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

CLASS II.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITH VIOLENCE.

CLASS III.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITHOUT VIOLENCE.

CLASS IV.—MALICIOUS INJURIES TO PROPERTY.

CLASS V.—FORGERY AND OFFENCES AGAINST THE CURRENCY.

CLASS VI.—OTHER OFFENCES NOT INCLUDED IN THE ABOVE CLASSES.

The total number of such crimes (indictable offences) in 1913 was 9,241 (or 2.11 per 1,000 of the population), being 690 below the number for the preceding year, and 590 below the number for the year 1911.

CLASS I.—OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

Offences
person.

Indictable offences against the person, as known to the police, numbered 526 in the year 1907, and in the year 1908 rose to 627. In the year 1909 the number fell to 523, and rose in the year 1910 to 574, and again to 580 in 1911. There was a decline to 544 in the year 1912, and in the year under notice the number increased to 672.

There were 27 charges of murder; of these 14 were for murder of persons aged above one year, and 13 were for murder of infants aged one year or under, the total number of charges being 2 above the number for the preceding year, and one below the average for the years 1908–1912. Fifteen attempted murders were reported, as compared with 12 for the preceding year, 15 for the year 1911, 6 for the year 1910, and an average of 13 for the 5 years ending with 1912. The reported cases of manslaughter numbered 49, being 6 under the number for the year 1912, but 6 over the average for the five years 1908–1912. Altogether the cases coming under these three headings were 91 in number, being under the number in 1912 by one.

CLASS II.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITH VIOLENCE.

Offences
against property
violence.

Offences against property with violence reported to the police, which were 960 in the year 1912, were 831 in the year under review, being 129 under the number in 1912, 36 under the number in 1911, and 29 under the average for the five years 1908–1912. The principal crimes in this class are house and shop breaking, numbering 544, burglary 176, and robbery and assaults with intent to rob 49.

CLASS III.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITHOUT VIOLENCE.

Offences
against
violence.

The total offences in this class, numbering 6,525, include 6,285 cases of larceny, as against 6,910 in the year 1912, and form nearly 71 per cent. of all indictable offences known to the police. The total number of offences was 7,196 in 1912, being 318 over the number in the year 1911.

CLASS IV.—MALICIOUS INJURIES TO PROPERTY.

III.—
Nature of Crimes.—
Malicious
property.

The offences known to the police under this heading declined from 699 in 1912 to 651 in 1913, the latter being 48 less than the number recorded for the preceding year, 111 under the average for the five years 1908–1912, but 131 over the average for the five years 1903–1907, and 95 under the average for the five years 1898–1902. These offences in 1913 included 241 cases of arson, 12 of setting fire to crops, plantations, &c., and 74 of killing and maiming cattle. There were 316 cases of other malicious injuries to property, as against 349 in the year 1912, and 513 in the year 1911.

CLASS V.—FORGERY AND OFFENCES AGAINST THE CURRENCY.

There were 44 offences in Class V. known in the year 1913, as against 52 in 1912, the average for the five years 1908–1912 being 51; the cases of coining and uttering counterfeit coin numbered 15 in 1913, as compared with 31 in 1912.

Forgery and
Offences
against the Currency.

CLASS VI.—OTHER INDICTABLE OFFENCES.

There was an increase in the total of this group from 480 in 1912 to 518 in 1913. For the five years 1908–1912 the average number of such offences was 579. Among the offences there were 204 cases of intimidation by Threatening Letters, Notices, or otherwise (showing a decrease of 34, as compared with the corresponding number for the preceding year). There were 44 (an increase of 3, as compared with the preceding year) assaults by firing shots into dwelling-houses. There were 90 attempts to commit suicide, as against 93 in the year 1912. There were also 22 cases of habitual drunkenness reported to the police, the number in 1912 being 42.

Other
offences.

OFFENCES DISPOSED OF SUMMARILY.

The proceedings in the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction for each County and County of City for the year 1913 are given in Table 15, in which the offences are given in two divisions (A) and (B) respectively. Under head (A) some of the indictable offences, which have been discussed in the above remarks dealing with the police returns of crimes reported, will be found, namely, those in which the charges were disposed of in Courts of Summary Jurisdiction. This number in 1913 was 4,218, or 45.6 per cent. of the total number of indictable offences, and of these 4,218 offences, 3,777 were cases of simple larceny, as against 4,331 in 1912.

Offences
summarily.
Table 15.

Section B includes all the non-indictable offences. Persons tried for such offences in 1913 numbered 178,140,* or 40.7 per 1,000 of the estimated population. The rate represented by offences of this class in 1911 was 42.3 per 1,000, and in 1912 it was 44.5 per 1,000. The cases in this Section include a large number of cases partaking of a civil rather than of a criminal character, such as Education Acts, offences in relation to Highway Acts, some of the offences against the Police Regulations, Dogs, Stage and Hackney Carriage Regulations, Sanitary Laws, Labour Laws, &c.

The number of cases of drunkenness (including drunkenness and disorderly conduct) has decreased for the whole of Ireland; such cases, including also cases of assaults, constituted 38.6 per cent. of the total offences committed in the year 1913, as compared with 37.4 per cent. for such offences in the year 1912. The number of assaults (comprising aggravated assaults, assaults on constables, and common assaults) in 1913 was 12,869, or 6.9 per cent. of all offences committed; in the year preceding the number was 13,151 or 6.4 per cent of all offences committed.

Drunkenness and assaults.
Tables 15
and 16.

* See Note (†) on page viii.

III.—
Crimes.

The number of cases of drunkenness amounted to 59,519, being 31.8 per cent. of all offences committed, and 32.6 per cent. of all cases disposed of summarily. Cases of assault decreased from 13,151 in 1912 to 12,869 in 1913; the charges of drunkenness also show a decrease of 4,104—from 63,623 in 1912 to 59,519 in 1913.

The cases of assault disposed of summarily, and the cases of drunkenness (including drunkenness and disorderly conduct) in 1913, compared with each of the ten years preceding, also the annual average for these 10 years, are shown in the following tabular statement:—

	1903.	1904.	1905.	1906.	1907.	1908.	1909.	1910.	1911.	1912.	Average Annual Number 1903— 1912.	1913.

It appears from the above statement that, both for assaults and drunkenness (including drunkenness and disorderly conduct), the numbers declined from the year 1903 to the year under notice—drunkenness from 85,502 cases in 1903 to 59,519 in 1913, and assaults from 17,490 in 1903 to 12,869 in 1913.

Amongst other offences which were disposed of summarily there were 23,282 by owners and drivers of carts, 14,409 cases of nuisances and obstructions, 2,670 cases of cruelty to animals, 1,105 cases of cruelty to children, 482 offences against the Game Laws, 1,481 cases of malicious damage, and 50 offences against the Vaccination Acts. Compared with the figures for the preceding year, offences by owners and drivers of carts show a decrease of 4,693, and cases of nuisances and obstructions a decrease of 1,299; there was a decrease of 551 in cases of cruelty to animals, and an increase of 24 in cases of cruelty to children; the offences against the Game Laws decreased by 212 in 1913 as compared with 1912, and in cases of malicious damage there was a decrease of 106.

Quasi-CRIMINAL OFFENCES.

Quasi-
criminal
offences.
Table 17.

The business in the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction respecting quasi-criminal matters is given in Table 17. From this table it appears that the total of applications for orders in such cases in 1913 amounted to 25,342. Of the total there were 8,462 cases relating to children, including 7,149 applications for school attendance orders, 1,297* for Industrial School orders, and 2 for Probation Orders under the Children Act, 1908 [sec. 58 (4) and 60]. Among other quasi-criminal offences are 4,080 applications for orders to find sureties to keep the peace or for good behaviour, and there were 2,965 applications under Sanitary Law, a decrease of 44 as compared with 1912. The number of applications as to orders relating to dogs was 7,854 as compared with 8,475 in 1912.

IV.—
Geographical Distribution of Crime in 1912 and 1913.

Offences in each county Tables 15 and 23.

Taking the indictable offences committed as the standard for the estimation of the prevalence of crime, it appears for the county and city districts of Ireland for such offences that there was an increase in 14 districts, and a decrease in 25, one district, Cork, West Riding, showing no change.

The increase in indictable offences ranged from 2 in Cork City, to 40 in Kerry County: Between these extremes the increases were 5 in Kilkenny and Meath, 6 in Sligo, 7 in Fermanagh, 9 in Queen's, 11 in Wicklow, 15 in Londonderry, 27 in Limerick and Tipperary, S.R., 28 in Tipperary, N.R., 34 in Kildare, and 37 in Londonderry City.

The counties or cities in which a decrease of indictable crime is shown are:—

In Belfast City 319, in the Dublin Metropolitan Police District 132, in Limerick City 79, in Donegal 45, in Mayo 42, in Clare 53, in Louth 26, in Roscommon 23, in Cork E.R. 22, in Longford, Down, and Tyrone 20, in Armagh and Waterford County 19, in Carlow 18, in Cavan 17, in Dublin 16, in Leitrim 12, in Monaghan 10, in Westmeath and Wexford 7, in King's County 6, in Waterford City 5, in Antrim 4, and in Galway 2.

In 10 districts an increase and in 30 a decrease for non-indictable offences has taken place.

The numbers of all forms of offences, taken collectively, show an increase in 10 and a decrease in 30 districts.

The various districts are arranged from the lowest to the highest rate per 100,000 inhabitants (according to the Census of 1911), for each group, and for the total of all kinds of crime in the year 1913, in the following lists:—

IV.—
Geographical Distribution
of Crime.

According to the table which follows, it appears that (1) the aggregate rate for offences of all kinds, (2) the rate for all indictable offences, and (3) for all non-indictable offences in the large town districts of Ireland (viz., those which in 1911 had a population of 20,000 inhabitants or upwards) exceed the corresponding rates for all other places. For cases of drunkenness, however (which are included also in the non-indictable offences), the rate for the large town districts (11.3 per 1,000) is below that for the other parts of Ireland, the rate for the other parts being 14.2 per 1,000 of the Census population, 1911. Both these rates compare favourably with the corresponding rates for the year 1903, when the rate for drunkenness in the large town districts was 19.7 per 1,000, and the rate for all other parts of Ireland 19.1 per 1,000.

The rates for indictable offences in the large town districts decreased in Dublin from 7.5 in 1912 to 7.2 in 1913. In Cork the rate increased from 2.4 to 2.5 per 1,000; and in Londonderry from 2.1 to 3.0 per 1,000.; in Limerick the rate decreased from 4.7 to 2.7 per 1,000; in Waterford from 2.8 to 2.7 per 1,000, and in Belfast from 5.4 to 4.5 per 1,000.

Of the total offences of all kinds reported in Ireland in 1913, numbering 187,381, there were 61,755, or 33 per cent., committed in the towns referred to in the foregoing statement, although the total population of these towns constituted only 22.5 per cent. of the population of Ireland in the year 1911. The total offences in the towns represented a ratio of 6,263 per 100,000 of the population, against 3,691 in the remainder of Ireland. The cases of drunkenness for the whole of Ireland having decreased by 4,104 in comparison with 1912, (as compared with an increase of 4,044 in 1912 on the year 1911), form nearly a third of the total number of offences committed.

IV.—
Geographical Distribution of Crime.

Distribution of crimes in counties. Comparative Table E, Parts I. and II.

The average rates per 100,000 for the principal crimes (indictable offences) or groups of crimes are shown by counties for the 5 years, 1909–1913, in Table E, Part II. In Table E, Part I., the counties are arranged in order for each class of crime from that in which there was the least to that in which there was the greatest prevalence of crime, and in columns 2–6 inclusive the counties are grouped under certain degrees of criminality. From the first column in this Part, which shows for the five years 1909–1913 the average annual number of indictable offences per 100,000 of the population, it will be observed that the rates range from 64.84 per 100,000 in Mayo to 708.64 in Dublin.* In 7 counties and ridings the rate was under 100; in 23 it ranged between 100 and 200; and in 4—Clare (208.57), Kildare (244.65), Antrim † (358.12), and, as above stated, Dublin (708.64)—it exceeded 200. The rates for “Crimes against Property,” “Crimes of Violence,” “Crimes against Morals,” and “Suicides” are given in columns 2, 3, 4, and 6 respectively.

A comparison of the average rates represented by cases of drunkenness for the quinquennial period 1909–1913 shows that in the counties of Mayo, Dublin (county and city), and Meath the lowest rates were recorded, and that the highest rates were for Kerry, Clare, and Limerick (county and city),

V.—PROCEDURE FOR THE PUNISHMENT OF CRIME.

V.—Procedure for the Punishment of Crime.

For the most part the initiation of proceedings in connection with the prosecution of serious offences committed in Ireland rests with the police, who act as public prosecutors. The duties of the offices of the Crown Solicitor and the Sessional Crown Solicitor are now amalgamated and performed by a Crown Solicitor in the following Counties:—Carlow, Cavan, Down, Dublin, Galway, Kerry, Kildare, Kilkenny, Leitrim, Limerick (County and City), Longford, Louth, Mayo, Meath, Monaghan, Queen’s County, Roscommon, Sligo, Tipperary, Waterford, Westmeath, Wexford, and Wicklow. During the year 1905 the office of Sessional Crown Solicitor for Antrim and Belfast was added to the duties performed by the Crown Solicitor, and in Cork (County and City) a change was also made, the Crown Solicitorship being divided into two appointments, one for the East Riding and one for the West Riding. There was no appointment made in 1913 amalgamating the offices of Crown and Sessional Crown Solicitor. No change of offices has as yet taken place in the remaining Counties, Crown business at Assizes or Quarter Sessions being discharged by Crown or Sessional Crown Solicitors, respectively.

Districts Proclaimed. Tables 10, 11.

No district in Ireland was under proclamation under the provisions of the Criminal Law and Procedure (Ireland) Act, 1887, on the 31st December, 1913. In Table 11 it may be seen that on the 27th August, 1907, the following Counties were proclaimed under 6 Wm. IV., cap. 13, sec. 13:—Clare, Galway, and Roscommon, and remained proclaimed on the 31st December, 1913.

Information regarding the criminal proceedings at Assizes and Quarter Sessions is furnished in Tables 1–7.

Assizes and Quarter Sessions. Tables 1 to 7, and Comparative Table A.

The following tabular statement gives information concerning persons tried by jury at Assizes, at the Dublin Commission Court, and at Quarter Sessions, and the manner in which the cases were disposed of, for the year 1913, and for each of the preceding ten years:—

A retrospect for a period of twenty years (1894-1913) of the number of persons for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions is obtainable from Table A. This also gives the nature of offences and contains quinquennial averages for this period.

V.—Procedure for the Punishment of Crime.

In Table 8 a return is made by the Crown Solicitors and County and City Financial Officers of the costs of Criminal Proceedings for the year ended 31st March, 1913; it appears that the total amount for Assizes was £34,358, and for Quarter Sessions, £5,709, as compared with £28,329 and £5,660, respectively, for the year ended 31st March, 1912.

A review is given in Comparative Table B for twenty years (1894-1913) of the number of persons tried summarily*; also a list of the special offences for each year during the period, with the quinquennial averages, is contained therein. Notes are supplied with Tables 14 and 15 explanatory of these Tables, and consequently of Comparative Table B. In connection with the subject of Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, attention may be again called to the Table (17) of Quasi-Criminal cases dealt with already at page xii.

APPEALS TO QUARTER SESSIONS.

The nature of convictions by Magistrates appealed against, and the result of appeals, are given for the year 1913 in Section (A), Table 18. The appeals numbered 358, as against 402 in the year 1912. Of the total in 1913, 120 were affirmed, 97 were reversed, 65 were varied, and 76 were otherwise disposed of.

Table 24 contains returns from the several counties of persons under police supervision. This Table furnishes details with respect to (a) the number of persons (145) under police supervision, (b) the disposal of persons under police supervision, and (c) the conduct of persons under police supervision.

HABITUAL CRIMINALS AT LARGE.

A return by counties of the number of habitual criminals at large in Ireland in 1913 gives the number as 202, including 150 thieves, 26 receivers, and 26 persons otherwise habitually engaged in crime.

PERSONS IN CONFINEMENT.

ADMISSIONS TO PLACES OF DETENTION.		Men and Boys.	Women and Girls.	Total.
Total in all Ireland,	.	19,676	9,371	29,047

Into Lunatic Asylums (criminal and dangerous lunatics),	.	1,321	979	2,300
Into Industrial Schools,	.	697	646	1,343

It appears that there were 29,047 persons admitted to places of confinement during the year 1913, and that of these 9,371, or about one-third were females, and 19,676 were males. Among these 29,047, there were 2,300 lunatics admitted into asylums, and 1,343 children admitted into industrial schools; so that 3,643, or more than 12 per cent. of the total admissions to places of detention, were of persons who cannot be considered as criminals. In addition to these exceptions there were 31 inebriates sent to reformatories and 56 youthful offenders sentenced to detention in a Borstal institution. See Tables 43 and 44.

During the year 1913 the receptions of prisoners numbered 25,235 being 4,033 under the number for 1912, and 1,579 below that for 1911. Compared with 1912, the admissions of criminal and dangerous lunatics to Lunatic Asylums show an decrease of 43. The number of children admitted to Industrial Schools in 1912 was 1,259, the number in 1913 being 1,343; and the admissions to Reformatories, were 192 in the year 1912, and 169 in 1913.

PRISONS.

The number of convicted prisoners (other than those committed for naval and military offences) committed to the local prisons, bridewells, and convict prisons during the year 1913 (see Table 37) is shown by age-periods and sexes in the following tabular statement:—

AGES.	Total of both Sexes	Men and Boys.	Women and Girls	Proportion per cent.
				Men and Boys.	Women and Girls.
Total,	21,684	14,527	7,157	100	100

Sixteen years and under twenty-one,	1,208	909	299	6.2	4.2
Twenty-one years and under thirty,	5,822	4,042	1,780	27.8	24.9
Thirty years and under forty,	7,020	4,569	2,451	31.5	34.2
Forty years and under fifty,	4,979	3,232	1,747	22.3	24.4
Fifty years and under sixty,	1,796	1,139	657	7.8	9.2
Sixty years and upwards,	857	635	222	4.4	3.1

It appears from the above statement that one girl under 16 years of age was among the 7,157 convicted females committed to prison in the year 1913. The number of convicted females committed to prison in the year 1913 shows a decrease of 1,448, as compared with that for the year 1912. There was one boy between 12 and 16 years of age convicted and committed to prison. The total number of convicted males committed to prison was 14,527, or more than double the number of convicted females. A decrease of 2,316 is shown in the number of convicted males during 1913, as compared with the number in 1912. Of the males, 12·2 per cent., and of the females, 12·3 per cent., were over 50 years of age. In Table 32 the number of prisoners received into each prison will be found, and in Tables 33*a* and 33*b* particulars as to the disposal of prisoners are given. Particulars as to the nature of sentences are given in Table 34, and details regarding the length of these sentences in Table 35.

VI.—
Criminals and others in confinement and known Criminals at large.

Previous convictions of prisoners. Table 36.

Birthplaces of prisoners. Table 38.

State of education of prisoners. Table 39.

Of those admitted to prison many were persons previously convicted, or who were habitual criminals. Of 21,684 convicted prisoners admitted to the local prisons, bridewells, and convict prisons during the year 1913, there were 17,713, or over 80 per cent., who had been previously convicted. Of these, 1,805 had been once previously convicted, 1,281 twice, 1,116 thrice, 993 four times, 901 five times, 2,866 six to ten times, 3,259 from eleven to twenty times, and 5,432 above twenty times. The figures for the last two periods show that there were 8,691 committals of persons, or more than 40 per cent. of the total number of convicted prisoners admitted to prison during the year, who had previously been convicted upwards of ten times, as compared with 9,401, or 36·9 per cent., in the year 1912.

Information regarding the birthplaces of those committed to prison is furnished in Table 38.

The state of education of the prisoners convicted in 1913 and the state of education of persons of 12 years and upwards of the general population, as ascertained from the Irish Census returns for 1912, are compared in the following table.

Degree of Instruction.	Number of Convicted Prisoners in 1913			Proportion per cent.			Corresponding proportion in General Population (in 1911) 12 years old and upwards.

The above statement shows that, while 22·1 per cent. of the convicted prisoners committed to prison in 1913 were absolutely illiterate, only 9·7 per cent. of the general population in 1911, aged 12 years and upwards, were in a similar condition as regards education. It must, however, be borne in mind that the Census figures here quoted are for the population of all ranks, and are not limited to the classes which furnish the great bulk of the prisoners.

Although previous occupations of convicted prisoners are given in Table 40, it is impossible to institute comparisons between the occupations of prisoners and those of the general population in a manner similar to that adopted above regarding education, as the classification of occupations is different in several respects from that employed by the Census Commissioners in their Report. It may, however, be gathered that, of the 21,684 prisoners convicted, 219 belonged to the domestic servant class; 12,035 to labourers, charwomen, and needlewomen; 229 to the class of factory workers; 1,754 to the class of mechanics and skilled workers; 23 were foremen or overlookers of labour; 127 belonged to the class of shopmen, shopwomen, and clerks; 2,596 to the class of shopkeepers and dealers; 4 to professional employment; 133 to the class of sailors, marines, and soldiers.

and 2,773 (or more than 38 per cent. of the 7,157 female prisoners) are classified as prostitutes. It should be borne in mind that some of the prisoners were committed to prison more than once during the year, and that the above figures denote the number of committals of convicted prisoners, and not the number of individuals committed.

The receptions and discharges from Inebriate Reformatories are given in Table 43. It appears from Section A of the Table that there was a total of 31, of males 13 and of females 18, admitted during the year; of the total, 16 were on indictment and 15 were summarily committed. In Section B, which gives the discharges, it may be seen that these numbered 86—namely, 59 discharged on expiry of sentence, 23 released on licence, and two were removed to Lunatic Asylums, one escaped, and one was discharged by order of the Lord Lieutenant.

stitution.
Table 44.

Table 44, in 3 divisions, furnished by the Prisons Board, gives the number of persons received in 1913 into the Clonmel Borstal Institution—namely, 56. The second division gives the offences and the periods of detention ordered, and the third the number of inmates licensed, discharged, or otherwise disposed of during the year.

PREVENTIVE DETENTION (HABITUAL CRIMINALS).

Preventive detention.
Table 45.

In Table 45 which has been prepared by the Prisons Board, the particulars regarding Male Prisoners serving sentences of preventive detention in 1913 are set forth. From this it appears that 8 prisoners were serving sentences of preventive detention at the beginning of the year; that 3 began to serve sentences during the year, and that one prisoner was released on licence; the second division of the table shows the offences and periods of preventive detention; the third gives the previous convictions; and in the fourth the ages of the prisoners are given.

Tables
46-48.

Statistical information regarding Reformatory and Industrial Schools of Ireland is given in Tables 46-51.

During the year 1913 the number of children admitted upon conviction to Reformatory was 169, showing a decrease of 22 as compared with the committals for the preceding year. The number of boys committed in 1913 was 159, or 13 less than in the year 1912, and the number of girls 10, or 9 less than the number for 1912.

The Tables which follow supply figures concerning juvenile criminals, male and female, under Reformatory control in the year 1913 which have been extracted from Tables 46-48.

The ages of the children admitted upon conviction to Reformatory Schools during the year 1913 are given in the following table:—

Ages of children when admitted.	Boys and Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Percentage of total.
				Boys.	Girls.
Total,	169	159	10	100.	100.
12 and under 14 years, . . .	68	66	2	41.5	20.0
14 and under 16 years, . . .	101	93	8	58.5	80.0

Thus it appears that of the 159 boys admitted to Reformatory Schools during the year 1913, there were 93 boys (or 59 per cent.) between 14 and 16 years of age, and of the 10 girls, 8 were stated to be 14 and under 16 years of age on admission.

The state of instruction (on admission) of children committed to Reformatory Schools is shown in the following statement:—

Table 47.

It appears that not one of the 10 girls and only 20 of the 159 boys admitted to Reformatory Schools could read and write with moderate proficiency.

From Table 47 it appears that of the total of the youthful offenders committed, all had been previously convicted with the exception of 43—33 boys and all the 10 girls.

The numbers of children in Reformatory Schools discharged or otherwise disposed of are given in Table 48. From this it appears that of the total discharged (173) 157 were discharged on expiry of sentence, and 4 were discharged by the Chief Secretary absolutely. There were 64 licences issued; 3 licences were revoked before expiry of sentence, and one after expiry of sentence. There were 12 children who either were apprenticed, enlisted, or emigrated before expiry of sentence.

The foregoing table shows that of a total of 173 discharges in the year 1913, there were 161 of boys and 12 of girls.

Particulars regarding the number of licences granted or revoked are shown in the following table:—

The following statement gives the state of education (on admission) of the boys and girls admitted to Industrial Schools in Ireland during the year 1913:—

	Year 1913.		Proportion per cent.
	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.
Neither read nor write,	410	361	58·8	55·9
Read and write imperfectly,	228	224	32·7	34·7

Superior education,	—	—	—	—
Total,	697	646	100·	100·
	1,343

The foregoing summary, abstracted from Table 50, shows that the number of children admitted to Industrial Schools in Ireland during the year 1913 was 1,343. Of the total, 697 were males and 646 were females. With reference to the observations regarding the education of children who were sent to Reformatories, it may be noted that only 1·3 per cent. of the boys and 0·4 per cent. of the girls sent to Industrial Schools could read and write well.

The ages of the children placed in Industrial Schools in the year 1913 are shown in the following tabular statement:—

AGES OF CHILDREN.	Boys and Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Percentage of Total.
				Boys.	Girls.
Total,	1,343	697	646	100·	100·
Under 6 years,	289	116	173	16·6	26·8
6 and under 8 years,	267	130	137	18·7	21·2
8 and under 10 years,	289	154	135	22·1	20·9
10 and under 12 years,	283	167	116	23·9	17·9
12 and under 14 years,	215	130	85	18·7	13·2

The total number of children (1,343) admitted to Industrial Schools in the year 1913, shows an increase of 84 on the number admitted in the year 1912. The number of girls admitted increased from 608 in 1912 to 646 in 1913 and the number of boys increased from 651 in the year 1912 to 697 in the year under notice.

It may be seen that 57·3 per cent. of boys admitted during last year, and 68·8 per cent. of the girls were brought under training in these schools before they had reached the age of ten years.

Discharges
and Licences.
Table 51.

The numbers of discharges and licences are returned in Table 51. The particulars regarding licences granted or revoked in the year 1913 are summarised in the following statement:—

Licences granted or revoked in the year 1913.	Boys and Girls.	Boys.	Girls.
Number released on licence for first time,	359	275	84
Number released on licence after revocation of previous	7	5	2
Number of licences revoked,	28	12	16
Number of children under 8 received during the year who were boarded out,	1	—	1

From the above it appears that 359 children (275 boys and 84 girls) were released on licence for the first time; that 7 children (5 boys and 2 girls) were released on licence after revocation of previous licence, and that in 28 cases (12 boys and 16 girls) the licences previously granted were revoked.

The classification of admissions to Industrial Schools is given in Table 49.

Tables 52-56.

The following summary gives information extracted from Tables 52-56 regarding the judgments or orders of committal under which criminal and dangerous lunatics were committed to asylums in Ireland in 1913:—

JUDGMENT OR ORDER OF COMMITTAL.	Number.	Proportion per cent
Total committed during year,	2,300	100.0
Committed to asylums by Justices as dangerous,	2,230	97.0
Transmitted from prisons by Lord Lieutenant's warrant:—
Certified insane after conviction,	37	1.6
Found insane on arraignment,	22	1.0
Became insane after committal and before trial,	3	0.1
Special verdict of guilty, but insane,	3	0.1
Admitted under Naval Enlistment Act, 1884, sec. 3,	2	0.1

It would appear that the total number of criminal and dangerous lunatics who were committed to asylums during the year 1913 was 2,300; of these, 97 per cent., were committed to asylums by Justices as being dangerous. Only 2.8 per cent. were transmitted from prisons by the Lord Lieutenant's warrant; 3, or 0.1 per cent., were committed under the Army Act, 1881, sec. 91; and 2 under the Naval Enlistment Act, 1884, sec. 3.

Tables 52, 53, and 54 give statistics as to criminal lunatics, and statistics relating to dangerous lunatics will be found in Tables 55 and 56.

In the Royal Irish Constabulary, members of the different branches in the Force are selected for special duty when necessary; but in the Dublin Metropolitan Police, an entire division, consisting of one Superintendent, 4 Inspectors, and 39 men (16 Sergeants, 10 Constables, and 13 detective officers), are employed as detectives.

TABLES 46 TO 51.—REFORMATORY AND INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS,	120
TABLES 52 TO 56.—CRIMINAL AND DANGEROUS LUNATICS,	124

Notes to Tables 1, 3, and 5.

(a.) The titles of offences (Column 1) are much condensed. The fuller titles, and the offences comprised under each head, are given on page 36 of the Criminal Statistics for 1895 except in some few cases where subsequent enactments have made further changes necessary.

(b.) The Tables show the number of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where, therefore, any person is prosecuted at the same Assizes or Sessions for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation; and the rule followed is to select that for which the proceedings were carried to the furthest stage—to trial if there were several indictments, to conviction and sentence if prisoner was tried on several charges. If there are several convictions, the offence selected is that for which the heaviest punishment was awarded. If the final result of proceedings on two or more charges is the same, the more serious offence (as measured by the maximum penalty allowed by law) appears in the Tables.

(c.) Where, in addition to the offence thus selected for detailed tabulation, the same person is prosecuted for other offences of a distinct character, and charged in separate indictments, the number of these additional charges is given in columns 24 to 26 of the Tables, column 24 giving the total number of such charges, column 25 the number resulting in convictions, and column 26 the number for which separate sentences (not concurrent with those in columns 11 to 19) are passed. Only distinct offences charged in separate indictments are included in these columns; additional indictments merely varying the form of the charge, and additional charges appearing as counts in the same indictment, are excluded.

(d.) Where a person is prosecuted for one offence and convicted for another (e.g. committed for murder and convicted of manslaughter), the case appears only under the offence of which he was convicted.

(e.) Columns 2, 3, and 4 ("Numbers for Trial") include only such cases as actually come before the Assizes or Quarters Sessions. Persons who die, escape from prison, abscond while on bail, or are removed to an asylum before trial, are not included.

(f.) Column 13 ("Imprisonment") does not include sentences of imprisonment in default of payment of fine, or in default of finding sureties.

(g.) Columns 19 and 23 ("Recognizances") include cases where recognizances are required, whether with or without sureties and, if sureties are required, whether they are found or not.

(h.) Columns 20 to 23 are for those cases where more than one punishment is imposed for the same offence.

§ The Officers and Constables of the G Division are employed as " Detectives."

(a) Exclusive of 1 Sergeant and 25 Constables employed in Government Departments and on private service with public bodies.

Notes to Tables 14, 15 16.

(a.) These Tables include only offences tried summarily. All indictable offences where the Court does not actually assume the power to determine the case summarily are excluded. Further, these Tables include only cases where the proceedings are criminal—that is, lead if successful to a conviction. There are a large number of cases which are quasi-criminal in character, but where the procedure is by complaint, leading, not to a conviction, but to the making of an order. These are provided for in a separate Table—No. 17.

(b.) The Tables show the number of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where, therefore, any person is prosecuted at the same time for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation, and the rules followed are the same as in Tables 1, 3 and 5 (see notes to those Tables).

(c.) The offences included under each of the titles of offences in Column 1 are stated on page 46 of the Criminal Statistics for the year 1895, except in some few cases where subsequent Enactments have made further changes necessary.

Notes to Table 14.

(d.) Table 14 corresponds to Tables 1, 3, and 5, and (as regards length of sentences) to Tables 2 and 4.

(e.) Column 7, "Committed to Industrial Schools," includes only those committals to Industrial Schools where an offence is charged. Other committals to Industrial Schools where the proceedings are not criminal appear in Table 17, and also in Tables 49 to 51.

(f.) Columns 10 to 16, "Imprisonment," do not include terms of imprisonment in default of paying fine or of finding sureties.

(g.) Column 18, "Reformatory School," contains all cases of persons sentenced to Reformatory School detention, whether they are actually admitted to a reformatory or not. Details as to cases actually received in reformatories are given in Table 46.

(h.) Columns 20 and 24, "Fine," include all cases where a fine is imposed, whether the fine is paid or not. The number of persons committed to prison in default of paying fines is given in Tables 34 and 35.

(i.) Columns 21 and 25, "Recognizances," include all cases where the defendant is ordered to find sureties, whether the sureties are found or not. It must be remembered, however, that the Table applies only to convictions, and that it does not include cases where a person is required to find sureties upon complaint. These cases are included in Table 17.

Note to Table 15.

(k.) This Table corresponds to Table 6.

Note to 16.

(l.) Section (A) of this Table gives the ages of all persons convicted summarily of indictable offences; section (B), however, contains only persons apprehended and convicted; persons convicted on summons have to be excluded on account of the difficulty of ascertaining their ages.

POLICE RETURNS.

Notes to Table 19.

- (a.) Column 1, "Offences."—The titles of the offences are the same as in Tables 1 to 5.
- (b.) Column 2, "Number of Crimes known to the Police."—This column includes all crimes reported to the police within the year whether committed by the same or different persons, and whether any apprehension takes place within the year or not.
- (c.) If there is a committal or conviction within the year, the Table shows the nature of the crime as judicially determined. Failing this, the charge which is named in the summons or warrant on which the prisoner is arrested is taken as determining the crime. If there are no proceedings and no apprehension, the character of the crime is judged by the facts so far as known to the police.
- (d.) In columns 3 to 18 the number of persons proceeded against is given, not the number of crimes or charges. A person charged at the same time with several offences appears as one person only. In selecting the offence for tabulation the same principle is followed as in Tables 1 to 5—the charge resulting in conviction or committal for trial has preference to the others; and subject to this the more serious offence is selected. If there are two or more convictions at the same time, that for which the heavier sentence is inflicted is regarded as the more serious. These columns include only cases disposed of within the year. Cases pending at the end of the year are reserved for inclusion in the following year's tables.
- (e.) Columns 4 and 12, "Discharged," contain cases where the Magistrate does not assume power to try the case summarily, but discharges the accused under Section 15 of the Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act, 1851, or Section 25 of the Indictable Offences (Ireland) Act, 1849.
- (f.) Columns 5 and 13, "Tried Summarily and Acquitted," contain cases where, after the Magistrate has decided to deal summarily with the case, the charge is dismissed or withdrawn.
- (g.) Columns 6 and 14, "Charge proved and order made without conviction," contain cases dealt with under Sections 1 and 2 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, and cases of children charged with indictable offences committed to industrial schools or to the custody of relatives, &c.
- (h.) Columns 8 and 16, "Committed for Trial and Detained," include all persons committed to prison or place of detention to await trial, whether they are subsequently released on bail or not.

Notes to Table 20.

- (i.) The titles of the offences are the same as in Table 14 (b), and, as in that Table, only criminal proceedings are included.
- (j.) Notes (c) and (d) above apply to this Table.

TABLE 25.—Numbers of Habitual Criminals at Large, and TABLE 26.—
Numbers of Houses of Bad Character.

The enumeration for the purposes of these Tables was made on the first Tuesday in April, 1913.

Columns 2 to 5, "Number of Habitual Criminals at Large," include persons who are known to engage habitually in crime as their means, or part of their means of livelihood. Persons previously convicted, but not habitual criminals, are not included. Crime is understood in the sense given to it by the definition in Section 20 of the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871, viz.: any felony, and the following misdemeanours:—Uttering or possessing counterfeit coin, false pretences, conspiracy to defraud, and possession of house-breaking implements, or any offence under Section 58 of the Larceny Act, 1861.

Column 7, "Houses of Receivers of Stolen Goods," includes houses reasonably suspected of being used for the receipt of stolen goods, whether there is an actual conviction against the occupier or not.

Columns 8, 9, and 10 include all houses where thieves and other habitual criminals regularly resort and meet, whether or not the occupiers of the houses are suspected of wilfully harbouring them or of complicity in their crimes.

Notes to Table 32.

(a.) This Table gives the numbers of each class of prisoners received in each prison during the year. In the case of prisoners committed for trial, it is necessary to distinguish between those who were and those who were not previously in prison on remand; otherwise in making up the total the same person would, in many cases, count twice—as a remand prisoner and as a prisoner committed for trial. Similarly, convicted prisoners have to be divided into those who were and those who were not in detention before trial. The figures of the cases which thus appear a second or a third time are printed in italics, columns 3, 5, and 7. The total of criminal prisoners, column 10, is obtained by adding the figures in the other columns, 2, 4, 6, 8, and 9.

The Table gives only the first receptions of prisoners on remand, committed for trial, &c. When prisoners are transferred from one prison to another, they appear only in the return from the prison in which they are first received, not in that from the prison to which they are removed. Since convicts, as a rule, undergo some detention in local prisons before transfer to a convict prison, they appear as receptions only in the local prison returns.

(b.) Column 12, "Debtors," comprises all persons who are treated as debtors in prison, including bankrupts imprisoned to prevent absconding, &c.

Note to Table 33.

SECTION (a).

(c.) This Table gives, in columns 2 to 9, the number of prisoners on remand who are disposed of within the year. It, therefore, includes those in prison on remand on 1st January, but not those on remand and still undisposed of on 31st December. Those who after remand are discharged appear in column 3, those convicted summarily in column 4, those committed for trial in column 5.

(d.) Similar remarks apply to columns 10 to 15. Prisoners waiting trial on 1st January are included; those waiting trial and not disposed of on 31st December are excluded.

SECTION (b).

(e.) This Table shows only the final disposal of each convicted prisoner released or removed during the year. Each case appears only under the prison from which the prisoner is finally discharged or removed. If a prisoner has been removed from one prison to another, his case is included in the figures for the last prison only.

Notes to Table 34.

(f.) This Table includes all cases received under sentence during the year from 1st January to 31st December, whether in prison before conviction or not.

(g.) All prisoners appear in the return from the prison in which they are first received after sentence, and not in the return for any prison to which they may be subsequently removed.

(h.) Column 5 contains only cases where a licence is forfeited on conviction by a Court of Summary Jurisdiction for an offence under section 5 of the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871, as amended by Section 4 of the Penal Servitude Act, 1891. Other cases of forfeiture and all cases of revocation of licence are included in column 21.

Note to Table 35.

(i.) In this Table two sentences passed at the same time and ordered to run consecutively are treated as one sentence equal in length to the two added together. If the sentences differ in character, e.g. a sentence of imprisonment with hard labour, and a sentence of imprisonment without hard labour, the entry is made in the column for the severer form of punishment, i.e., in this case, imprisonment with hard labour. In the case of concurrent sentences, the longer only is given.

Note to Table 37.

(j.) Where the actual date of birth is known, the age is given for the birthday immediately preceding the date of reception in prison. In other cases the age is given as nearly as possible.

NOTE to TABLE 46.

This Table does not include re-admissions on expiration or revocation of licence, or on re-capture after escape; nor are admissions on transfer from other Reformatory Schools in Ireland included.

NOTE to TABLE 48

Column 3 does not include children whose sentences expire while they are at large after escape, nor those who, having been recalled to school—under Section 68 of the Children Act, 1908—after the expiration of their sentences, are again discharged.

NOTE to TABLE 49.

The following are the different classes of committals distinguished in columns 4 to 17:—

Column 4.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, found begging or receiving alms (whether or not there is any pretence of singing, playing, performing, offering anything for sale, or otherwise), or being in any street, premises or place for the purpose of so begging or receiving alms (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 5.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, found wandering and not having any home or settled place of abode, or visible means of subsistence, or found wandering and having no parent or guardian, or a parent or guardian who does not exercise proper guardianship (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 6.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, found destitute, either being orphans, or having both parents, or the surviving parent, or in the case of an illegitimate child the mother, undergoing penal servitude or imprisonment (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, secs. 133 (17) and 58 (1)).

Column 7.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, who are under the care of parents or guardians who, by reason of criminal or drunken habits, are unfit to have them under their care (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 8.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, who are the daughters, whether legitimate or illegitimate, of a father who has been convicted of an offence under section four or section five of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885, in respect of any of his daughters, whether legitimate or illegitimate (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 9.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, frequenting the company of any reputed thief, or of any common or reputed prostitute (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 10.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, lodging or residing in a house or the part of a house used by any prostitute for the purpose of prostitution, or otherwise living in circumstances calculated to cause, encourage, or favour their seduction or prostitution (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (1)).

Column 11.—Children, apparently under the age of 12 years, charged before a court of assize or quarter sessions or a petty sessional court with an offence punishable in the case of an adult by penal servitude or a less punishment (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (2)).

Column 12.—Children, apparently of the age of 12 or 13 years, not previously convicted, charged before a petty sessional court with an offence punishable in the case of an adult by penal servitude or a less punishment, and who have satisfied the court that, having regard to the special circumstances of the case, they should not be sent to a certified reformatory school, and that their character and antecedents are such that they will not exercise an evil influence over the other children in the industrial school (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (3)).

Column 13.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, whose parents or guardians have proved to a petty sessional court that they are unable to control them, and desire them to be sent to an industrial school, understanding the results which will follow (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (4)).

Column 14.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, inmates of a workhouse or district poor law school, in respect of whom the guardians of the poor law union represent that they are refractory, or that they are children of parents either of whom has been convicted of an offence punishable with penal servitude or imprisonment, and that it is desirable that the children should be sent to a certified industrial school (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 58 (5)).

Column 15.—Children, apparently under the age of 14 years, sent to an Industrial school on complaint of a School Attendance Committee for the purpose of enforcing an attendance order made under the 4th Section of the Irish Education Act, 1892 (8 Edw. VII., ch. 67, sec. 133 (20)).

Column 16.—Children ordered to be sent to Day Industrial Schools who wilfully neglect to attend thereat, or wilfully neglect or refuse to conform to the rules of the School (Order in Council of 15th April, 1910, Arts. 8 and 9).

Column 17.—Children ordered to be sent to Industrial Schools for contraventions of bye-laws for the regulation of street trading made under the Employment of Children Act, 1903.

JUDICIAL STATISTICS OF IRELAND

FOR THE

YEAR 1913.

PART II.—CIVIL STATISTICS.

REPORT

HIS EXCELLENCY JOHN CAMPBELL, EARL OF ABERDEEN, K.T.,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

I have the honour of submitting to your Excellency the Report on the Judicial Statistics (Volume II. Civil), of Ireland for the year 1913.

I have dealt with the Courts and Offices under two headings or primary Divisions, treating separately these relating to the Central and these relating to the Local Administration of Justice—the latter being grouped by larger and smaller Districts according to the nature and extent of the Special Jurisdiction exercised. Arrangement of Tables.

The details of the business of the Courts forming the subject of this Report are contained in the Tables commencing at page 28 of this Volume.

I. CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

Under the heading of Central Administration of Justice are comprised Original and Appellate Jurisdictions. Central Administration of Justice.

The Chancery and King's Bench Divisions forming the High Court of Justice in Ireland are now the Central Courts of first instance, the Courts of Exchequer and Common Pleas, the Probate Court, the Court of Admiralty, and the Court of Bankruptcy having under the various Irish Judicature Acts become merged with the Queen's or King's Bench Division.

With the High Court of Justice His Majesty's Court of Appeal forms the Supreme Court of Judicature, and exercises appellate jurisdiction over the former, its decisions being in some cases liable to revision by the House of Lords. Other Central Appellate Jurisdictions are those exercised by the Privy Council and the Court for Crown Cases reserved.

Table 1.

The Side Bar Orders in the Office of the Registrars of the Chancery Division in 1913, numbered 20, as compared with 44 in the year 1912.

It appears from Table 2 (which gives a return of Appeals from County Courts in Equity Civil Bills) that there was one appeal pending at the end of 1912, 6 were filed during the year 1913; of the total (7), 4 were argued before Mr. Justice Barton, and 3 before the Right Hon. Judge Ross, with the following result:—One was affirmed, 3 were dismissed with costs, one was struck out, one was reversed, and one was varied.

The principal proceedings in the Chambers of the Lord Chancellor, the Master of the Rolls, and the Hon. Mr. Justice Barton are shown in the following summary:—

The above statement shows that there was a decrease of 2 in the number of summonses to proceed on Originating Petitions to take minors into wardship, a decrease of 9 in summonses for the administration of estates, an increase of 39 in originating summonses for other purposes, and an increase of 17 in other summonses than to originate proceedings. There was an increase of 3 in Receivers' and Trustees' Accounts passed but a decrease of £7,435 in the receipts therein; there was an increase of 4 in Accounts passed other than Receivers' Accounts, however the receipts diminished by £199,057.

At the termination of the year under review 973 Minors were under the Wardship of the Lord Chancellor. In the preceding year the number was 946, and in the year 1911 it was 908. There were 21 New Minor or Infancy Matters relating to 54 Wards, as compared with 22 of the former and 69 of the latter in the year 1912.

Clerk of Records
Table 4.

A return supplied by the Clerk of Judgments, Records and Writs shows that there were 384 actions by writ of summons, being 35 under the number in 1912 and 2 over that for 1911. The proportion of lower scale to higher scale was as 6 to 94 per cent. The originating summonses (566) were 21 over the number of summonses filed in 1912. In the Notice Department there were 8,116 original documents or one under the number in 1912 and 294 less than the number for 1911; there were 24,451 copies, being 127 under the number in 1912, and 2,286 less than the number for 1911.

Lord
Chancellor's
Secretary.
Table 5.

From Table 5 it appears that the Lord Chancellor made 16 Orders on Petitions as to Commissioners for administering oaths for the High Court of Justice, as compared with 25 made in the year 1912. There were 6 Orders on Petitions as to Notaries, and there were 20 Orders as to other Petitions, including minor Petitions. Warrants for Commissions of the Peace numbered 260, as compared with 288 in 1912 and 348 in 1911. As in the years 1911 and 1912, there were no warrants as to Coroners.

Secretary
at the Rolls.
Table 5.

The Secretary of The Master of the Rolls reports that the Petitions set down for hearing before the Master of the Rolls (included in Table 5) numbered 10, of which 7 were on the higher scale and 3 were on the lower scale.

Crown
and Hanaper
Office
Table 6.

A return of the proceedings made by the Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper Office shows that these for the year 1913 numbered 3,301; this number is an increase of 601 as compared with that for the year 1912, the number in the year under review being increased by the writs issued for the election of Representative Peers by 526.

LAND JUDGE.

Land Judge
Registrar's Returns.
Table 8.

The Registrar makes a return of Judicial Proceedings before the Land Judge for the year ended 1st November, 1913. This return shows that the gross annual value of Estates sold under the Land Judge was £7,172, and the amount of purchase-money of such Estates was £94,274 cash and £35,627 land stock. In the year 1912 the gross annual value of the Estates sold was £10,521, and the amount of purchase-money for such Estates was £143,950 cash, and £33,588 land stock. These sums are the proceeds of the sale of Estates of various classes, that is to say:—Estates which the owner in the matter held in fee-simple or in which he had only a life estate, or other terminable interest, the purchase-moneys in such latter cases only representing the value of the owner's interest. A large proportion of the Estates were sold to the occupying tenants, and in all these cases the purchase-moneys include not only the value of the owner's interest in the Estate, but the value of the superior interest which, under the Land Purchase Acts, it is necessary to redeem so as to vest the fee-simple in the tenants.

Matters in reference to which proceedings were originated before the Land Judge during the year by Petition or statements of facts numbered 20, being 8 under the number that originated in the year ending 1st November, 1912.

A return of the proceedings in the County Courts with regard to the nature and amount of claim and the amount of compensation granted for Malicious Injuries under Section 5 of the Local Government (Ireland) Act 1898, is given in Table 54. From this it appears that for the year 1913 there were 1,080 claims for Malicious Injuries, viz., 3 for Malicious Injury to the Person (all pending at the beginning of the year) and 1,077 to Property (including 59 cases pending at the beginning of the year). In the year 1912 there were 966 claims, and in the year 1911 the claims numbered 1,456.

Of the three claims for Malicious Injury to the Person for hearing, one was in the Province of Munster and two were in Ulster.

Provincially the claims for Malicious Injuries to Property were distributed as follows:—286 in Lenister, 319 in Munster, 355 in Ulster, and 117 in Connaught.

The number of Decrees, and the number of Dismisses, in the cases which were heard during the year 1913, are shown in the following tabular statement:—

Further it may be seen in Table 54 that 70 Claims were disposed of in the year 1913, otherwise than by Decree or Dismiss, and that 56 were pending at the close of the year. The corresponding numbers in the year 1912 were 80 cases so disposed of and 62 pending.

The total amount claimed in cases in which Decrees were made and the amount of compensation granted by the County Court is given in the following summary:—

The proceedings at Land Sessions, under the Landlord and Tenant Act of 1870, is shown in the following comparative summary for the years 1912 and 1913:—

It appears from the statement at foot of the preceding page that there were 11 cases for disposal in the year 1913, being an increase of 6 as compared with the year 1912. The number of such cases in 1911 was 6.

There were seven decrees in 1913 ; one was dismissed, three were otherwise disposed of, and not one was pending at the end of the year 1913.

The total amount claimed in the 7 cases in which decrees were made was £374, and the total amount decreed without deducting allowances for set-off to Landlord for dilapidation, rent, &c., was £28. The cases in which decrees were made in the year 1913 consisted of six in the Province of Leinster, and one in Munster.

COURT OF THE IRISH LAND COMMISSION.

Full information regarding the proceedings and administration under the Irish Land Acts for the year 1913 will be found in the Report presented to Parliament by the Irish Land Commission and the Estates Commissioners.

PROCEEDINGS OF SHERIFFS.

The proceedings of Sheriffs during their year of office, 1912-13, is given in Tables 55 and 57, including those having relation to Jurors summoned and those already referred to on pages 22 and 24.

JURORS.

The lists of Jurors as supplied by Clerks of Unions contained in the year 1913 the names of 172,031 Jurors for the whole of Ireland. Of these 68,323, or almost 40 per cent., were struck off ; and 10 persons added by the Revision Court, all being in the City of Dublin.

In addition to those Jurors who were struck off by the Revision Court there were 247 Jurors exempted by Clerks of the Peace. This gives the total number of Jurors on the corrected General Jurors' Books for 1914 (when handed to the Sheriffs) in all Ireland as 103,467, of whom 62,285 were on rated qualification, 37,045 were £10 freeholders (in the preceding year the number was 39,184), there were 3,596 Leaseholders of £20 ; Directors or Managers of Public Companies 516, and 25 were Harbour Commissioners.

From the Special Jurors' Lists prepared in 1913 it appears that of 14,344 on list 4,532 were struck off by Revision Court, 117 were exempted by the Clerks of the Peace, and 229 persons were added by Revision Court, so that there was a net reduction of 4,420, or about 31 per cent. When handed to the Sheriffs the books showed 9,924 Special Jurors.

Information regarding the proceedings of Sheriffs in summoning Jurors is gathered and contained in Table 57, from which it appears that the total number of Jurors summoned in the year numbered 42,812, as compared with 42,850 in 1912. Of the number for 1913, 4,500 were Grand Jurors* for Assizes, Commissions, and Superior Courts ; 8,578 were Grand Jurors for Quarter Sessions ; 922* were Special Jurors for Assizes, Commissions, and Superior Courts ; 12,771 were Petit and Common Jurors for Assizes, Commissions, and Superior Courts ; 15,057 were Petit Jurors for Quarter Sessions ; 842 were Jurors in Civil Bill cases before County Court Judges or Recorders ; and there were 142 Jurors for other purposes summoned.

The following summary shows the number of Appeals from Magistrates at Quarter Sessions for the year 1913, compared with the number for 1912:—

APPEALS AT QUARTER SESSIONS.	1912.	1913.	Increase, 1913.	Decrease, 1913.
Appeals from Magistrates :—

Otherwise disposed of (including cases in which there was no appearance), . . .	72	74	2	—
Total,	421	369	—	52

* Special Jurors are included with Grand Jurors in the case of Dublin County and Dublin City.

Local Administration of Justice.

The statement at foot of page 25 shows that the number of appeals from Magistrates heard at Quarter Sessions was 52 less than the number in 1912, the number for which year was 20 above that for 1911. Of the appeals heard and decided in Court during 1913, in 136 cases the previous decisions were affirmed, in 97 reversed, in 62 varied, and in 74 "otherwise disposed of" (including cases in which there was no appearance).

SPIRIT LICENCES.

Information regarding the number of licences granted at Quarter Sessions and the Annual Licensing Sessions is also furnished in Table 59. In the year 1913 the total number granted was 2,049. Of this total, 194 were granted or confirmed on original application at Annual Licensing Sessions, 768 were granted at other Quarter Sessions, and 1,087 were granted or confirmed on application for transfer at the Annual Licensing Sessions; the corresponding figures in the year 1912 were 187, 793, and 1,078, making a total of 2,058.

* This deficiency consists of Cash and New Consols appropriated out of the Funds in Court, under the authority of various Acts of Parliament and of a loss (of £7,005 16s. 11d.) arising from a deficiency in the accounts of a former Master of the Court of Chancery in Ireland, provided for by Act 23 & 24 Geo. III. c. 22 (1783), and 30 Geo. III. c. 41 (1790). The Consolidated Fund is liable for the amount of the deficiency, in the event of the funds in Court being at any time insufficient to meet payments to suitors.

† This deficiency, which is uncovered by any formal liability of the Consolidated Fund, is the result of a double payment of £7 2s. 3d. inadvertently made in 1867 by a former Master of the King's Bench Division, and an overpayment of one shilling in 1877, and one penny suspense, Chancery Division.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE T. M'KINNON WOOD, M.P.,

DEPARTMENT OF PRISONS AND JUDICIAL STATISTICS, 11 RUTLAND SQUARE,
EDINBURGH, 6th November 1913.

SIR,

We have the honour to submit the Report on the Judicial Statistics of Scotland for the year 1912, the arrangement of which is similar to that of previous years.

We regret to have to report a general increase in Crime which is most marked in Assaults, Theft, Theft by Housebreaking, Indecency and in Minor Crimes and Offences principally Breach of Peace and Drunkenness.

We again think it right to direct special attention to the large number of persons committed to Prison in Scotland in default of payment of fines, viz. 36,631 out of a total of 89,013 sentenced to pay fines.

From these figures it appears that in Scotland 41 per cent. of those sentenced to pay fines are admitted into prison in default of payment, but of these 11 per cent. pay part fines after admission, leaving 30 per cent. who undergo entire sentence of imprisonment in default.

From the Report on the Judicial Statistics of England it would appear that only 14 per cent. of those sentenced to pay a fine go to prison and serve the full sentence in default.

This appears to indicate that the fines imposed in Scotland are as a rule excessive and out of proportion to the means of the persons fined. In the year 1912, £48,000 was paid by offenders as fines and forfeited pledges, most of the offenders belonging to a class little able to afford such an expenditure.

The Commissioners continue to believe that were greater care taken to assess fines on a basis which would bring them within the reach of offenders the number going to prison in default would be greatly reduced, and whilst the total amount received from fines, most of which goes in aid of local rates, might perhaps be less, the saving to the State in the cost of imprisonment which falls on the Government would be very considerable and the sentence which presumably was intended for one of fine would be more generally carried out.

The numbers sentenced to Borstal treatment at Polmont and Jessiefield Institutions under the Prevention of Crime Act, 1908, Part I., were 97 males and 6 females, shewing that in many places this part of the Act is being taken advantage of.

The number sentenced to Preventive Detention under Part II. of the foregoing Act was during the year only 7 as compared with 21 in 1911 and 41 in 1910. The large decline in these figures appears to indicate that the intention of this part of the Act with regard to the detention of Habitual Criminals is not being carried out and that the Act may require amendment.

The Probation of Offenders Act 1907 was made use of in only 3730 instances, including cases in Juvenile Courts. This is an increase on the figure of the previous year which is so far satisfactory but still leaves much to be desired. As there is good reason to believe that a properly worked probation system sensibly reduces the necessity for sentences of imprisonment, we again venture to suggest that it is very desirable that inquiry should be made into the administration of this Act in Scotland.

We have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your very obedient Servants,

W. G. SCOTT, Chairman.
JAMES DEVON.
CHRISTOPHER N. JOHNSTON.
W. S. HALDANE.

INTRODUCTION TO THE CRIMINAL STATISTICS FOR THE YEAR 1912.

The total number of persons dealt with in Criminal Courts for Crimes and Offences in the year 1912 was 162,886, an increase of 7349 or 4·7 per cent. on the total number for the previous year which was 155,537. With the exception of Malicious Mischief and Forgery the increase is found in all classes of crime but it is most noticeable in Crimes against Property without violence and in the Minor Offences of which Class VII. is composed. The number proceeded against for Drunkenness and Breach of Peace included in this class usually determines any increase or decrease in the total of Crimes and Offences for the year and the year of Report is no exception. The rise under these heads amounts to about three-fifths of the whole increase.

With regard to Serious Crime shewn in Classes I. to VI. the total number of persons proceeded against in 1912 was 26,949 an increase of 2217 or nearly 9 per cent. on the figure for the previous year which was 24,732.

In Class I. (Crimes against the person) the rise occurs almost entirely in Assaults—largely Assaults by Husbands on Wives—and Cruel and Unnatural Treatment of Children.

In Class II. (Crimes against property with violence) the dominant feature is Theft by Housebreaking in which there is a rise of nearly 13 per cent. Theft by opening lockfast places though less prominent in numbers shews a rise of 21 per cent. It is satisfactory to record, however, that there is a fall of over 30 per cent. in the number of persons proceeded against for Robbery which is also included in Class II.

In Class III. (Crimes against property without violence) Theft is the ruling factor. In 1912 there were 13,502 persons proceeded against for this Crime, compared with 12,072 in 1911, an increase of 1430 equal to say 12 per cent. Although Theft is necessarily classified as Serious Crime it may be observed that a great number of thefts are of a petty nature and the offenders are merely admonished or punished by a small fine or short term of imprisonment.

In Classes IV. to VI. there are slight decreases in Malicious Mischief and Forgery, etc., but an increase in Indecent Exposure, which exceeded the figure of the previous year by 309 persons proceeded against, equal to an increase of over 40 per cent.

Amongst the Minor Offences of Class VII. Vagrancy and Trespass Acts Offences shew a decrease of about 24 per cent. as compared with 1911 probably due to weather conditions unfavourable to vagrancy.

The following eight diagrams shew at a glance the rise and fall in the number of persons proceeded against over a series of 16 years for the various classes of Crime.

DIAGRAM VIII.

Miscellaneous offences, including drunkenness, disorder, and Police Act offences, etc., etc., etc.
(year 1912, 135,937).

Over two-thirds of the persons who appear under Miscellaneous Offences, included in Diagram VIII., were dealt with for Drunkenness and Breach of the Peace. The following Table shews the numbers proceeded against for these offences in each of the years from 1897 to 1912. It will be seen that the increase referred to in the Report for 1911 persists, but the number is happily still far below the high level of the year 1907.

No capital sentence was passed in the year 1912.

The number sentenced to Penal Servitude was 98, viz. 95 males and 3 females, the lowest number recorded since 1906. In 1911 there were 118 males and 4 females. Of those sentenced in 1912 only 24 were not registered as habitual criminals either in England or in Scotland under the Act of 1871. Of these 12 were convicted of Sexual Crime and 4 of Culpable Homicide. The remaining 8 were convicted of Fraud, Forgery, etc., 7 being free of previous convictions, and one had merely a minor previous conviction.

Keeping in view that the average total number sentenced to Penal Servitude for the five years ended 1911 is 130, against 98 sentenced in 1912, it is noticeable that whilst the number sentenced to three years Penal Servitude in 1912 is proportionally much below the five years average the number sentenced to four and five years in 1912 is considerably above that average. It would appear from this that there is a tendency to inflict severer sentences as a deterrent from Crime.

Notwithstanding that over 75 per cent. of the persons sentenced to Penal Servitude were registered as Habitual Criminals it is surprising to find that in only seven cases sentences of Preventive Detention six of which were for the minimum period of five years were imposed in addition to the sentence of Penal Servitude. Compared with previous years the numbers sentenced to Preventive Detention stand $\frac{1910}{41}$ $\frac{1911}{21}$ $\frac{1912}{7}$. The large decline in the foregoing figures appears to indicate that offenders have now found means to evade the provisions as to Habitual Criminals in Part II. of the Prevention of Crime Act, 1908, and that it may require amendment if this method of treatment is to be operative.

The number of persons dealt with under the Probation of Offenders Act 1907 was 3730. The average number so dealt with in the previous three years was 3048. This is a slight improvement but the number is very small when it is remembered that this includes cases disposed of in Juvenile Courts, and when it is compared with the enormous total of 88,924 persons sentenced in Summary Courts to pay fines. Probation properly administered is by many considered to afford a very valuable alternative to the imposition of a fine which too often cannot be paid and results in imprisonment for the first time. First imprisonment should by all possible means be avoided, as short sentences do not deter but only habituate to prison life, which is no longer dreaded and is too often returned to.

Probation orders were made in terms of Sec. 2 of the Probation of Offenders Act 1907, in the cases of 2063 persons as against 1577 in 1911, and the number of these who appeared for sentence during the year after release on probation order was 275, of whom 196 were discharged or otherwise disposed of, 63 were imprisoned, 11 were dealt with for fresh offences, and 5 were sent to Reformatory and Industrial Schools or Places of Detention.

Out of 260 persons of foreign nationality received into prisons during the year only 28 were recommended for expulsion from the United Kingdom under the Aliens Act 1905.

The number of persons proceeded against after full committal in the year 1912 was 1533 as compared with 1401 in the year 1911, a rise of 132. This rise has occurred chiefly in the Crimes of Theft and Assault.

The total number of persons committed to prison during the year was 48,294 as compared with 46,594 in 1911, a rise of 1700. The increase is traced principally to short sentences, i.e. of periods not exceeding 14 days.

The number of persons received into prison under sentence of imprisonment was 9043 and the number received in default of payment of fines was 37,065. These figures stand in the ratio 1 to 4 approximately.

Of the persons dealt with in Summary Courts we find that 88,924 persons were sentenced in 1912 to pay fines as compared with 83,729 in the year 1911. In 1912, 49,853 paid before imprisonment being 56 per cent. of the whole as compared with 55.6 per cent. who paid in 1911 and 54 per cent. in 1910. Allowing for a small number otherwise accounted for, this means that in 1912, 41 per cent. of the number of persons sentenced to pay fines went to prison. It may be added that 11 per cent. paid part fines after imprisonment and were liberated, leaving 30 per cent. who served the full sentence in default. This compares very unfavourably with 14 per cent. received into prison in England who served their full sentences in default of payment of fines.

The sums received for fines paid and pledges forfeited in the Summary Courts amounted to £47,987 as against £44,552 in the year 1911.

The Table dealing with Borstal Institutions provided under Part I. Prevention of Crime Act 1908, has been revised and now shews receptions into and discharges from Polmont and Jessiefield Institutions which have been provided for these cases. The total receptions during the year numbered 101 males and 7 females. Of these 99 males and 7 females were committed under Sec. 1 of the Act, and 2 males were transferred from Prisons under Sec. 3.

The number of persons dealt with in Juvenile Courts was 11,349 as compared with 10,761 in 1911. The principal offences with which they were charged were Theft 3842, Theft by Housebreaking 523, Malicious Mischief 2375, Police Act Offences 1841, Breach of the Peace 852, and obstructions and nuisances under the Road Acts 750.

A new Table No. XXXVII. appears this year shewing particulars regarding persons received into Places of Detention provided by Police Authorities under Sec. 108 of the Children Act 1908, as substitutes for Police Stations and Prisons for the confinement of children and young persons in certain cases as indicated in Sec. 94 of the Act. The total number of juveniles received into places provided by Counties was 53, and by Burghs 569. In the year 1911 the figures were respectively 73 and 407.

The total number of youthful offenders committed to Reformatory Schools in the year 1912 was 187, viz. 166 males, 21 females, which is normal. The principal offences for which they were committed were Theft and Theft by Housebreaking.

There is a decrease in the number of persons committed to Industrial Schools but it is very slight. The numbers received were 614 boys, 267 girls, total 881. There were found wandering 293 boys, 131 girls, charged with punishable offences 182 boys, and 13 girls, and cases in which the parents or guardians were of criminal or drunken habits, 48 boys, 61 girls.

The number admitted to Day Industrial Schools was 429 boys, 274 girls, total 703, almost identical with the total for 1911.

The number of persons received into Certified Inebriate Reformatories during the year, was 34, viz. 7 males and 27 females. The numbers in the year 1911 were 1 male, 25 females. Greenock House of Refuge was the only Reformatory in addition to the State Inebriate Reformatory at Perth to which committals were made during the year. There were 12 females received into Greenock Reformatory of whom 4 were tried on indictment and 8 summarily.

The State Inebriate Reformatory received from Courts 7 males, 15 females as compared with 1 male, 6 females last year. In addition 1 male, 3 females were received on transfer from other Reformatories.

At the end of the year 1912 there remained in confinement 67 persons as under. In Seabank Home, Aberdeen, 4 females; in Greenock House of Refuge, 28 females; and in the State Inebriate Reformatory at Perth, 9 males, 26 females. It will be seen that the powers conferred by the Inebriates Acts are very little exercised.

The number of persons received into the Criminal Lunatic Department at Perth during the year was 26, viz. 19 males, 7 females. Of these 8 males and 3 females were placed at H.M. disposal, 10 males and 3 females were received from prisons, they having been certified to be insane, and 1 male, 1 female who had been conditionally liberated were re-admitted. The total number of Criminal Lunatics detained in the Criminal Lunatic Department at the 31st December was 56, viz. 50 males and 6 females.

The Prerogative of Mercy was exercised in 47 cases, 39 of which were males and 8 females. In addition 27 males and 11 females were removed from Prisons, and 5 males, 1 female from Borstal Institutions under Sheriffs' Warrants granted in terms of Sec. 72 of the Prisons Scotland Act, 1860.

The following lists show the relative number per 10,000 of the population of persons proceeded against for Drunkenness and Disorder in the various Counties and Burghs for purposes of local comparison

Notes to General Returns of Crimes and Offences, &c. (Tables I. to III.).

Table I., &c.

(a.) Where similar particulars are shown under the classifications of Crimes and Offences and Counties and Burghs, the Tables giving the figures under the classification of Crimes and Offences are printed first, Counties and Burghs afterwards.

(b.) Column 1.—The titles of crimes and offences are condensed. The fuller titles, and the crimes and offences comprised under each sub-head, will be found on pages 21 to 30. This note also applies to the respective columns in Tables III., IV., V., VI., IX., X., XI., and XII.

(c.) Column 2, "Number of Crimes and Offences made known to Police in 1912."—This column includes all crimes and offences made known to the police during the year, whether committed by the same or different persons, and whether any apprehension took place within the year or not. Offences reported to the police, and subsequently discovered not to have occurred (such as the loss of personal property afterwards found to have been mislaid), are not included.

(d.) If there is a committal or conviction within the year, the table shows the nature of the crime as judicially determined. Failing this, the charge which is named in the petition or warrant on which the prisoner is arrested is taken as determining the crime. If there are no proceedings and no apprehension, the character of the crime is judged by the facts so far as known to the police.

(e.) In columns 4 to 27 the number of persons proceeded against is given, not the number of crimes and offences. Where, therefore, any person is charged at the same time with several offences, one of these has to be selected for tabulation. The rule followed is to select that offence for which the proceedings were carried to the furthest stage. If there were several convictions, the offence selected is that for which the heaviest punishment was awarded. If the final result of proceedings on two or more charges is the same, the more serious offence appears in the tables.

(f.) All the tables are for the calendar year ending 31st December, and include only persons finally disposed of within the year. Where a case is pending at the end of the year (e.g. tried but sentence postponed) it is reserved for inclusion in the following year's tables.

(g.) Column 5 includes all cases disposed of without committal "till liberated in due course of law." Cases reported for the instructions of Crown Counsel are therefore strictly excluded from this column. They appear in column 16, which, on the other hand, is limited to cases where a committal "till liberated in due course of law" has taken place.

(h.) In column 8 are included cases in which, although the prisoner may not have been tried, a simple liberation did not follow, such as naval and military prisoners remitted to their ships or regiments for trial, and juveniles who, having absconded from reformatory or industrial schools and been arrested by the police, were sent back to school without further punishment.

(i.) Columns 16 and 23 include sentences to detention in a reformatory school, sentences to find caution, cases where only an admonition followed on conviction, and column 23 cases dealt with on indictment under the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907.

(j.) Column 21 contains all cases where, after full committal, the accused was not brought up for trial.

(k.) Column 27 includes all cases called for trial where the accused was found insane, either on trial or at the time of committing the offence.

Table II.

(l.) The burghs contained in this Table are those in which Police Courts are held either under the Burgh Police Act, 1892, or under local Police Acts. This note also applies to Tables VI., VII., and VIII.

(m.) Notes (c) to (k) above apply to this Table. Where particular columns are referred to, it will be noticed that the numbering is somewhat different in this Table.

Table III.

(n.) Note (e) above applies to this Table. The figures here are the total apprehensions and citations in each month of the year, without reference to the number disposed of in each month.

Notes to Tables of Summary Proceedings (Tables IV. to XII.).

Table IV.

(a.) Where similar particulars are shown under the classifications of Crimes and Offences and Counties and Burghs, the Tables giving the figures under the classification of Crimes and Offences are printed first, Counties and Burghs afterwards.

(b.) Tables IV., VI., and VII. include cases disposed of without being brought before a Court, such as liberations by the police on account of insufficient evidence, &c.

(c.) The list of crimes and offences is similar to that in Table I. (see note (b) on page 30). This applies also to Tables V., VI., IX., X., XI., and XII.

(d.) The Table shows the number of persons proceeded against, not the number of offences. Where, therefore, any person is prosecuted at the same time for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation, and the rules followed are the same as in the foregoing tables (see note (e) page 30).

(e.) As in Table I., the titles of the offences are condensed. For the offences under each head see pages 21 to 30.

(f.) The Tables are for the calendar year ending 31st December, and include only persons finally disposed of within the year. Cases not entirely disposed of at the end of the year are held over for the following year's tables.

(g.) From Tables IV. to X. are excluded cases where the accused has been fully committed till liberated in due course of law although afterwards ordered by Crown Counsel to be disposed of by the Sheriff summarily. Such cases are included in Part III. of these statistics.

(h.) Column 2.—The numbers here agree with those of column 5 of Table I.

(i.) Columns 11, 12 and 13 include persons dealt with under the Probation of Offenders Act 1907.

(j.) Column 13 includes persons placed under a bond with conditions as to supervision.

(k.) Column 14 includes only those committals to industrial schools where an offence is charged—i.e. committals under section 58 (2) and (3) of the Children Act, 1908. Committals to industrial schools, where the proceedings are not criminal, appear in Table XXXIV.

(l.) Column 17 does not include terms of imprisonment in default of paying fines or of finding sureties.

(m.) Column 19 includes all cases where a fine is imposed, whether it is paid or not. The number of persons committed to prison in default of paying fines is given in Table XXI.

(n.) Column 20 contains cases of persons ordered to be detained in Inebriate Reformatories under the Inebriates' Acts, 1879 to 1898, and Licensing (Scotland) Act, 1903.

(o.) Column 21 contains all cases of persons sentenced to Reformatory School detention, whether they are actually admitted to a Reformatory or not. Details as to cases actually received into Reformatories are given in Table XXX.

(p.) Column 23 includes all cases where the accused is ordered to find caution, whether with or without sureties.

(q.) Columns 26 to 31 are for those cases where more than one punishment is imposed for the same offence. Thus, if a person convicted of drunkenness is sentenced to be imprisoned and to be detained in a certified inebriate reformatory, the imprisonment appears in column 17, the inebriate reformatory detention in column 26.

(r.) Column 32 contains those cases in column 16 in which the accused was convicted in absence.

Table V.

(s.) Table V. gives the particulars of the sentences of imprisonment and fines imposed—shown in Table IV., cols. 17 and 19.

(t.) Column 22 includes all fines paid within the year, whether imposed within the year or in a previous year.

(u.) Column 23 contains the amount of all pledges forfeited during the year, whether received within the year or not.

(v.) Column 27 gives the number of persons who were dealt with by Juvenile Courts.

Table VI.

(w.) The burghs contained in this Table are those in which Police Courts are held, either under the Burgh Police Act, 1892, or under local Police Acts.

Table VII.

(x.) The totals of Table VII. correspond with those of Table IV., but Table VII. gives the information under counties and burghs, Table IV. under crimes and offences.

Table VIII.

(y.) Table VIII. gives the particulars of sentences of imprisonment, and of fines imposed on persons—shown in Table VII., cols. 18 and 20.

Table IX.

(z.) Children who have not completed their twelfth year are regarded as under 12, and are entered in column 3. Column 4 includes all persons who have completed 12 years, but not 14 years, and similarly with the other columns.

Table XI.

(aa.) Table XI. gives particulars of the disposal of persons who appeared for sentence after release on Probation Order, Probation of Offenders Act, 1907.

PART III.

PROCEEDINGS AFTER FULL COMMITTAL.

PERSONS COMMITTED TILL LIBERATED IN DUE COURSE OF LAW.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICIARY

AND

SHERIFF COURTS (AFTER FULL COMMITTAL).

(TABLES XIII. to XIX.)

Notes to Tables of Proceedings after Full Committal (Tables XIII. to XIX.).

Table XIII.

(a.) From the list of crimes and offences in column 1, the detailed offences in Class VII. in Parts I. and II. are excluded, as these are chiefly disposed of before Summary Courts.

(b.) In this Table the number of persons proceeded against is given, not the number of crimes or charges. A person charged at the same time with several offences appears as one person only. In selecting the offence for tabulation the same principle is followed as in the preceding Tables—the charge resulting in conviction has preference to the others; subject to this, the most serious charge is selected. If there are two or more convictions, that for which the heaviest sentence is inflicted is regarded as the most serious. This also applies to Tables XIV. to XIX.

(c.) As in the preceding Tables, Tables XIII. to XIX. include only cases disposed of within the year. Cases pending at the end of the year are reserved for inclusion in the following year's Tables.

(d.) Where a person is prosecuted for one offence and convicted of another (e.g. committed for murder and convicted of culpable homicide) the case appears only under the offence of which he was convicted.

(e.) In Tables XIII. to XIX. are included cases where the accused has been fully committed till liberated in due course of law, although afterwards ordered by Crown Counsel to be disposed of by the Sheriff summarily. Such cases are therefore excluded from Part II. of these statistics.

(f.) Column 2.—The numbers here correspond with those in column 17 of Table I.

(g.) Column 10 does not include sentences of imprisonment in default of payment of fine, or in default of finding sureties.

(h.) Column 13 includes all cases where payment of a fine is imposed as the sentence or part of the sentence, whether the fine is actually paid or not.

(i.) Column 14 includes cases ordered to be detained in a State Inebriate Reformatory under the Inebriates Acts, 1879–1898.

(j.) Column 17 includes cases where caution is required, whether with or without sureties, and, if sureties are required, whether they are found or not.

(k.) Columns 18 and 19 include persons released under Probation of Offenders Act 1907: column 18 on bond promising good behaviour, and column 19 on bond with conditions as to supervision.

(l.) Columns 26 to 30 are for those cases where more than one punishment is imposed for the same offence. Thus, if a person convicted of theft is sentenced to be imprisoned and ordered to find caution, the imprisonment appears in column 10, the caution in column 29.

Table XIV.

(m.) Table XIV. gives the particulars of the sentences to penal servitude and imprisonment shown in Table XIII. cols. 9 and 10.

Table XV.

(n.) The period is calculated in all cases from the date on which the accused is committed till liberated in due course of law. In the case of persons who plead guilty at a pleading diet, the period ends on that day; where a plea of guilty is not tendered at a pleading diet, the period ends on the day of trial. Portions of a week are ignored.

Table XVI.

(o.) The counties in this Table, as regards areas and boundaries, are the geographical counties, including Burghs and Police Burghs, as well as the landward areas administered by the County Councils, except in the cases of Edinburgh, Glasgow, Dundee, and Aberdeen, which, being counties of cities, are shown separately. The numbers relative to these four cities are excluded from the counties in which they are geographically situated.

Table XVII.

(p.) Although a case may have been disposed of beyond the county in which the offence was committed, the entry is retained against that county.

(q.) The headings of columns 2 to 25, inclusive, are similar to the headings of columns 2 to 25 of Table XIII.

Notes to Prison Tables (Tables XX. to XXVIII.).

Table XX.

(a.) This Table deals with the total number of prisoners received into and released or removed from prisons in 1912. They appear according to the prisons of last detention, i.e. the prisons from which they were released or removed, or in which they were confined at 31st December 1912.

(b.) Columns 6 and 29, "Civil Prisoners," include prisoners,—

1. For debts and taxes due to the Crown, not being fines or penalties inflicted on conviction of offences, and for rates and assessments lawfully imposed or to be imposed;
2. On meditatione fugæ warrants;
3. Ad factum præstandum;
4. Under the Employers and Workmen Act, 1875; and
5. Until they find caution under Writs of Lawburrows.

Tables XXI. to XXVII.

(c.) In these Tables the total number of convicted prisoners received during the year is dealt with. The total entry of each of these Tables therefore agrees with the total of columns 2 and 3 of Table XX.

Table XXII.

(d.) In dealing with consecutive and concurrent sentences in this Table, the number of persons entered is determined by the number of separate and distinct warrants received with the prisoner. Two sentences passed at the same time and ordered to run consecutively appearing on the same warrant are treated as one sentence equal in length to the two added together; in the case of concurrent sentences, the longer only is given.

(e.) Cases in which Preventive Detention is imposed in addition to the sentences of penal servitude shown in column 3 are given in column 14.

(f.) Cases of revocation or forfeiture of licence in which a remanet is to be served in addition to new sentences of penal servitude or imprisonment, are shown in column 15 according to length of remanet. The penal servitude or imprisonment sentence is shown separately either in column 3 or 5.

NOTES TO TABLE.

Col. 1.—REMISSION of Detention in a Reformatory applies only to cases where the whole sentence to a Reformatory has been remitted. Ordinary discharges from Reformatory Schools are given in Table XXXI.

“REMANET.”—When a convict is released on licence he is liable, if again convicted, or if his licence is revoked, to undergo a term of penal servitude equal to the portion of his original sentence unexpired at the time of his release. This is known as a “Remanet.”

Col. 3.—Includes pardons or remissions on account of fresh evidence establishing prisoner's innocence, or showing reasonable doubt as to guilt, or altering the view taken as to the nature or gravity of the offence.

Col. 6.—In addition to the above cases discharged on “medical grounds,” e.g., persons whose lives were endangered by imprisonment, women near their confinement who, if longer detained, would not have been fit for discharge at the expiration of their sentence, persons discharged for removal to hospitals for infectious diseases, &c., 27 males and 11 females were similarly removed from prisons and 5 males and 1 female from Borstal Institutions, under Sheriff's Warrant granted in terms of sec. 72 of the Prisons (Scotland) Act, 1860, on the ground that they were afflicted with a contagious or infectious disease which rendered their removal necessary for the health of the other inmates of the prison, or that they were afflicted with a disease which threatened immediate danger to life and could not be treated in prison, or that from their condition continued confinement would cause death. Where the medical condition of the prisoner formed only a part of the ground for the exercise of the prerogative, the cases are tabulated under other heads.

Col. 7.—Comprises all cases where the mitigation granted does not imply any alteration of the view taken by the Court as to the prisoner's guilt or the nature and gravity of his offence; but where weight is given, with or without a recommendation from the judge or magistrate, to such extenuating circumstances as youth, provocation, mental disturbance, &c.; also cases where remission is granted for reasons not before the Court, or where a short remission enables a prisoner to avail himself of some special opportunity of making a new start in life.

TO THE CIVIL COURT STATISTICS FOR THE YEAR 1912.

INTRODUCTION TO THE CIVIL COURT STATISTICS FOR THE YEAR 1912.

There are no changes in the character of the information given in the Tables forming the Civil Portion of the Statistics in this Report.

The outstanding feature of the Civil Courts is the enormous increase in Miscellaneous and Administrative business dealt with in the Sheriff Court under the heads "Dogs' Acts" and "Workmen's Compensation Acts," in the former case owing to the operation of the Dogs' Act, 1906, Sec. 8 d. which deals with applications for certificates of exemption from License Duty on and after 1st January 1912.

There is also an increase in the business before the J.P. Small Debt Court. It shows a rise of 16 per cent. on the average number of cases before this Court in the 5 years 1907-11.

The business disposed of by the "Extra Division" appointed by the Lords of Council and Session by Acts of Sederunt is shewn in the Tables of the Inner House of the Court of Session.

A comparative view of the business before the Scottish Civil Courts in the last 20 years follows this introduction.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

TABLE I.

The House of Lords is the ultimate Court of Appeal in all civil causes. Appeals are competent from decisions of the Inner House of the Court of Session and from the Court of Teinds, but they are not competent from interlocutory judgments except with the leave of the Court pronouncing the judgment, or if there has been a difference of opinion among the Judges.

Appeals from decisions of the Court of Session before the House of Lords in the year 1912 numbered 29. The number in the preceding year was 37. Of these 9 were disposed of by judgment, 9 were withdrawn, etc., leaving 11 undisposed of at the end of the year. The effect of the judgments of the House of Lords was to affirm the decisions of the Court below in 5 cases and reverse them in 4.

THE COURT OF SESSION.

TABLES II. to XV.

The Court of Session is the Supreme Civil Court of Scotland. It consists of thirteen Judges, viz., the Lord President, who is also Lord Justice-General of Scotland, the Lord Justice-Clerk, and eleven other Judges. It is divided into an Outer and an Inner House.

The Outer House consists of five Judges of first instance, called Lords Ordinary, who sit separately, and whose decisions may in such cases be brought under the review of the Inner House by a Reclaiming Note. The Lords Ordinary try matters of fact either by proof, i.e. evidence taken before themselves without a jury, or by presiding over a trial by jury. To the Junior Lord Ordinary many special matters of an administrative character (detailed in Table IV.) are assigned.

The Inner House sits in two Divisions, the first consisting of the Lord President and three other Judges, the second of the Lord Justice-Clerk and three other Judges. These Divisions have equal powers. They sit as Courts of Appeal from the decisions of the Judges of the Outer House. They also review the decisions of all Inferior Civil Courts, unless where such review is expressly excluded by statute. They exercise original jurisdiction in certain cases. There are sittings for trial by jury in the Inner House, when the presiding Judge is either the Lord President, Lord Justice-Clerk, or one of the Judges of either Division. An Appeal lies to the House of Lords from the final judgment of either Division. No Appeal lies from interlocutory judgments, unless leave is given, or unless there has been a division of opinion at pronouncing the judgment.

By the Criminal Procedure Act of 1887, sect. 44, all the Judges of the Court of Session are Lords Commissioners of Justiciary.

OUTER HOUSE.

TABLES II. to VII.

The total number of Actions before the Court was 2343 a decrease of 116 upon the average for the 5 years 1907-11. Of these 1493 were disposed of by final judgment, 212 were taken out of Court, and 638 were left undisposed of at the end of the year.

The nature of the 1493 Actions disposed of by final judgment is shewn in Table III. The bulk were Actions relating to Personal Debt, to Marriage, Divorce and Separation, and Damages. There were disposed of by Decree in Absence 501 cases, and by Decree in foro 992. Of those disposed of by Decree in foro judgment was given for Pursuer in 568 cases, for Defender in 415, while 9 were mixed judgments.

Table V. shews that of the Actions disposed of by final judgment no evidence was led in Court in 1122 cases, proof was taken in 343, and in 28 Actions there was trial by jury.

In Table IV. is given an analysis of the 439 Petitions under Miscellaneous and Administrative business dealt with by the Judges of the Outer House as entered in Table III. The average number for the five years 1907–11 was 546. The principal Items are: Petitions in regard to Factors, Curators, etc., 299; Petitions under Trust Acts, 1867–1891, 56; and Petitions under Entail Acts, 47.

Table VI. deals with Divorce and Separation. Judgment was given in 260 cases, viz. for Divorce on Account of Adultery 128, on Account of Desertion 125, and for Separation and Aliment 7. Table VII. gives the occupation of the Pursuer in these Actions.

INNER HOUSE.

TABLES VIII. TO XV.

FIRST AND SECOND DIVISIONS.

The total number of Actions before the Inner House was 904, a decrease of 80 on the average number for the 5 years ended 1911. First Division cases numbered 493, including 15 disposed of by the Extra Division, and 411 were before the Second Division. Of these 506 were disposed of by final judgment, viz. 252 by the First Division and 254 by the Second Division.

Table IX. shews the nature of the 506 Actions disposed of by final judgment and how they were brought into the Inner House. There were initiated in the Inner House 323 Actions; 69 were brought in from the Outer House by Reclaiming Note; 93 were brought on appeal from the Sheriff Court; 18 by notice for trial by jury, 16 being from the Outer House and 2 from Sheriff Courts, and the remaining 3 from the Bill Chamber and Dean of Guild Court.

Table XI. shews the procedure followed and the result of proceedings in these Actions.

The Miscellaneous and Administrative business given as the last item in Table IX. is analysed in Table X. The Petitions numbered 283.

Table XII. deals with the 69 Appeals brought from the Outer House by Reclaiming Note, and disposed of in the Inner House. The decision of the Lord Ordinary was adhered to in 41 cases, reversed in 27, and altered in 1.

Table XIII. shews the nature of the Actions in Table XII.

The 93 Appeals from the Sheriff Courts are shewn in Table XIV. with the following results. In 53 cases the decision of the Sheriff was adhered to, in 39 it was reversed, and in 1 altered.

Table XV. shews the nature of the 93 Actions appealed which principally related to Damages and Personal Debt.

EXTRA DIVISION.

Under the Powers conferred by 31 and 32 Vict. Cap. 100, Sec. 106, and by the Act of Sederunt of 20th March 1907, the Court of Session during the year appointed three Judges, viz. Lord Kinnear, Lord Dundas and Lord Mackenzie, to sit as a Court for the hearing and disposal of causes standing on the rolls of the First Division. The additional Division of the Inner House so appointed is known as the Extra Division.

The Court disposed of 15 Actions, i.e. by final judgment 11, 6 of these being Reclaiming Notes from the Outer House, in 5 of which the decision of the Lord Ordinary was adhered to and in 1 reversed.

There were also 2 Appeals from Sheriff Courts in both of which the decision of the Sheriff was reversed, and 3 cases were initiated in the Inner House. The remaining 4 Actions were taken out of Court, otherwise than by final judgment. The figures for the Extra Division are included in those of the First Division throughout the Tables, but in Table VIII. supplementary figures are given in italics to indicate the business disposed of by this Court.

COURT FOR THE TRIAL OF ELECTION PETITIONS.

TABLE XVI.

Petitions complaining of undue return or undue election of a Member of Parliament are presented to either Division of the Court of Session, and the trial takes place before two Judges, called Election Judges, placed annually on the rota for that purpose. These Judges report their finding to the Speaker of the House of Commons.

There were no Petitions in the year 1912.

REGISTRATION APPEAL COURT.

TABLE XVII.

By the Representation of the People Act 1868, a Court was constituted for hearing Appeals from the judgments of the Sheriffs in the Registration Courts for Counties and Burghs in regard to the making up of the list of persons qualified to vote for Members of Parliament. The Court consists of three Judges of the Court of Session—one from each Division of the Court, and one of the Lords Ordinary. The decision of this Court is declared final and not subject to review.

During the year 2 Appeals were disposed of, in both of which the judgment of the Sheriff was affirmed.

VALUATION APPEAL COURT.

TABLE XVIII.

A separate Court, consisting of two Judges of the Court of Session, named from time to time by Act of Sederunt, sits for the purpose of hearing Appeals in regard to the valuation of lands and heritages. Valuation Rolls for the lands and heritages of the whole of Scotland (except railways and canals) are made up by Assessors of Counties and Burghs respectively, and from the Assessor an Appeal lies, in the first instance, in Burghs to the Magistrates, and in Counties to a Statutory Valuation Committee appointed by the County Council. From the decision of either of these bodies an Appeal, in the form of a Stated Case, lies to the Valuation Appeal Court, whose judgment is final, there being no Appeal either to the Court of Session or House of Lords.

The valuation of railways, canals, and certain other public undertakings, is conducted by a special Assessor, and an Appeal from him lies to the Sheriff of the County where the subjects lie in one County, and to the Bill Chamber of the Court of Session where they lie in more than one.

The Appeals disposed of during the year numbered 29. Of these 2 were taken by the assessor, 1 decision appealed against being sustained and the other varied. The remaining 27 were taken by other parties. In 12 of these cases the decisions appealed against were sustained, and in 14 varied, whilst 1 appeal was withdrawn.

BILL CHAMBER OF THE COURT OF SESSION.

TABLE XIX.

The Bill Chamber is a branch of the Court of Session which deals specially with matters requiring great dispatch, and sits without vacation during the whole year. In time of session the Junior Lord Ordinary officiates as Lord Ordinary on the Bills, i.e. summary applications; and during vacation he and other Judges officiate in turn, so that there is always a Judge available to dispose of such matters. An Appeal lies to either Division of the Inner House by Reclaiming Note from the Lord Ordinary on the Bills, whether in vacation or session, but such Appeals are heard only in session.

The number of applications before the Court was 197 as against 240, the average number for the 5 years ended 1911. The bulk of the proceedings were for Suspensions, Interdicts and Liberations and Petitions for Sequestration. Of the total applications 138 were granted by the Lord Ordinary and 40 were refused. Five applications were otherwise taken out of Court, in three no further action is anticipated, leaving 11 pending undisposed of at the end of the year.

Proceedings transmitted to the Outer House numbered 22, and 7 were disposed of in absence. The number of Notices of Appeal and Reclaiming Notes of all kinds to the Inner House was 11. The clerk of the bills disposed of 332 Writs during the year, a considerable decrease on the average number for the 5 years ending 1911 which was 460.

COURT OF TEINDS.

TABLES XX. AND XXI.

The Teind (or Tithe) Court consists of Judges of the Inner House of the Court of Session, together with the Lord Ordinary on Teinds, who is the second Junior Lord Ordinary, any five (including the Lord Ordinary) being a quorum. The Court deals with augmentations of stipend where there are free teinds in a parish. It also deals with the feuing of glebes, the erection of new parishes, and various other kindred matters. An Appeal lies from the Court of Teinds to the House of Lords.

The number of Actions before the Court of Teinds and the Lord Ordinary on Teinds were respectively 34 and 33, the average for the preceding 5 years being 34 and 47. Twenty-four applications were disposed of by the Court of Teinds and 11 by the Lord Ordinary, all being granted. The remits from the Teind Court to the Lord Ordinary on Teinds numbered 10 of which 9 were Actions for Augmentation of Stipends and 1 was a petition to feu Glebes.

SHERIFFS' ORDINARY COURTS.

TABLES XXII. TO XXVIII.

The Sheriffs' Ordinary Court is the chief local Civil Court of each County. The presiding Judge is either the Sheriff or Sheriff-Substitute. There are fifteen Sheriffs, one Sheriff having frequently jurisdiction over two or more Counties, which then constitute a single Sheriffdom. There are fifty Sheriffs-Substitute, and Courts are held in 57 towns, each with a rural district attached. In the Sheriffs' Ordinary Court there is an Appeal from the Sheriff-Substitute to the Sheriff; an Appeal also lies (in cases of higher value than £50 and certain others certified by the Sheriff) from the Sheriff-Substitute or from the Sheriff to the Court of Session.

The Sheriffs' Ordinary Court is competent to the trial of all Actions regarding money, moveables, or heritage to any amount, and of Suspension of Charges for debt not exceeding £50. The Sheriff has no jurisdiction in Actions relating to Divorce, but he can entertain Actions of Aliment, Separation and Aliment, Adherence and Aliment, and for the Custody of Children. Jury Trials for claims under the Employers' Liability Act 1880 are competent only in the Sheriff Court.

The Sheriff is Statutory Arbitrator under the Workmen's Compensation Acts. He also transacts a large amount of Miscellaneous and Administrative business.

Following upon the passing of the Sheriff Courts (Scotland) Act, 1907, and the abolition of the Debts Recovery Court, the number of Actions before this Court rose in 1908 to 11,307. Since that year the number has steadily declined and reached 9311 in the year of Report. Of these 6259 were concluded by final judgment, 44 by remit to the Court of Session, 7 by transfer to other Sheriffdoms, 1596 were otherwise taken out of Court, leaving 1405 undisposed of at the end of the year. Of the Actions disposed of by final judgment 3091 were by Decree in Absence and 3168 in foro. 28 were decided by the Sheriff alone and 6231 by Sheriff-Substitute. The number of cases in which expenses were awarded was 3924 the total sum awarded and decerned for being £34,091, 6s. 4d. The average for each case was therefore £8, 13s. 9d. as compared with £8, 19s. 11d. the average in 1911.

Table XXIII. gives an analysis of the nature of the Actions concluded by final judgment according to Counties and Districts with the result of proceedings.

In Table XXIV. are shewn the periods elapsing between possession of the completed process by the Sheriff and the Sheriff-Substitute and the date of judgment in Actions decided in foro. Of the 3168 judgments 3130 were obtained within four weeks.

APPEALS FROM SHERIFF-SUBSTITUTE TO SHERIFF.

TABLES XXV. AND XXVI.

During the year 651 Appeals were taken in 597 Actions as shown in Table XXV. In 43 Actions there were 2 Appeals, in four, 3 Appeals and in one, 4 Appeals. Of the 651 Appeals the judgment of the Sheriff-Substitute was affirmed in 458 cases, reversed in 109, and altered in 84. In 90 per cent. of the total Appeals, judgment was given by the Sheriff within three weeks of his obtaining possession of the completed process.

Table XXVI. shews the nature of the Actions, the number of Appeals in each and the result of the Appeals.

CLUBS REGISTERED UNDER THE LICENSING (SCOTLAND) ACT, 1903.

TABLE XXVII.

Table XXVII. gives the number of Clubs Licensed during 1912, viz. in Counties 162 and in Burghs 466, as against 163 and 461 respectively in 1911.

MISCELLANEOUS AND ADMINISTRATIVE BUSINESS.

TABLE XXVIII.

The matter included in Table XXVIII. is excluded from the business shown in the Ordinary Court Tables. As stated above there has been an enormous increase under Dogs' Acts where the applications numbered 51,513 as against 15,013 in 1911. The average for the 3 years ended 1910 was only 9409.

Further comparison is made of developments under the Workmens Compensation Acts 1897 and 1906. The number of applications which in 1907 was 1353 reached in 1912 a total of 14,271.

SHERIFF'S COUNTY AND BURGH REGISTRATION COURTS.

TABLE XXIX.

It is a duty of the Sheriff to hold annually a Registration Court. Thereat he hears and disposes of all claims and objections relating to the Lists of Voters prepared by local Assessors.

There is a great increase this year in the number of lodger claims sustained in the City of Glasgow. The figure for 1912 is 34,433; that for 1911 being 21,788 a difference of 12,645, due partly to the operation of the Glasgow Boundaries Act, 1912, and partly to an increase of about 5000 in the number of lodger claims. The following is a summary of the figures for claims sustained.

Year.	COUNTY ROLL.		BURGH ROLL.
	Ordinary Claims.	Lodger Claims.	Ordinary Claims.	Lodger Claims.
1912	3,986	24,291	1,619	52,718

SHERIFF COURT OF CHANCERY.

TABLE XXX.

The Sheriff of Chancery has jurisdiction to serve heirs co-ordinate with that of the Sheriffs of Counties, except where the deceased died furth of Scotland, or where the lands are situated in more Counties than one, in which cases the jurisdiction of the Sheriff of Chancery is exclusive.

The total Petitions before the Court numbered 283 made up as follows: For General Service of Heirs, 72; for Special Service, 211; 239 were disposed of by final judgment, the whole being granted.

SHERIFF'S SMALL DEBT COURTS.

TABLES XXXI. AND XXXII.

The Sheriff's Small Debt Court was established by 7 Wm. IV. and 1 Vict. cap. 41, an Act subsequently amended by 16 & 17 Vict. cap. 80, 52 & 53 Vict. cap. 26, and 7 Edw. VII. cap. 51, for the determination, in a summary form, of civil causes, including prosecution for statutory penalties and maritime civil causes, when the debt, demand, or penalty does not exceed £20. The Court is also competent to order delivery of corporeal moveables not exceeding £20 in value. The presiding Judge is either the Sheriff or Sheriff-Substitute, and no Appeal lies from the Sheriff-Substitute to the Sheriff, but an Appeal lies to the High Court of Justiciary on certain limited grounds. Any party may appear by or with a Law Agent, whose fees are allowed only if the Sheriff thinks such appearance was necessary, and the expenses are restricted to a small amount. The sittings of the Court are held at the seats of the Sheriff Court, and also on Circuit at over fifty other towns throughout the country.

In the Report for the previous year attention was called to the total number of cases before the Court, viz., 76,682 being the lowest since 1906, but this year the numbers have fallen still lower, viz. to 71,876. The average for the 5 years ending 1911 was 82,575.

The cases were disposed of as follows: by Decree, 54,721; otherwise than by Decree, 13,634; removed from the Roll, 1842, leaving undisposed of at the end of the year 1679. There were 369 Reponings on Decrees in Absence. Judgment was repeated in 186 cases and altered in 183.

The number of remits from the Small Debt Court to the Sheriff's Ordinary Court was 17.

Ejections following on Small Debt Court Decrees under 52 and 53 Vict. Cap. 26, sec. 6, numbered 391, as against 546 in 1911 and Summary Ejections 6928, as against 7683.

Table XXXII. deals with the amounts claimed and sums awarded in Actions disposed of in each Court by Decree. The total amount claimed was £227,063, 0s. 9d. made up of sums decerned for £195,519, 8s. 4d., and sums disallowed £31,543, 12s. 5d.

The average sum decerned for was £3, 14s. 7d. as compared with £3, 15s. 3d. in 1911. The total expenses awarded during the year amounted to £24,729, 19s. 2d.

JUSTICE OF PEACE SMALL DEBT COURTS.

TABLES XXXIII. AND XXXIV.

By 39 & 40 Geo. III. cap. 46, a summary civil jurisdiction in small debt causes was conferred on Justices of the Peace. This statute was superseded by 6 Geo. IV. cap. 48, which has been amended by 12 & 13 Vict. cap. 34. Any two or more Justices are authorised to hear and determine all causes and complaints brought before them concerning the recovery of debts or the making any demand effectual, provided the debt or demand does not exceed £5. The jurisdiction does not extend to any debt where the title to heritage is in question, nor to any debt or matter arising upon or concerning the validity of wills and contracts of marriage, though the amount at issue is less than £5, nor to gaming debts, nor debts for spirituous liquors. There is no appeal, but "Reduction" (i.e. setting aside) of a Decree is competent in the Court of Session within a year on the ground of malice and oppression on the part of the Justices.

The number of Actions before this Court which has been steadily increasing during the past 20 years reached in 1912 the highest number yet recorded, viz., 29,952. The average number for the 10 years ended 1911 was 24,776. Decree was granted in 27,238 cases; 2116 were disposed of otherwise than by Decree; 497 were removed from the Roll, leaving 101 undisposed of at the end of the year.

The total amount claimed in Actions disposed of by Decree was £37,203, 0s. 7d. of which sums decerned for amounted to £36,205, 10s. 3d. and sums disallowed to £997, 10s. 4d. The average sum decerned for in each case was £1, 7s. 0d. as compared with £1, 7s. 1d. in 1911. The total expenses awarded amounted to £4077, 11s. 7d., and the total fees received to £2814, 6s. 6d.

It is a noticeable fact that there are 23 Counties in Scotland in which no Justice of Peace Small Debt Courts are held. Of the total number of Actions the County of Lanark accounts for over 65 per cent.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICIARY: SHERIFF'S SMALL DEBT COURT APPEALS.

TABLES XXXV. AND XXXVI.

One Appeal was received from the Sheriff Court, Glasgow, and the decision of the Sheriff was reversed.

DEAN OF GUILD COURTS.

TABLE XXXVII.

These Courts are constituted either by special Act of Parliament, or under the powers conferred by the Burgh Police Act of 1892.

By Burgh Police (Scotland) Act 1903, which came into force on 15th May 1904, it was enacted that in any burgh where there is no Dean of Guild Court, the functions of the Dean of Guild Court under the Burgh Police Acts shall be performed by the Town Council, to whom all applications required to be made to the Dean of Guild Court shall be made.

The Court has jurisdiction over questions in regard to the erection, alteration, and demolition of buildings within burghs. No such operations can be legally carried on without warrant of the Court; and in the event of unauthorised operations being carried out, the Procurator-Fiscal of the Dean of Guild Court may interfere and sue for penalties. An Appeal from the Decree of a Dean of Guild Court lies to the Court of Session.

A further decline is noticed in the number of applications before these Courts, the total number for the year 1912 being 4137 against 4488 the average for the 5 years ended 1911. It is made up as follows: for New Buildings, 1744; for Alterations, 2133; other applications, 260. The Court disposed of 4063 Actions by Decree and 60 were withdrawn or not proceeded with. There were 6 Notices of Appeal to the Court of Session.

LICENSING COURTS.

TABLES XXXVIII. TO XL.

The granting and renewing of certificates to enable retailers of excisable liquors to obtain the necessary Excise licences from the Board of Inland Revenue is committed to Courts constituted under the provisions of the Licensing (Scotland) Act 1903, which came into force on 1st January 1904. These Courts are constituted as follows:—

(1) For each burgh being a county of a city, and for each Royal, Parliamentary, or Police Burgh containing 7000 inhabitants or upwards and for each burgh containing 4000 but under 7000 which had power to grant licences under previous Acts, the Licensing Court consists of the Magistrates of the burgh.

(2) Counties, or where these have been divided, county districts, have separate Courts, constituted one half of Justices of the Peace for the county, and one half of County Councillors, each elected from their own number. The numbers constituting such Courts vary according to population from 8 to 18, each burgh under 4000 inhabitants being deemed to form part of the county or district.

(3) A new Appeal Court is constituted, consisting one half of Justices of the Peace, and one half of Burgh Magistrates or County Councillors respectively elected under detailed conditions set forth in the Act.

Half-yearly meetings of the Licensing Courts are held in April and October, the licences granted in April being in force for a year from Whitsunday; those granted in October for six months from Martinmas. The Appeal Court can review the decision of the Licensing Courts on all questions of renewal, but there is no appeal from a decision refusing a new licence. All grants of new licence must, however, be confirmed by the Appeal Court, and are of no force till this is done.

The transfer of certificates to new tenants or occupants may be granted by the Licensing Court held in October, but in the case of death or bankruptcy of the licence-holder, two members of the Licensing Court may grant a transfer to continue till the next general half-yearly Licensing Court.

Excisable liquors include Spirits, Wine, Porter, Ale, Beer, Cider, Perry, Mead, Metheglin, and Sweets. Mead and Metheglin are fermented preparations of honey and water flavoured with hops, and Sweets are fermented preparations of fruit and sugar, either alone or mixed with any other material.

The figures for the year 1912 so closely resemble those for the year 1911 as to render any comparison unprofitable. The number of certificates applied for was 10,575 of which 10,406 were granted, viz. 1604 for Inns and Hotels at an average rental of £130, 5223 for Public Houses, average rental £72; 3575 for Grocer's premises average rental £44, and 4 for the sale of Table Beer only. Special permissions were granted in 6649 cases.

ACCOUNTANT OF COURT; BANKRUPTCY RETURNS; SEQUESTRATIONS AND CESSIOS FOR THE YEAR 1911.

TABLE XLI.

I. Sequestrations.

The number of Sequestrations awarded during the year 1911 was 243. With 3983 pending at the commencement of the year the total Sequestrations dealt with numbered 4226. The average number for the previous five years was 4223. Of these 231 were wound up and disposed of thus: Recalled, 2; concluded by Final Division and Discharge of Trustee, 167; concluded by Composition, 11; concluded by Deed of Arrangement, 9; otherwise wound up, 42. There remained pending at the end of the year 3995.

While the Estimated gross value of Estate in the 167 Sequestrations disposed of by Final Division and Discharge during the year was £375,681 the sum actually recovered by the Trustees was £262,167 a deficit of £113,514 on the Estimated value of Estate. Expenses of all kinds amounted to £59,447, and Dividends paid to Creditors, secured and unsecured, to £202,668.

Table C shews in detail the Counties in which the 243 Sequestrations were awarded.

II. Cessios.

Of the 128 Cessios reported to the Accountant during the year, 97 were wound up as follows:—

By Trustees discharge after dividend, 50; without dividend, 38; otherwise closed, 9. The gross receipts in the 50 cases wound up by discharge of Trustee after dividend amounted to £6693. Of that sum Creditors received £4475 and of the balance £2214 was paid in expenses and charges and £4 was paid to Bankrupts as surplus.

JUDICIAL FACTORIES FOR THE YEAR 1911.

TABLE XLII.

The bonds lodged with the Accountant of Court during the year 1911 numbered 350, as against 318 in 1910. The number of bonds standing over at the commencement of the year was 1944. The total number of Estates under Judicial management numbered 2294. Of these 370 were wound up or the appointment was recalled, and 1924 remained in force at the end of the year.

The Capital Funds and Effects ascertained and as estimated for Personal Estates amounted to £6,385,363, and the value of the Heritable Property is estimated at £4,677,727.

The total Revenue dealt with during the year amounted to £506,967, and the Expenditure to £451,746.

COMMISSARY OFFICES.

TABLE XLIII.

The Sheriff and Sheriffs-Substitute in each County are now the judges whose province it is to deal with the transfer of moveable property from the dead to the executors. These executors are either nominate (when named by the deceased in his will) or dative (when appointed by the Commissary). The Commissary Court is now absorbed in the Sheriff Court, and the Sheriff-Clerk performs the duties of the former Commissary Clerks, except in the case of Edinburgh, where a separate Commissary Clerk still exists. The records of Commissary proceedings in the Sheriff Court are still kept distinct from those of the Ordinary Sheriff Court, and consist of the appointment of Executors-dative, recording Inventories of Personal Estate, with relative testamentary writings, and granting Confirmations (corresponding generally to Probate and Letters of Administration in England). The Commissariat of Edinburgh deals with a greater amount of Estate than the others, as Confirmation of the Personal Estates of all persons dying domiciled out of Scotland can only be obtained there; and it is only there that Probates and Letters of Administration granted in England or Ireland or the Colonies can be sealed.

The number of Inventories recorded during the year 1912, and the amount of Estate therein, were:—

Recorded in Edinburgh	1669	£5,987,332 13 4
Recorded elsewhere in Scotland	8208	20,499,917 19 0

The number of Confirmations and the Amounts confirmed stood thus:—

	No.	Ordinary Estates.	No.	Under Small Estates Acts.
Commissariat of Edinburgh	1241	£5,888,284 10 11	367	£63,093 14 1
Other Commissary Offices	3820	19,457,028 16 8	4049	754,408 15 5

Petitions for Decrees-dative numbered 1188, and other Petitions 209.

English, Irish, and Colonial Probates, etc., certified and resealed in the Commissariat of Edinburgh numbered 881.

TABLE XLIV.

The General Register of Sasines contains entries of all conveyances of, securities over, and other writs affecting lands and houses and heritable property generally throughout Scotland, except within most of the Royal Burghs. In most of these there is a separate Register containing entries as to heritable property within the burgh. The purpose of registration is to make public the writ recorded; and, generally speaking, registration is necessary to give a writ affecting lands or houses full effect.

The entries in the Presentment Book of the General Register of Sasines numbered 35,061, the average for the 5 years ended 1911 being 38,924.

REGISTERS OF ENGLISH AND IRISH JUDGMENTS.

TABLES XLV. AND XLVI.

This record was established by 31 & 32 Vict. cap. 54, and furnishes an expeditious mode of making judgments of the Supreme Courts of England and Ireland effectual in Scotland. By the Inferior Courts Judgments Extension Act 1882, judgments of Inferior Courts in England and Ireland may similarly be made effectual in Scotland.

There were 19 Certificates entered in the Register during the year, all of which were received from England.

Under the Inferior Courts Judgments Extension Act 1882, 18 Certificates were entered, i.e. 17 from England and 1 from Ireland.

GENERAL AND COUNTY REGISTERS OF DEEDS.

TABLES XLVII. AND XLVIII.

In these records Deeds may be recorded either for preservation or for execution. In both cases the Deeds remain in the record, and "extracts" (certified office copies) are returned to the parties, which have the same effect as the originals, unless forgery be alleged. Registration for preservation merely secures the safe custody of the Deed. On the other hand, an Extract of a Deed registered for execution is equivalent to a Decree of Court, and contains warrant of execution, in the same way as if a Decree of Court had been pronounced enforcing the Deed.

In the General Register of Deeds kept at Edinburgh 7630 Deeds were extracted, viz. 7310 Original Writs, and 320 Extracts of Writs previously recorded, against 6993 and 363, the averages for the preceding 5 years respectively. The County Registers give a total of 1066 entries against 1122, the average for the 5 years ending 1911.

REGISTERS OF PROTESTS ON BILLS AND PROMISSORY NOTES.

TABLES XLIX. AND L.

In Scotland summary diligence may follow on a Bill or Promissory Note being protested before a Notary Public, and the protest registered in the Books of Council and Session or in the books of a Sheriff Court. An extract from these Registers is equivalent to a Decree of Court, and execution may pass without any further judicial proceedings.

In the General Register kept at Edinburgh 61 protests for non-payment of Bills and Promissory Notes were recorded, and the total sums protested for amounted to £7220, 4s. 7d. The total number of persons protested against was 79. The entries in the County Registers were:—Total number of Protests, 496; total number of persons protested against, 595; total sums protested for, £24,810, 17s. 6d.

OFFICE OF AUDITOR OF THE COURT OF SESSION.

TABLE LI.

The Auditor of the Court of Session is an officer appointed under I. & II. George IV. cap. 38, to whom either of the Divisions or any Lord Ordinary may remit for taxation the costs of a suit in which expenses are found due. His office corresponds generally, it is understood, with that of a Taxing Master of the High Court of Justice in England.

The Judicial Accounts lodged during the year numbered 1173, the average for the 5 years ended 1911 being 1137. The Accounts as lodged amounted to £114,571, 4s. 7d. This sum was reduced by taxation to £100,672, 19s. 6d.

OFFICE OF THE PRINCIPAL EXTRACTOR OF THE COURT OF SESSION.

TABLE LII.

The principal Extractor of the Court of Session is the officer by whom the Extracts of Decrees and Acts of the Court are prepared and authenticated, except in regard to Decrees and Acts of the Bill Chamber and Teind Court, which are extracted by the clerks of these Courts. By the Extract is meant the warrant granted to the successful party, on which execution of the Decree of the Court may pass.

The Extracts made were of Decrees in Absence 828, and of Decrees in foro 213, making a total of 1041.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR OF CHANCERY.

TABLE LIII.

In this office are recorded all Decrees of service completing titles, Writs passing the Great and Quarter Seals of Scotland, and various other Writs chiefly of a public nature.

The number of Writs passing through or issuing from this Office during the year was 1097, of which 926 were for Decrees of Service and for completing Title. Deeds minuted for Public Departments numbered 127.

REGISTER OF HORNING.

TABLE LIV.

In this registry are recorded "letters of horning," by which debtors were ordained to pay their debts under the penalty of being held as rebels and "put to the horn." The old forms have practically been superseded by simpler modes of execution introduced by statute, but as the old forms are still competent, the registry is still in legal existence, and is indeed occasionally used.

There were 3 entries in the Presentment Book during the year.

TABLE LV.

An Inhibition is a Writ passing the Signet, whereby the debtor is prevented from alienating or charging with debt his lands or other heritable property to the prejudice of the person using the Inhibition. To be effectual, it must be recorded in this Register. A Sequestration in Bankruptcy having this effect, an entry of such is made in the Register of Inhibitions.

The entries during the year numbered 540, of which 325 were for Mercantile Sequestrations, and 150 for the Recovery of Specified Debts.

REGISTER OF ADJUDICATIONS.

TABLE LVI.

In this record are recorded all Decrees attaching heritage in satisfaction of debt. Sequestrations in Bankruptcy have the effect of adjudication, and are also consequently recorded in this Register.

There were 287 entries in the Presentment Book during the year, of which 279 related to Mercantile Sequestrations. The average numbers for the 5 years ending 1911 were respectively 344 and 336.

FEES, ETC., COLLECTED IN THE EXCHEQUER OFFICE.

TABLES LVII. AND LVIII.

In Tables LVII. and LVIII. are given particulars of the Fees collected in most of the Courts of Civil Jurisdiction in Scotland as well as in Departments of the General Register House in Edinburgh.
